BEN HOWLAND

Head Coach • 7th Year
Alma Mater: Weber State '79

Ben Howland knows how to rebuild a collegiate basketball program. He did it at Pittsburgh and again at Northern Arizona. And he's done it at UCLA.

Entering his seventh year as the Bruins' head coach in 2009-10, Howland has led UCLA to three straight Pacific-10 Conference titles (2006-08) and three consecutive Final Four appearances (2006-08).

Last year, Howland guided the Bruins to a 26-9 overall record and a 13-5 league mark to place second in the Pac-10. His Bruins have finished in the top three in the rugged Pac-10 for five consecutive seasons.

He also guided the Bruins to a school-record 35 victories in 2008. Additionally, he won more games in a three-year span (97 from 2006-08) than any other coach in UCLA history. UCLA also won the 2008 Pac-10 Tournament Championship and finished the year with an overall record of 35-4 and a 16-2 mark in the Pac-10.

He became the first UCLA coach since John Wooden to win three straight conference championships in 2008 and is the only other UCLA coach other than Wooden to earn three straight Final Four appearances. Also in 2008, Howland became one of just three coaches in NCAA Division I history to win at least 30 games in three consecutive seasons, joining Adolph Rupp (Kentucky 1947-49) and John Calipari (Memphis 2006-08).

In 2007, the Bruins went undefeated at home (16-0) and ended the season with a 30-6 overall record and a 15-3 mark in the Pac-10.

In 2006, he directed UCLA to the NCAA Championship game (for the first time since the Bruins' 1995 national title run) and to an NCAA Regional Championship. The Bruins recorded 32 victories, tying the then-school record of 32 wins set in 1995, and posted a 12-game winning streak (longest since 1997) entering the NCAA title contest. UCLA also won the 2006 Pac-10 Tournament Championship, its first Pac-10 Tournament title since 1987.

In his 16th year as a collegiate head coach (he's been a Conference Coach of the Year selection in three different leagues - 2006, Pac-10 Coach of the Year at UCLA/2002, Big East Coach of the Year at Pittsburgh/1997, Big Sky Coach of the Year at Northern Arizona) and in his 29th season of collegiate basketball (as an assistant and head coach), he's 152-54 (.738, 206 games) at UCLA, including 123-26 (.826, 149 games) in his last four seasons as the Bruins' head coach. He also has a Pac-10 record of 76-34 (.691, 110 games). Howland's career mark is 320-153 (.677, 473 games).

He garnered two National Coach of the Year honors in 2006 - the Jim Phelan Award (CollegeInsider.com) and from Collegehoops.net. Howland was the 2006 Pac-10 Coach of the Year and earned numerous other Conference Coach of the Year honors as well as being named the USBWA Dist. IX and Basketball Times All-West Coast Coach of the Year.

He has led a team to the "Sweet 16" five times in the last eight years — Pittsburgh in 2002 and 2003 and UCLA in 2006, 2007 and 2008. Howland recorded his 50th Bruin win vs. Oregon State (Feb. 23, 2006), his 200th career win on Nov. 19, 2005, vs. Delaware State and won his 300th game in the 72-54 win over DePaul in the John R. Wooden Classic at Honda Center on Dec. 13, 2008.

After a two-year hiatus, Howland led the Bruins back to the NCAA Tournament in 2005 and joined an elite list of college coaches who have led three teams to the "Big Dance" -- 2006 UCLA (NCAA Finalist)/2005 UCLA, 2003 Pittsburgh ("Sweet 16"), 2002 Pittsburgh ("Sweet 16") and 1998 Northern Arizona. Following the 2005 NCAA Tournament, there were only 28 coaches in Tournament history who had guided three different schools to the Tournament. Howland's overall NCAA record is 18-8 (14-5 at UCLA, 4-2 at Pittsburgh and 0-1 at NAU), and in 2006 he made his first trip to the Final Four as a head coach.

Howland's sound philosophies about coaching and recruiting have the Bruins pointed in a winning direction as he enters his seventh season as UCLA's head coach.

Howland and his talented staff have landed back-to-back Top 5 nationally-ranked recruiting classes. In 2009, the Bruins' recruiting class ranked No. 4 by Scout.com. The class includes five players that are all 6-foot-7-inches or taller (Tyler Honeycutt, 6-7, F; Brendan Lane, 6-9, F; Mike Moser, 6-8, F; Reeves Nelson, 6-8, F and Anthony Stover, 6-10, C). The 2008 recruiting class was ranked No. 1 in the country by many scouting services and national web sites. The class included the Gatorade National Player of the Year, Jrue Holiday, and four other top 50 players (Drew Gordon, Jerime Anderson, Malcolm Lee and a late addition in J'mison Morgan).

In 2004, the Bruins recruited the nation's No. 4 (HoopMasters.com) incoming freshman class -- led by McDonald's All-Americans, point guard Jordan Farmar and guard Arron Afflalo, along with Parade Magazine All-American guard Josh Shipp and CalHi Sports All-State center/forward Lorenzo Mata-Real.

The 2005 class featured five of high school basketball's top seniors, considered to be among the best 100 players in North America -- Alfred Aboya, Darren Collison, Luc Richard Mbah a Moute, Michael Roll and Ryan Wright.

In 2006, the Bruins signed three talented players -- McDonald's and Parade All-American James Keefe, Nikola Dragović and first-team All-CIF guard Russell Westbrook.

In 2007, Howland landed the nation's top freshman, Gatorade National Player of the Year, Kevin Love and the Los Angeles Times' Player of the Year, Chace Stanback.

It takes time and hard work to rebuild a program, and there's not a collegiate

"I am honored to be the head basketball coach at UCLA, and I am grateful to Dan Guerrero for giving me this opportunity. Having grown up in Southern California as a Bruin fan, watching the televised replays of the games was special for me. To now be the head coach of this program is something I dreamed about but never thought possible. I have an appreciation for what UCLA means in the world of college basketball. We should be competing for the Pacific-10 title and a high seed in the NCAA Tournament year-in and year-out, and I look forward to that challenge."

head coach or staff in the United States that works harder than Howland and his Bruin assistants.

"It's nice to be recognized, but you can never rest on what you've done," Howland said. "You have to keep working, keep pushing to get better. You've got to have good players. No one understands that more than me. I hope to think every year I'm a better coach than I was the year before. You hope to always improve."

UCLA Athletic Director Dan Guerrero knew he had hired a winner on April 3, 2003, when Howland was announced as the Bruins' 12th head coach in the 87-year storied history of UCLA men's basketball.

"Ben Howland is an outstanding basketball coach, one of the best in the entire country, and he is the man we want to run our program," Guerrero said. "He has built winning programs throughout his career, and we expect that he will return UCLA basketball to the nation's elite. Ben understands that championships are built on defense, intensity, team-work and fundamentals, and those elements are the foundation of his philosophy. His teams come to play every night, and they do an outstanding job on both ends of the floor."

HOWLAND AT UCLA

Howland has demonstrated an ability to turn programs around. At UCLA, in just his second season (2005), he guided the Bruins to a third-place finish (tie) in the Pac-10 and back to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2002. At Pittsburgh, he took over a losing program, and by his third year (2002), the Panthers were in the NCAA "Sweet 16" and Howland was the consensus National Coach of the Year. In his fourth season (1998) at Northern Arizona, he led the Lumberjacks to their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance.

In 2008, Howland guided the Bruins to a No. 3 final ranking in the Associated Press Poll and a No. 4 ranking in the ESPN/USA Today Poll, a 35-4 overall record and a 16-2 Pac-10 record, winning the Bruins' third straight regular season league title and their second Pac-10 Tournament title in three years. The 35 victories were the most in school history. UCLA made its national-leading 18th Final Four appearance in 2008. Since 1975, the Bruins have advanced to 17 NCAA Regionals, including six since 2000 and nine since 1995.

In 2007, Howland guided the Bruins to a No. 3 final national ranking in the ESPN/USA Today Poll and a No. 7 ranking in the Associated Press Poll (entering the NCAA Tournament), a 30-6 overall record and a 15-3 Pac-10 record, winning UCLA's second-straight regular season conference championship and the school's 29th league title. UCLA made its 17th Final Four appearance in 2007, surpassing North Carolina for the most ever Final Four appearances.

In 2006, Howland directed the Bruins to a No. 7 national ranking (entering the NCAA Tournament), a 32-7 overall record (32 victories tied the then-school record for most wins set in 1995) and a 14-4 Pac-10 record, winning UCLA's first regular season conference championship since 1997 and good for the No. 1 seed in the Pac-10 Tournament (the Bruins won the Pac-10 Tournament, for the first time since 1987). The Bruins' 12-game winning streak going into the NCAA Championship game was UCLA's longest since the end of the 1997 season (when UCLA's 12-game winning streak was snapped by Minnesota in the NCAA Regional Final in San Antonio). The 2006 Bruins will be remembered for their defensive tenacity, allowing opponents only 58.7 points a game overall (39 games/the fourth-lowest total in school history), including 59.3 points in conference games (18 games) and just 56.2 points in NCAA Tournament play (six games).

"Winning championships is all about defense," Howland said. "If you look every year at the Final Four, the best teams in the country always play the best defense. Holding teams to under 40 percent from the field is something that is pretty consistent among Final Four teams."

In just his second season (2004-05), Howland led the Bruins to an 18-11 overall record, winning four of the last five regular season games, and an 11-7 Pac-10 Conference mark, good for a third-place tie with Stanford. Highlights included returning to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2002; a win over nationally-ranked Washington; four come-from-behind victories in Pac-10 play when the Bruins trailed by double-digit deficits; and four players earning Pac-10 Conference honors – senior Dijon Thompson (first team),

"Ben is someone I hold in high regard because he has a lot of integrity. He really knows his basketball, and I appreciate the relationship we have been able to establish. Ben is directly responsible for me being able to get to the level I'm at now."

freshman Jordan Farmar (Freshman of the Year/Honorable Mention All-Pac-10), freshman Arron Afflalo (Freshman All-Pac-10) and freshman Josh Shipp (Honorable Mention Freshman All-Pac-10).

In his first season (2003-04), Howland inherited a program that in the year before, had a losing season. His first Bruin club was 11-17 overall and 7-11 in the Pac-10 (seventh-place tie). The Bruins did start the season 9-3 overall and 5-0 in league play, had wins over NCAA Tournament teams Michigan State, Washington and Vermont and advanced to the Pac-10 Tournament.

HOWLAND AT PITTSBURGH

Howland spent four years (2000-03/89-90 record) building the Pittsburgh basketball program into one of the finest in the nation. In his last two seasons (2001-02 and 2002-03), Howland guided the Panthers to an overall record of 57-11 (83.8 winning percentage ranked second nationally during that period/Pitt was 32-1 at home, including a perfect 16-0 in 2002-03 at the Petersen Events Center). The Panthers also reached the NCAA "Sweet 16" in both years and captured the 2003 Big East Tournament championship.

In 2002-03, Howland led the Panthers to a record of 28-5 and a No. 4 ranking on the final AP poll (Pitt held the nation's No. 2 ranking for eight weeks during the season). Pittsburgh earned a second straight trip to the NCAA "Sweet 16", won a second straight Big East West Division regular-season championship, and on March 15, defeated Connecticut to win its first-ever Big East Tournament title. The Panthers entered their NCAA "Sweet 16" game against Marquette with an 11-game winning streak. Pittsburgh standout point guard Brandin Knight was a member of the Wooden Award All-American team.

In 2001-02, Howland guided Pittsburgh to a school-record 29 wins, surpassing the former school record of 25 victories set in 1973-74. He became the first Pittsburgh head coach in 26 years to garner National Coach of the Year honors as he earned nine coaching awards, including the Associated Press, Naismith, Henry Iba and The Sporting News national accolades, along with Big East Coach of the Year honors. He led the Panthers to the Big East's West Division regular season championship — the first time Pittsburgh won a Big East men's basketball title of any kind since the 1987-88 campaign. Howland then led the Panthers to their first NCAA tournament appearance in nine seasons (1992-93).

Howland also became the first Pittsburgh coach since Charles "Buzz" Ridl in 1973-74 to lead the Panthers to an NCAA "Sweet 16" appearance, with two NCAA Tournament victories over Central Connecticut State and California in 2002. Including the two NCAA Tournament wins, Pittsburgh went 11-2 over its last 13 games, with its only losses coming in a double overtime defeat in the Big East Championship title game and an overtime loss to Kent State in the NCAA "Sweet 16". Under Howland's direction, Knight earned All-America honors, along with USBWA Dist. I Player of the Year and co-Big East Player of the Year accolades.

In 2000-01, the Panthers surged through the conference tournament to earn a surprising title game berth and won five of their last seven contests. It was in Madison Square Garden in 2000-01 that the college basketball world first began to take notice of Howland and his emerging program at Pittsburgh. That year, he directed Pittsburgh on a dramatic run through the Big East Championship as the Panthers upset three higher-seeded opponents — nationally-ranked Syracuse, Notre Dame and a surging Miami team — to earn the school's first-ever berth in the championship game. That strong finish resulted in a National Invitation Tournament bid, its first postseason appearance in four years.

Howland arrived at Pittsburgh in 1999 with a reputation for developing great shooting teams. Not surprisingly, the Panthers dramatically improved in that regard. But Howland's real imprint on the Panthers was his team's passionate dedication to defense. As a result, Pittsburgh ranked amongst the Big East's best in scoring defense each of Howland's last two years (2002-03, 59.2/2001-02, 60.9).

Howland's influence was evident even after his first season at Pittsburgh (1999-2000/13-15 record). Under Howland's tutelage, Ricardo Greer blossomed into one of the top players in the Big East. Greer was selected by the league coaches as the Big East Co-Most Improved Player in 1999-2000 and concluded his collegiate career as a two-time All-Big East performer.

In Big East Tournament history, Howland is the winningest coach of that event (based on percentage/10 or more games). During Howland's four seasons at Pittsburgh, his Big East Tournament record was 8-3 (72.7). In his last three years (2001-03) at Pittsburgh, the Panthers advanced to the Big East Tournament title game and won the crown in 2003.

HOWLAND AT NORTHERN ARIZONA

Howland orchestrated one of the best turnarounds in NCAA history at Northern Arizona. His highly successful five-year tenure (1995-99) at Northern Arizona saw him transform the Lumberjacks from one of the nation's weakest programs into a consistent NCAA Tournament contender. In his final year (1998-99) at NAU, Howland led the Lumberjacks to a 21-8 record, its third consecutive 20+ win season.

Howland's first two teams at Northern Arizona finished 9-17 (1994-95) and 7-19 (1995-96), finishing in seventh-place each season. However, his 1996-97 squad went 21-7, set the school-record for wins and achieved the 10th best single-season turnaround in NCAA men's basketball history. Northern Arizona captured the Big Sky regular-season championship by three games and advanced to the National Invitation Tournament. Howland was named the conference's Coach of the Year.

The following season (1997-98), the Howland-led Lumberjacks advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history after capturing the Big Sky Tournament championship and second straight regular-season title. In its first round of NCAA play against No. 2 seed Cincinnati, Northern Arizona led the heavily favored Bearcats for the majority of the game before falling on a last-second 3-pointer, 65-62. On Sept. 25, 2004, Howland's 1998 Lumberjack squad was inducted into the NAU Athletics Hall of Fame.

During Howland's five-year tenure, Northern Arizona emerged into one of the country's top shooting teams. In 1998-99, NAU became the first team in NCAA history to lead the country in both field goal percentage (.523) and 3-point field goal percentage (.445) in the same season. Additionally, the Lumberjacks led the nation in 3-point shooting in both 1997 (.419) and 1998 (.430), while finishing second nationally in field goal percentage (.516 in 1997/.511 in 1998).

From 1997 to 1998, Howland's teams produced back-to-back conference titles and also consecutive Big Sky Player of the Year honorees in Charles Thomas and Andrew Mavis. Northern Arizona tied a league record for most conference wins over a two-year span (27) and ranked amongst the nation's Top 30 in wins over that same period. With Howland's success, the city of Flagstaff, Ariz., proclaimed April 27, 1998 "Ben Howland Day."

While the success of Howland's teams on the court is impressive, his programs have also produced top-notch students. In 1998, NAU was one of only two schools in the nation (Utah was the other) to reach the NCAA Tournament and record a team grade-point average over a 3.0.

HOWLAND'S CAREER AS AN ASSISTANT COACH

Prior to his Northern Arizona appointment, Howland served as an assistant coach at the University of California, Santa Barbara for 12 years (1982-83 through 1993-94). During that time, he tutored eventual NBA players Brian Shaw and Conner Henry. He also oversaw the development of UCSB's Eric McArthur, the nation's second-leading rebounder in 1990, and Gary Gray, an All-Big West Conference selection. In Howland's last seven years at the school, the Gauchos advanced to postseason play on five occasions.

HOWLAND'S PLAYING CAREER

Howland enjoyed a standout playing career at Weber State, where he was named the team's Most Valuable Defensive Player in both 1979 and 1980. He led the Wildcats to two Big Sky championships and a pair of NCAA Tournament berths.

Howland's basketball legacy of success dates back to his high school days. After beginning his prep career as a highly-decorated player at Dos Pueblos High School in Santa Barbara, Calif., he finished with two Suburban League Most Valuable Player honors at Cerritos (Calif.) High School. He was also a two-time selection to the All-California Interscholastic Federation list. His collegiate career began at Santa Barbara City College in 1975-76 and 1976-77, where he was named team captain and led the Vaqueros to the California state finals in 1978.

Following his collegiate career, Howland spent time playing professionally in Uruguay. He landed his first NCAA Div. I coaching job in the 1981 season as a graduate assistant at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., where he coached future NBA Hall of Fame and Utah Jazz guard John Stockton, before moving to UCSB the following year (1982-83).

THE HOWLAND FAMILY

Howland and his wife, Kim, a former Weber State cheerleader, have two children, Meredith (24), a recent graduate from the University of Pittsburgh, and Adam (22). Howland has a bachelor's degree in physical education from Weber State University (1979) and a master's degree in administration and physical education from Gonzaga (1981).

Coach Howland with Drew Gordon

DONNY DANIELS

Assistant Coach • 7th Year

Alma Mater: Cal State Fullerton '77

Donny Daniels enters his seventh season as an assistant coach on the Bruins' staff. In 2004, Rivals.com designated Daniels as one of college basketball's Top 25 recruiters.

Before coming to UCLA, Daniels was the men's head basketball coach at Cal State Fullerton for three seasons (2001-03).

Head Coach Ben Howland and his talented staff have landed back-to-back Top 5 nationally-ranked recruiting classes. In 2009, the Bruins' recruiting class ranked No. 4 by Scout.com. The class includes five players that are all 6-foot-7-inches or taller (Tyler Honeycutt, 6-7, F; Brendan Lane, 6-9, F; Mike Moser, 6-8, F; Reeves Nelson, 6-8, F and Anthony Stover, 6-10, C). The 2008 recruiting class was ranked No. 1 in the country by many scouting services and national web sites. The class included the Gatorade National Player of the Year, Jrue Holiday, and four other top 50 players (Drew Gordon, Jerime Anderson, Malcolm Lee and a late addition in J'mison Morgan). He also helped recruit the 2004 class that ranked No. 4 in the nation by Rivals.com, the 2005 class that sported five players ranked amongst the Top 100 players in North America.

"Donny's experience as a head coach and running his own program has been invaluable in helping us build our program here at UCLA," said Bruin head coach Ben Howland. "Donny Daniels has a plethora of talents - from recruiting, to coaching on the floor, to game preparation. In all aspects of dealing with young student-athletes and helping them grow, Donny has continually stressed his players' academic advancement and, of course, helped them develop into better basketball players."

His expertise is evident based on the recent success of the Bruins. UCLA won back-to-back-to-back Pacific-10 titles (2006, 2007 and 2008) and made three straight trips to the Final Four in those same seasons. Additionally, the Bruins have produced six first-round NBA Draft picks in Jordan Farmar (2006), Arron Afflalo (2007), Kevin Love (2008), Russell Westbrook (2008), Jrue Holiday (2009) and Darren Collison (2009) in his five seasons as an assistant under Howland. UCLA has also had another four players drafted in the second round of the NBA Draft in Daniels' tenure including Trevor Ariza (2004), Dijon Thompson (2005), Ryan Hollins (2006) and Luc Richard Mbah a Moute (2008).

THE DANIELS FILE

Birthdate: Aug. 3, 1954, in New Orleans, La.

Education: Bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Cal State Fullerton in 1977.

Head Coach at Cal State Fullerton for three seasons (2000-03).

Assistant Coach at Utah for 11 years (1990-2000) under Rick Majerus. During that time, the Utes advanced to the NCAA Tournament on eight occasions and were national runners-up in 1998.

At Utah, Daniels helped develop NBA stars Andre Miller, Keith Van Horn and Michael Doleac.

Three tenures as an assistant coach at Cal State Fullerton, helping to recruit and develop Titan greats Leon Wood, Cedric Ceballos and Bruce Bowen

As the Titan's head coach, he recruited and developed Pape Sow, who was a second-round draft pick by Miami in 2004.

Head Coach, Los Angeles Harbor College (1985-86).

Assistant Coach, Verbum Dei HS (1980-81).

DANIELS AT CAL STATE FULLERTON

The 2002-03 collegiate campaign was Daniels' third year as the head coach at Cal State Fullerton, his alma mater. After winning only 10 games in his first two seasons (Daniels inherited a Titan program that was on NCAA probation), his 2003 Cal State Fullerton squad doubled their victories (10), posted a 8-10 Big West record, despite a rash of serious injuries that affected all five returning lettermen. Suiing up as few as seven or eight players for several midseason games, Fullerton had its best conference record in 10 years and reached double figures in victories for the first time in four years. The Titans beat every Big West opponent except tournament champion Utah State.

On April 20, 2000, Daniels was named head coach at Cal State Fullerton. Prior to being named head coach, Daniels was at Fullerton for two years as a player and had three stints as an assistant coach, including two tenures under George McQuarn, who lettered for two seasons (1962-63) as a catcher on the UCLA baseball team.

Daniels played on Cal State Fullerton's first two NCAA Division I teams in 1974-75 and 1975-76 under head coach Bobby Dye. In his senior year, he was selected the top defender on a team that won the school's only conference basketball championship by earning a share of the 1976 Pacific Coast Athletic Association title.

Daniels graduated in 1977 with a degree in criminal justice and returned to Fullerton as a volunteer assistant for the 1978-79 season. He was an assistant in Dye's final season (1979-80) before becoming an assistant at his high school alma mater, Los Angeles' Verbum Dei. As a high school player at Verbum Dei, Daniels played for then-head coach McQuarn.

Daniels returned to Cal State Fullerton as a part-time assistant coach under then-Titan head coach McQuarn for the 1981-82 through 1983-84 seasons before becoming head coach at Los Angeles Harbor College in Wilmington (another alma mater) for two years (1985-86/32-27 overall record, including 20-11 in 1986). His third return to Fullerton was as a full-time assistant to first McQuarn and then successor John Sneed for the 1986-87 through 1988-89 seasons. His full-time coaching tenures at Fullerton coincide with NIT appearances in 1983 and '87 and the recruitment and/or development of former Titan greats Leon Wood, Cedric Ceballos and Bruce Bowen.

Ceballos was a 1990 NBA second-round draft selection. He played 11 years in the NBA with five different teams. His best years were with the Los Angeles Lakers, when he averaged better than 21 points in both the 1994-95 and 1995-96 seasons.

DANIELS AT UTAH

During Daniels' tenure (1990-2000) as a Utah assistant on Majerus' staff, the Utes reached the NCAA Tournament eight times in 11 seasons and were national runner-up in 1998. Daniels was also the chief recruiter of Andre Miller (Miller and his parents made a special trip to attend Daniels' Cal State Fullerton hiring press conference on April 20, 2000) and Keith Van Horn to Salt Lake City.

Daniels recruited Miller from his high school alma mater, Verbum Dei. Before his stint with the Clippers, Miller spent three years with the Cleveland Cavaliers and in 2002 led the NBA in assists (10.9 apg).

Other players Daniels helped coach at Utah who went on to the NBA include Michael Doleac (12th year in the NBA, second with Minnesota) and Josh Grant (one year with Golden State).

PLAYING DAYS

Before his two-year (1975-76) playing career at CS Fullerton, Daniels played for one season at Scottsdale Community College (1973) and for one year at L.A. Harbor College (1974).

SCOTT DUNCAN

Assistant Coach • 3rd Year

Alma Mater: College of Wooster '78

Scott Duncan is in his third year as an assistant for head coach Ben Howland. He was hired on April 11, 2007.

He arrived in Westwood after spending seven years as an assistant coach at the University of Oregon (2000-07).

"Coach Duncan comes with a great background in coaching and is very well-respected as an outstanding recruiter," Howland said. "He is a very experienced coach, an outstanding person, and I feel very fortunate to have with our Bruin family."

Duncan brings 30-plus years of experience as a major college basketball assistant coach.

Head Coach Ben Howland and his talented staff have landed back-to-back Top 5 nationally-ranked recruiting classes. Duncan helped land the 2009 Bruins' recruiting class ranked No. 4 by Scout.com. The class includes five players that are all 6-foot-7-inches or taller (Tyler Honeycutt, 6-7, F; Brendan Lane, 6-9, F; Mike Moser, 6-8, F; Reeves Nelson, 6-8, F and Anthony Stover, 6-10, C).

Recognized as one of the nation's best assistant coaches and top recruiters, Duncan's hard work and dedication paid off in 2007 for Oregon when the Ducks reached the "Elite Eight" and won the Pacific-10 Conference Tournament. That investment continued to pay off with all four freshmen in the recruiting class of 2004 ranked amongst the nation's top 75 players in the country.

During his stint at Oregon, the Ducks won three Pac-10 titles (the 2002 regular-season championship and the 2003 and 2007 Pac-10 Tournament championships). Oregon also reached the "Elite Eight" in the NCAA Tournament twice during that span (2002 and 2007).

Duncan was recently named the eighth-best assistant coach in the country by Hoop Scoop and was recognized as one of the nation's top 25 recruiters by Rivals.com. In 2001, he was noted as one of the hardest-working assistant coaches and one of the nation's best recruiters in a pair of surveys compiled by Rivals.com's Dave Telep. During the summers of 2002-03, he was an assistant on Ernie Kent's USA Basketball Junior National team trials camp staff.

The 54-year-old Columbus, Ohio, native has been associated with Division I programs that have advanced to postseason play 17 of the past 23 seasons. Oregon's 2002 NCAA Elite Eight run marked the first time in his coaching career that his team advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

He officially joined the Ducks' coaching staff in 2000 after spending the previous three seasons under Larry Shyatt, assisting Wyoming to its first postseason berth in seven campaigns in 1997-98 before moving with Shyatt to Clemson the following year. During 1998-99, Duncan helped coach the Tigers to their seventh 20-win season (20-15) in school history, while working with ACC scoring leader Terrell McIntyre. He played a major role in the school signing four of the nation's top 100 recruits.

Encompassing a span that began with a two-year stint at Washington State during the 1995-96 season, Duncan has helped attract recruiting classes that have been recognized among the top 25 in the country 10 of the last 13 years.

Graduating in 1978 with an undergraduate degree in physical education and economics from the College of Wooster, Ohio, the three-year letterman began his coaching career as a part-time assistant for Ray Dieringer at Cleveland

State in 1978-79. Two years later, he joined head coach Gary Colson at New Mexico for a 10-year tenure. Duncan also spent time with Colson at Fresno State and then four years at Northern Illinois (1991-92 through 1994-95) under Brian Hammil prior to his stops at Washington State (under head coach Kevin Eastman), Wyoming and Clemson.

UCLA COACHING STAFF

SCOTT GARSON

Assistant Coach • 6th Year

Alma Mater: UC Santa Barbara '99

Scott Garson is in his sixth season on the UCLA staff and his fourth as an assistant coach for head coach Ben Howland.

Garson handles the development of the perimeter players, working on both the offensive and defensive ends. He worked with the post players in 2006-07. Garson also assists in monitoring the Bruins' academic progress.

He also assists UCLA in its recruiting efforts, which has paid huge dividends the past two years as the Bruins have landed back-to-back Top 5 nationally-ranked recruiting classes. In 2009, the Bruins' recruiting class ranked No. 4 by Scout.com. The class includes five players that are all 6-foot-7-inches or taller (Tyler Honeycutt, 6-7, F; Brendan Lane, 6-9, F; Mike Moser, 6-8, F; Reeves Nelson, 6-8, F and Anthony Stover, 6-10, C). The 2008 recruiting class was ranked No. 1 in the country by many scouting services and national web sites. The class included the Gatorade National Player of the Year, Jrue Holiday, and four other top 50 players (Drew Gordon, Jerime Anderson, Malcolm Lee and J'mison Morgan).

"Scott is a tireless worker and has great energy and passion for UCLA basketball," head coach Ben Howland said. "He is very knowledgeable and has come up through the ranks so he knows everything from top to bottom, having been a manager, a video coordinator and a full-time assistant. He is very good at instruction as well as player development."

Garson served as the Bruins' video coordinator for two seasons (2004-06). His responsibilities included creating all video edits for game preparation; opponent scouting and self-scouting; preparing scouting reports; being a source of information for the Bruin coaching staff regarding the opponents' personnel and strategic tendencies and providing video for all recruiting efforts and special events, including the production of highlight films.

He also assists with the UCLA boy's basketball summer camps, which he directed his first three years at UCLA.

Prior to coming to UCLA, Garson served five seasons (1999-2004) on the University of Utah staff under Hall of Fame coach and current St. Louis University head coach, Rick Majerus. Garson was an assistant coach during the 2003-04 season, when he coached Andrew Bogut, who went on to become the No. 1 overall pick in the 2005 NBA Draft by the Milwaukee Bucks. He also assisted in the Utes' recruiting efforts. Garson served as the Utes' video coordinator in 2002-03, and was an administrative assistant and head manager during his first three seasons at Utah while earning his master's degree. He also directed the Rick Majerus Basketball Camps for three summers.

Garson, 33, came to Utah from Pepperdine, where he was the administrative assistant and video coordinator for the Waves during the 1998-99 season under former Bruin assistant and current University of Washington head coach Lorenzo Romar. Garson also served as the director of the Junior Waves Basketball Camp.

In 1995, Garson coached the Los Angeles Maccabi 13-14 year-old basketball team with his father, Lee. For two seasons (1996-98), Garson served as the varsity assistant boy's coach and junior varsity head boy's coach at Santa Barbara High School.

Born on April 24, 1976 in Tarzana, Calif., Garson graduated from UC Santa Barbara with a Bachelor's degree in law and society in 1999. He later earned a master of science in exercise and sports science with an emphasis in sport psychology from the University of Utah in 2003.

He spent his freshman season (1994-95) at Washington

In his five years at the University of Utah, the Utes won four Mountain West Conference championships, participating in four NCAA Tournaments.

As a coach, he has never been a part of a losing season in competition at any level (Santa Barbara High School, Pepperdine, Utah and UCLA).

Has coached seven first round NBA Draft picks (six at UCLA), including Utah's Andrew Bogut, who was the 2005 No. 1 overall pick.

He has been a part of seven league championship teams and three Final Fours in his 11 years at the college level.

His father, Lee (a 1969 UCLA graduate), mother, Corinne and brother, Chad, all reside in the Los Angeles area.

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS JOE HILLOCK

JOE HILLOCK

Director of Operations • 3rd Year
Alma Mater: Southern Utah '76

Joe Hillock enters his third year as the UCLA men's basketball director of operations. He was hired on July 6, 2007, replacing Chris Carlson, who was announced as the head coach at UC San Diego on June 11, 2007.

"I am very pleased that Joe Hillock has accepted the position of director of operations," said Howland. "Joe brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to our program, and I'm very excited to have him join our staff."

Hillock is Southern Utah's all-time winningest women's basketball coach with 128 victories. He was the Thunderbirds' head coach for 10 seasons (from 1996-97 to 2005-06).

Hillock earned his bachelor's degree in Physical Education at Southern Utah in 1976 and served as an undergraduate assistant women's coach for the first varsity team at SUU during the 1975-76 season. He then went on to the first of two stints as the head boy's basketball coach at nearby Milford High School (Milford, Utah) from 1978-79. After guiding Milford HS to back-to-back region titles, he served for 12 years (1979-91) as an assistant at Gonzaga (eight years under Dan Fitzgerald and four under his brother, Jay Hillock).

The 57-year-old Santa Barbara, Calif., native completed his master's degree in administration at Gonzaga in 1982. After his stint with the Bulldogs, Hillock moved to Loyola Marymount, where he assisted his brother, Jay, currently the Director of Pro Personnel for the NBA's Chicago Bulls, during the 1991-92 season. After completing the 1992-93 season at LMU, he returned to Milford High as the boy's basketball coach and athletic director from 1993-96 until taking the helm of the women's program at SUU in 1996.

He and his wife, Denise, a former star softball pitcher at Southern Utah in the mid-70s, are the parents of three children, Joe, Jr., Heather and Jordan. His daughter, Heather, recently married Todd Allen and both are currently attending Southern Utah University and reside in Cedar City, Utah.

(UCLA '89)

Mike Casillas enters his 12th year in the Athletic Department after being promoted to Director of Student-Athlete Counseling in 2000. He oversees College of Letters & Science counseling (and full-time counselors) in the Morgan Center and is the student-athlete academic counselor for men's basketball. He served as the Interim Director of Academic Services from 2005-07.

Before coming to the Morgan Center, Casillas for three years worked with the UCLA Orientation Program and served five years at the UCLA Graduate School of Education and Information Studies.

JOHN P. DIFIORI, MD, FACS

Team Physician
16th Season
(Franklin and Marshall '85)

Dr. DiFiori has been a team physician for the UCLA Department of Intercollegiate Athletics for more than 15 years, and currently serves as team physician for the Bruins' football and men's basketball programs.

He is also a Professor and Chief in the Division of Sports Medicine of the Department of Family Medicine at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA.

He attained his board certifications in Family Medicine in 1992 and in Sports Medicine in 1995.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from Franklin and Marshall in 1985, Dr. DiFiori received his medical degree from Temple University in 1989. He then completed a residency in Family Medicine at Lancaster General Hospital in Lancaster, Pa., in 1992. After completing his fellowship training in Sports Medicine at UCLA in 1994, he accepted a faculty position with the UCLA Department of Family Medicine. He was appointed Chief of the Division of Sports Medicine in 2002. He also serves as co-director of the primary care sports medicine fellowship program at UCLA.

He serves as a medical consultant for the NHL Players Association, and is a member of the USA Gymnastics physician referral network. He has served as a U.S. team physician for several international competitions including the 1999 Pan American Games in Winnipeg, Canada.

In addition, he has served as a physician for the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo., and for USA Basketball.

Dr. DiFiori served two terms on the Board of Directors for the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine, and is a fellow of the American College of Sports Medicine. He serves on the editorial boards of the Clinical Journal of Sport Medicine and Current Sports Medicine Reports.

Dr. DiFiori's clinical and research interests include overuse injuries affecting children and adolescents, the diagnosis and treatment of chronic tendon injuries, and preparticipation screening. He has conducted primary research on growth plate injury in young gymnasts. He was a recipient of a fellowship from the Grant Generating Project. He has authored multiple scientific articles, case reports, and book chapters on a variety of sports medicine issues.

Dr. DiFiori's sports medicine practice at UCLA includes patients of all ages for the evaluation of sports-related injuries and medical problems. He also maintains a family medicine practice, providing care for patients with a wide variety of medical problems, as well as general health maintenance and preventive care.

KENNY DONALDSON

Academic Coordinator
6th Season
(UCLA '97)

Entering his sixth year on the UCLA staff as the Bruin men and women's basketball Academic Coordinator is Kenny Donaldson. Donaldson's main duties include working together with student-athletes, basketball staff and athletic-academic staff to coordinate successful academic progress; meeting with athletes weekly to document and ensure academic progress; coordinating study hall and counseling student-athletes with personal as well as academic issues.

During the 2003-04 season, Donaldson was the part-time Academic Coordinator for the Bruin men's basketball team. His other UCLA counseling experience includes two years (1995-97) as a Peer Counselor in the UCLA Academic Advancement Program and as a Volunteer Counselor in the Academic Support Program for three years (1993-96).

From 2001-03, Donaldson was an assistant basketball coach at Alemany High School in Mission Hills, Calif. In fall 1995 as a student at UCLA, he was an intern on the UCLA Athletic Training Staff.

He was a three-year basketball letterman (1990-92) at Granada Hills High School.

Donaldson earned his bachelor's degree in physiological sciences (pre-med) from UCLA in 1997, and his master's degree in sports psychology at Long Beach State in 2008.

RYAN EKLUND

Asst. Director of Marketing
4th Season
(Wisconsin-La Crosse '99)

Ryan Eklund enters his fourth year at UCLA as Assistant Director of Marketing and oversees all marketing efforts for men's and women's basketball. Eklund's other duties include overseeing the athletic department's e-mail and database marketing and promoting the annual spring football game.

Eklund helped launch the marketing department's first e-mail opt-in program, the "Bruin Locker Room." He has also been responsible for implementing the department's first all-sport ticket brochure. Eklund also serves on the athletic department's web site committee.

Prior to working at UCLA, Eklund worked in sports marketing roles at Oregon State University (2005-06), University of Arizona (2003-05) and University of Connecticut (2002-03).

Eklund, a 1999 graduate of University of Wisconsin - La Crosse and a former student-athlete (basketball), earned his Master's degree from Springfield College (Mass.) in 2001 and served as an assistant men's basketball coach.

DOUG ERICKSON

Dir. of Basketball Admin.
18th Season
(San Jose State '90)

Doug Erickson is the dean of the UCLA men's basketball administrative staff, entering his 18th year with the Bruin program.

In his position as Director of Basketball Administration, Erickson is responsible for all internal operations of the basketball program and serves as a liaison between the coaches and senior athletic department administrators and the UCLA basketball family. He is involved in the day-to-day operations of the team, including budgetary matters, team travel, film/video, meals, ticketing and team managers.

Erickson also organizes and serves as the co-director of the UCLA and Ben Howland basketball camps each summer. He helps coordinate virtually every aspect of the camp including housing, meals and camp speakers. The recent UCLA Basketball Camps were the largest in its history, attracting more than 1,300 campers over a two-month period in each of the last two summers.

He has played an integral role in the Bruins' success since his arrival. The Bruins have appeared in the NCAA Tournament 14 times, reached the Final Four four times, won the NCAA championship in 1995 and captured six Pac-10 titles during Erickson's tenure with the Bruins. He joined the Bruins staff in 1992, after serving two years as an Accountant at Cadence Design Systems, a leading semiconductor company in San Jose, Calif.

Erickson is a native of Eureka, Calif., where he played four years of basketball and graduated from Eureka High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics at San Jose State in 1990. In terms of basketball, his career was shaped by his family, where all six members played at one time or another. He is single and resides in Los Angeles.
