KARL DORRELL

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

(THIRD SEASON)

UCLA '87

Karl Dorrell, one of the top wide receivers in UCLA history, said prior to this season that after building the program's foundation over the past two years, the Bruins were ready to take the next step. UCLA did just that in 2005, posting a record of 9-2 overall, finishing in third place in the Pac-10 and earning a berth in the Vitalis Sun Bowl.

The Bruins enter the post-season for the third straight season under coach Dorrell, who was named 2005 Pac-10 co-Coach of the Year by his peers and is one of six finalists for the FWAA Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Award. The Bruins rank No. 7 nationally in scoring offense (38.1), No. 18 in passing offense (281.9) and No. 24 in total offense (429.0). The special teams units also rank highly, with the Bruins ranked No. 1 nationally in punt returns (25.3).

Quarterback Drew Olson has set numerous records this season — most passing touchdowns in a season (31), most passes without an interception in a season (195), most completions in a season (232) and most touchdown passes in a game (six). Tight end Marcedes Lewis, the 2005 Mackey Award winner, has moved himself up among the all-time receiving leaders at UCLA with a standout season featuring 58 catches for 741 yards and 10 touchdown catches, earning first-team All-America honors. Running back Maurice Drew has steadily risen up the career all-purpose and rushing lists and has been the national leader in punt returns (29.1) for most of the season. He also earned first-team All-America honors. Linebacker Spencer Havner leads the team in tackles for a second straight season and ranks third in school history with 395 career tackles.

In 2004, the Bruins ranked nationally in both total offense (28th) and rushing offense (27th), averaging 410.0 and 184.9 yards per game, respectively. Defensively, UCLA recorded its first shutout of a Pac-10 opponent in 17 years. Linebacker Spencer Havner earned All-America acclaim from several organizations while tight end Marcedes Lewis and senior punter Chris Kluwe were finalists for national position awards. Tailback Maurice Drew set a school record with 322 rushing yards against Washington and senior wide receiver Craig Bragg set the career reception record with 193 catches. UCLA appeared in a bowl game for the second time in Dorrell's two-year tenure (Pioneer PureVision Las Vegas Bowl) and finished with a record of 6-6.

In 2003, the Bruins won six of their first eight games and played in the Silicon Valley Football Classic. Although the Bruins finished with a record of 6-7, there were numerous highlights along the way. Senior defensive end Dave Ball tied for the national lead in quarterback sacks, earned unanimous All-America honors and was selected Chevrolet National Defensive Player of the Year. Linebacker Brandon Chillar led the Pacific-10 Conference in tackles. Wide receiver Craig Bragg made 73 receptions, tied for the third-highest total in UCLA history. As a team, UCLA's defense ranked 18th nationally and second in the Pac-10 in total defense (317.6 yards).

Dorrell was hired as UCLA's 15th head coach on December 18, 2002 and introduced as the Bruins' new head coach the following day.

Dorrell came to UCLA from the Denver Broncos, where he was in his third year as the coach of the wide receivers. His record-setting receivers played very well during his time with the club.

In 2001, Dorrell faced the challenge of replacing Pro Bowl veteran Ed McCaffrey after a season-ending injury in Week 1, and not only saw Rod Smith catch a franchise-record 113 passes, but also implemented many young players into the Broncos scheme while working through a variety of other injuries that affected playing time.

Though it was a trying season in that regard, Dorrell's tutelage allowed the club to glimpse the young talent it had assembled, as those players gained experience that will pay future dividends. Smith earned his second Pro Bowl invitation, and led the NFL in receptions while ranking sixth in receiving yards.

In Dorrell's first season in Denver (2000), his receiving corps played an integral role in elevating the overall offensive unit to franchise records in total yards, passing yards and first downs. McCaffrey and Smith took their performance to new levels that year, as Smith earned the first Pro Bowl selection of his six-year career while shattering the franchise record with 1,602 receiving yards and tying the previous record with 100 receptions. McCaffrey had the most productive season of his 10-year career by catching a franchise-record 101 passes for 1,317 yards, now third-best behind Smith's 1,602. Both finished in the NFL's top four in receptions and in the top 10 in receiving yards.

Smith's 1,602 yards tied for the eighth-highest single-season total in NFL history, while the duo became just the second pair from the same team ever to post 100 more catches in the same season. Smith and McCaffrey were virtually unstoppable with 13 100-yard games between them.

Prior to his arrival in Denver, Dorrell coached 12 years on the collegiate level, including seven seasons as an offensive coordinator. This will be Dorrell's 15th bowl game in his career as a player and coach, including three Rose Bowls, two Fiesta Bowls and two Cotton Bowls.

Dorrell spent the 1999 season at the University of Washington, serving as offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. In his one season at the school, the Huskies led the Pac-10 in time of possession with an average of 32:57 per game, and scored 28.3 points per game.

He assisted the Broncos coaching staff during training camp in both 1993 and '99 through the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program, and was offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach at the University of Colorado from 1995-98, after a stint as wide receivers coach from 1992-93.

During his first tenure at CU, two of Dorrell's wide receivers, Charles Johnson and Michael Westbrook, became just the fourth pair of receivers on the same team in NCAA history to accumulate more than 1,000 yards in the same season. Johnson and Westbrook are two of the six collegiate receivers Dorrell has coached who have gone on to play in the NFL — three of whom were first-round draft choices.

Dorrell began his coaching career in 1988 as a graduate assistant at UCLA. The Bruins were 10-2 that season, winning the Cotton Bowl. His other coaching stops include Central Florida (1989; receivers), Northern Arizona (1990-91; offensive coordinator/receivers) and Arizona State (1994; wide receivers). In his first experience as an offensive coordinator, Dorrell made his mark at NAU, directing the Lumberjack offense to a school record for first downs in a season, and the second-highest total offense figure in school history.

Dorrell earned his bachelor's degree from UCLA following the 1986 season. He completed his playing career ranked second (tied) in school history in receptions (108) and fourth in receiving yards (1,517). His 108 receptions still rank 11th (tied) on that career list while his 1,517 yards rank 15th. He also played on teams that won three Rose Bowls — following the 1982, 1983 and 1985 seasons — and the 1986 Freedom Bowl.

As a true sophomore in 1983, he made 26 receptions for 390 yards and six touchdowns. In the 45-9 Rose Bowl victory over Illinois, he made five catches for 61 yards and two touchdowns (15 and 16 yards). He missed most of the following season due to a shoulder injury and was granted an additional year of eligibility. As a junior in 1985, he led all Bruin receivers with 39 receptions for 565 yards and one touchdown. As a senior, he was second to Flipper Anderson with 35 receptions for 451 yards and two touchdowns.

Dorrell, who was born in Alameda, CA on Dec. 18, 1963, is a graduate of San Diego's Helix High School, where he was a two-time all-league selection and honorable mention All-America as a senior. He led Helix to the CIF San Diego Section title in 1980 and to second place in 1981.

Karl and his wife, Kim, have two children, Chandler and Lauren.

Dino Babers (Hawaii '84) - Wide Receivers

Dino Babers is in his second season as coach of the Bruin wide receivers. In 2005, he has helped a relatively young and inexperienced group of receivers develop into solid, dependable targets for record-setting quarterback Drew Olson. Returners Joe Cowan, Marcus Everett and Brandon Breazell have each established new career bests this season. In 2004, Craig Bragg became UCLA's career receiving leader and Junior Taylor enjoyed his best season as a Bruin. Babers, who owns a diverse collegiate resume, has coached in the Pacific-10, Big 12, Big Ten, Big East and Western Athletic conferences. In 2003, he served as running backs coach at the University of Pittsburgh. In 2001 and 2002, Babers, 44, served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Texas A&M.

Prior to Texas A&M, Babers was an assistant with the Arizona Wildcats for six seasons (1995-2000) under Dick Tomey, coaching the receivers (1995-96), running backs (1997) and quarterbacks (1998-2000). He assumed the duties of assistant head coach for the 1996-97 seasons before being promoted to the offensive coordinator post, which he held from 1998-2000. During his Arizona tenure, the Wildcats averaged a Pac-10 best 471.9 yards in total offense during the 1999 season, ranking third nationally in that category. In his first year as offensive coordinator (1998), Arizona compiled a record of 12-1 and produced a 1,000-yard rusher, two 1,000-yard passers and a pair of receivers who combined for 121 receptions. Among Babers' star pupils at Arizona were receiver Dennis Northcutt, now of the Cleveland Browns, and tailback Trung Canidate, who played with the St. Louis Rams and the Washington Redskins. Northcutt holds the school records for season (1999) and career all-purpose yards. As quarterbacks coach, he worked with Keith Smith and Ortege Jenkins.

Babers' other coaching posts include positions at San Diego State (1994, receivers), Purdue (1991-93, receivers), Northern Arizona (1990, special teams coordinator and defensive backs), UNLV (1988-89, special teams coordinator and running backs) and Eastern Illinois (1987, running backs). Babers graduated from the University of Hawaii in 1984 with a bachelor's degree in education. He started at three different positions for the Warriors — outside line-backer, strong safety and running back — and earned first-team All-WAC Academic honors. As a senior he was Hawaii's special teams captain. He played in the Canadian Football League during the 1984 season before injury ended his playing career. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Hawaii (1984) and Arizona State (1985-86).

Eric Bieniemy (Colorado '01) - Running Backs/Recruiting

Eric Bieniemy is in his third season as the UCLA running backs coach. He is in his first season as the program's recruiting coordinator. Under his tutelage, Maurice Drew and Chris Markey have emerged as two of the nation's most productive all-purpose backs. Freshman Kahil Bell and fullbacks Michael Pitre and Jimmy Stephens have enjoyed solid seasons as well.

Bieniemy's footprints are still all over the CU record book, as he remains the school's all-time leader in rushing (3,940 yards), all-purpose yards (4,351), touchdowns (42) and scoring (254 points). He was the nation's second leading rusher in 1990 with 1,628 yards, when he finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting that year. His most memorable game was at Nebraska in 1990, as he overcame five fumbles in the first three quarters to score four fourth quarter touchdowns in leading CU to a 27-12 win that put CU in the driver's seat for a second straight Big Eight title as well as on the road to the school's first national championship in football.

In 1990, Bieiemy, 36, earned unanimous All-America honors and was a two-time first-team all Big-Eight performer, in 1988 and in 1990, earning the conference's offensive player-of-the-year honor as a senior. As a junior, he was named to CU's prestigious 25-member "All-Century Football Team," the only active player at the time to be selected to the group honoring the first 100 years of Buffalo football.

Tom Cable (Idaho '86) - Offensive Coordinator/Offensive Line

Tom Cable is in his second season as UCLA's offensive coordinator and coach of the offensive line. The depth he has helped develop along the offensive line the past two seasons has kept the unit steady this year while battling through injuries to maintain the Bruins' place among the nation's top producing offenses. A year ago, the line showed marked improvement and the offense was ranked No. 28 in the nation (410.0 yards per game).

Cable, 41, spent the previous four seasons (2000-2003) as head coach at the University of Idaho, his alma mater. In 2003, he also coached the offensive line. During Cable's tenure at Idaho, his teams ran the West Coast Offense and averaged 424.1 yards of total offense (19,510 yards in 46 games). Idaho ranked sixth nationally in 2001 with 464.8 yards, eighth nationally in 2000 with 453.2 yards and 27th nationally in 2002 with 404.6 yards. The Vandals averaged 379.75 yards in 2003.

Before becoming head coach at his alma mater prior to the 2000 season, he spent two years at the University of Colorado. In 1998, he served as offensive line coach for Rick Neuheisel, working with offensive coordinator Karl Dorrell. In 1999, he was promoted to offensive coordinator by head coach Gary Barnett and worked with tight end coach Jon Embree, now UCLA's assistant head coach. Under his direction, the Buffaloes' offense was ranked 14th in the nation, averaging 424.9 yards per game. Colorado won the Insight.com Bowl that year, scoring 62 points and compiling 523 yards against Boston College. Guard Brad Bedell earned first-team All-American honors that season under Cable.

Cable spent six seasons (1992-97) as offensive line coach at the University of California, working for Keith Gilbertson, former head coach of the Washington Huskies; Steve Mariucci, current head coach of the Detroit Lions; and Tom Holmoe. He produced four first-team All-Pac-10 selections, including first-team All-America and two-time All-Pac-10 performer Todd Steussie, who was also voted the Pac-10's top lineman in 1993. He began his coaching career at his alma mater, serving as a graduate assistant for Gilbertson at Idaho in 1987 and 1988. He then served as a graduate assistant at San Diego State in 1989. From there, he went to Cal State Fullerton, where he was the defensive line coach in 1990. His next stop was UNLV, where he coached the offensive line for one year (1991) before moving to California.

During his career, Cable has coached five All-Americans, eight All-Pac 10 players and two Big 12 players.

Cable, a 6-3, 270-pound offensive lineman, played four years for the Dennis Erickson teams that launched the rebirth of Idaho football in 1982. After a four-year career — three as a starting guard — for the Vandals, Cable spent one season as a free agent with the Indianapolis Colts before beginning his coaching career.

Gary DeLoach (Howard Payne '76) - Secondary/Cornerbacks

Gary DeLoach is in his third season on the Bruin staff. This season, he has overseen the secondary and coached the cornerbacks while helping the Bruins rank first in the Pac-10 in pass defense. He coached corners and safeties in 2003 and 2004. In 2003, the Bruin defense ranked 18th nationally and second in the Pac-10 (317.6 yards) and allowed a league-low 15 touchdown passes. Prior to coming to UCLA, DeLoach served as defensive coordinator for three years (2000-02) at North Texas and secondary coach for five (1998-02).

During the 2002 regular season, North Texas led the Sun Belt Conference in total defense, rushing defense, passing defense and scoring defense. Nationally, North Texas was third in scoring defense (14.8 points), ninth in total defense (290.6 yards), 12th in passing defense (171.7) and 26th in rushing defense (118.9). The Mean Green allowed over 310 yards total offense just three times all season.

In addition, six North Texas defenders were selected first-team All-Sun Belt Conference, including defensive backs Don McGee and Craig Jones. In his five years as the secondary coach, six different defensive backs earned first team all-conference accolades. In 2001, Jonas Buckles earned first-team all-conference honors after ranking fifth nationally and first in the Sun Belt Conference in interceptions. In 2001, the Mean Green defense led the Sun Belt in rushing defense, scoring defense and total defense.

DeLoach, 51, went to North Texas in 1998 after serving as defensive coordinator for national JUCO champion Trinity Valley of Athens, TX and coaching in the World League with the Frankfurt Galaxy in 1997. He previously worked as an assistant coach (defensive coordinator, 1990-94) at New Mexico State for seven years from 1990 to 96, spent three seasons as secondary coach at Texas A&M (1980-82) and seven years at Stephen F. Austin (defensive coordinator and secondary coach, 1983-89). He began his college coaching career as a graduate assistant and then part-time assistant at Stephen F. Austin (1976-78).

Jon Embree (Colorado '87) - Assistant Head Coach/Tight Ends

Jon Embree is in his third season as UCLA's assistant head coach. This is his second year coaching the tight ends after working with the receivers in 2003. In 2005, Mercedes Lewis emerged as one of the most dominant tight end performers in the country and in school history on his way to earning the Mackey Award as the nation's best at his position. He has set numerous records this year, including receptions in a season by a tight end (58) and touchdown catches in a season by a tight end (10). J.J. Hair, Ryan Moya and Logan Paulsen have given the position a level of depth it has not had in many years. Last season, Lewis made seven touchdown receptions and was one of three finalists (the only one returning) for the John Mackey (national quarterback) Award.

Embree came to UCLA from Colorado, where he was a standout player and an assistant coach for the 10 seasons prior to coming to UCLA. In 2003, wide receiver Craig Bragg made 73 receptions in 13 games, tying for No. 3 on the school's single-season reception list.

Embree coached the tight ends during his first two seasons at CU before moving to defense to work with the ends in the first year of Rick Neuheisel's tenure as head coach in 1995. He returned to coaching tight ends under head coach Gary Barnett in 1999. In January of 2001, Embree took charge of the wide receiver position and also coordinated the practice routine for the placekickers. He also played a pivotal role in many of CU's outstanding recruiting successes over the years.

Embree, 40, lettered four seasons (1983-86) as a tight end at Colorado. He ended his career in the top five in both career receptions (80) and yards (1,116) along with scoring five touchdowns. His 1,116 yards rank as the second most by a tight end in CU history, while his 80 catches are still fourth among all ends.

He was first team All-Big Eight and set school records with 51 receptions for 680 yards in 1984. Even though CU abandoned a passing offense for the wishbone in his junior year, he was a sixth-round draft choice by the Los Angeles Rams in the 1987 NFL Draft. He spent two years with the Rams (1987-88), playing in 13 games, and concluded his career in 1989 with the Seattle Seahawks, as an injury ended his pro career.

He has coached several top players, including all-Big Eight performer Christian Fauria, now with the National Football League's New England Patriots. Several others have gone on to the NFL, including Daniel Graham, who he tutored his sophomore and junior seasons and watched break several of his own CU tight end records in 2001.

Thurmond Moore (San Jose State '77) - Defensive Line

Thurmond Moore is in his first season as coach of the Bruin defensive line after having joined the staff in February of 2005. He has worked hard to develop an extremely young group this season, which consists mostly of freshmen and sophomores. Six players in the freshman and sophomore classes have started games along the defensive line this season.

Moore has extensive experience on the defensive side of the ball and coached two members of the 2005 AFC Pro Bowl squad — Indianapolis' Dwight Freeney and Pittsburgh's Joey Porter — as collegians. In 2004, he served as cornerbacks coach for the University of Tulsa. In his one season, the Golden Hurricane ranked 22nd nationally in pass defense, allowing just 191.3 yards per game, and cornerback Jermaine Hope was a second-team All-WAC selection.

Moore spent the previous three seasons (2001-2003) as the defensive coordinator at the University of Buffalo. In his first season at Buffalo, Moore guided one of the biggest defensive turnarounds in the nation in 2001. A year later, his Bulls' defense set a Division I-A school-high with 27 sacks, a figure that ranked near the top of the Mid-American Conference (MAC).

Prior to his stint at Buffalo, Moore helped the Syracuse defense earn national recognition during his two years (1999-2000) coaching the Orange defensive line and Pro Bowl performer Dwight Freeney. Syracuse placed among the nation's top 20 in total defense in both the 1999 and 2000 seasons, finishing 14th (301.2 yards per game) in 1999 and 18th (311.91) in 2000. In addition, the Orange racked up 61 sacks over that span (30 in 1999 and 31 in 2000). Prior to arriving at Syracuse, Moore was the defensive line coach for two seasons (1997-98) at Colorado State and coached Pro Bowler Joey Porter and Clark Haggans, both starters for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Moore, 50, also worked as defensive line coach at his alma mater San Jose State (1996-97) and had previous coaching stints at North Texas (1995), Utah State (1994), Northern Arizona (1989-93), Delaware State (1986-88), Wyoming (1986), California (1983-85) and Cal State Sacramento (1980-82). He has coached several NFL players, such as Freeney, Porter, Haggans, Hardy Nickerson (California), Eric Downing (Syracuse) and Adrian Ross (Colorado State), at the collegiate level.

Larry Kerr (San Jose State '75) - Def. Coordinator/Inside Linebackers

Larry Kerr, who had spent the previous 10 seasons as defensive coordinator at Colorado State University, is in his third season as UCLA's defensive coordinator/inside linebackers coach. In 2005, senior inside linebacker Spencer Havner, who is among the leaders in the Pac-10 in tackles for loss this season, made the list of semifinalists for the Butkus Award, the Rotary Lombardi Award and the Bednarik Award. He was also a quarterfinalist for the Lott Trophy.

In 2004, Kerr helped to develop a young group in which 26 defensive players either made their first career starts or saw their first varsity action. Havner, one of the veterans, led the Pac-10 in tackles from his linebacker position. Two seasons ago, in 2003, the Bruin defense ranked 18th nationally and second in the Pac-10 to Oregon State in total defense and tied for the Pac-10 lead in fewest defensive touchdowns allowed (27 in 13 games). Senior linebacker Brandon Chillar recorded 127 tackles, the ninth-highest total in school history.

During Kerr's 10 years at CSU, the Ram defense led the conference in total defense twice, was second once and third in another season. The Rams played in seven bowl games and won six conference championships.

In 2002, CSU compiled a record of 10-4, won the Mountain West Conference, played in the Liberty Bowl and ranked fourth in the league in total defense. Four CSU defenders were selected All-Mountain West Conference first or second team. He was also a nominee for the Frank Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year Award. In 2000, linebacker Rick Crowell was named Conference Defensive Player of the Year, the second time a Rams' player had been so honored during Kerr's tenure. Overall, Kerr coached seven first-team all-conference players. In addition, Eric Pauly was named a second-team Academic All-American in 2001.

Kerr, 52, went to Colorado State after having spent three seasons (1990-92) as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator at Northern Arizona. During those first two years, Karl Dorrell was the Lumberjacks' offensive coordinator.

In 1989, Kerr served as inside linebackers coach and special teams coordinator at UCLA under Terry Donahue. He spent the six previous seasons (1983-88) serving in that same capacity at Stanford. Prior to coaching with the Cardinal, he served as the inside linebackers coach at San Jose State (1980-83).

Brian Schneider (Colorado State '94) - Special Teams/Safeties

Brian Schneider is in his third season as a member of the Bruin coaching staff. This is his second season coaching all of UCLA's special teams units and he also coaches the safeties. In 2005, several of Schneider's special teams units have ranked among the best in the nation — punt returns, kickoff coverage and net punting. Placekicker Justin Medlock ranks second in the conference in kick scoring. In 2004, punter Chris Kluwe was a finalist for the Ray Guy Award, presented annually to the nation's top punter, and Medlock was named first-team All-Pac-10. In 2004, he served as coach of the outside linebackers and nickel backs, as well as all of the special teams. In 2003, he coached the punt and punt return units and the outside linebackers and nickel backs. He came to UCLA after serving the previous six seasons as tight ends and special teams coordinator at Colorado State. During his tenure at CSU, the Rams excelled in special teams play. He coached eight all-conference special teams or tight end performers.

In 2002, Dexter Wynn ranked fifth nationally in punt returns and 12th in kickoff returns. In 2001, Wynn and Pete Rebstock both ranked among the national leaders in returns while Joey Huber was among the national leaders in punting average. Place kicker Kent Naughton had one of the top field goal percentage marks in 2001 in school history. In 1998, place kicker Derek Franz set the school's season scoring record and the record for most field goals in a season. Franz ranked first in the league and fifth nationally in field goals per game. In 1999, punter Deone Horinek ranked eighth nationally.

Schneider, 34, spent three seasons (1994-96) as a graduate assistant coach at Colorado State, working with the team's defensive unit and special teams prior to moving to full-time status in 1997. He was a three-year starter as a linebacker from 1990-93 at Colorado State. As a senior in 1993, he was named first-team all-conference and was an honorable mention All-American. He was a second-team all-league choice in 1992. Schneider still ranks among the school's career leaders in total tackles.

Jim Svoboda (Northwestern (IA) College '83) - Quarterbacks

Jim Svoboda, a finalist for the Frank Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year award, is in his second season as UCLA's quarterbacks coach. Drew Olson has enjoyed a record-setting senior season in 2005. Olson ranks among the nation's leaders in passing efficiency (third at 165.2), touchdown passes (second at 31), passing yards (3,055) and total offense (19th at 272.5). He has set several school records this season, including touchdown passes in a season, most consecutive passes without an interception in a season (195) and touchdown passes in a game (six). A year ago, in 2004, Olson tossed 20 touchdown passes and accounted for over 2,600 yards of total offense.

Svoboda came to UCLA after spending the previous 10 seasons as the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Northwest Missouri State University in Maryville, MO. During his time at NWMSU, the Bearcats won national championships in 1998 and 1999 while his offensive units ranked among the most potent in NCAA Division II and in the MIAA (Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletic Association) conference.

Svoboda's 1998 and 2000 offensive units led all of Division II in scoring. In 2000, the Bearcat offense topped the nation by scoring 537 points, averaging 48.8 points per game. The squad also ranked third nationally in total offense with a mark of 492.4 yards a game. In 1998, the Bearcats averaged conference-best marks of 46.4 points and 482.4 yards per contest and won 15 games. The passing average of 283.3 yards per game also led the league that season. Svoboda was selected the 1998 Division II Offensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Coach Magazine.

NWMSU had final national rankings of 2nd, 3rd, 2nd, 4th and 1st between 1996 and 2000 with a record of 63-5 and five MIAA conference titles. In a six-year span (1996 and 2001), his offenses averaged over 40 points and 450 yards of total offense. He won six different conference championships with four different quarterbacks and a pair of national championships with different signal callers. In October of 2000, quarterback Travis Miles set an NCAA record by completing 21 of 23 passes for 305 yards, including 18 consecutive completions. His efficiency rating of 182.4 ranked 14th all-time in Division II (entering the 2003 season). Quarterback Chris Greisen (1995-98) ranks 12th all-time in career passing efficiency for Division II (150.9).

Prior to joining the staff at Northwest Missouri, Svoboda was the head coach and offensive coordinator at Nebraska Wesleyan University. He compiled a 52-19 record (.732 winning percentage) in seven seasons at Wesleyan from 1987-93 and established over 30 team and individual offensive records. He was named the Nebraska-Iowa Athletic Conference Coach of the Year following the 1988, 1989 and 1990 seasons and his teams were ranked among the nation's top five in the 1990, 1991 and 1992 campaigns. Svoboda, a 1983 graduate of Northwestern (IA) College (he played running back), has also served as running backs coach at Eastern New Mexico University (1985-86), assistant football coach at Nebraska Wesleyan (1986), offensive line/strength coach at Dana College (1984-85) and running backs coach at his alma mater (1983). He earned a Master's of Science from Eastern New Mexico in 1986.

Bob Lopez (Illinois State '76) - Football Operations

Bob Lopez is in his third year as director of football operations. He was hired in January of 2003 and oversees the administrative side of the UCLA football program.

Lopez came to UCLA from the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, where he had served as executive director of enrollment services and director of admissions since April of 2001. At UW-Eau Claire he played a lead role in the design, development, implementation and management of a comprehensive and integrated enrollment services program. He was in charge of admissions and recruitment services for traditional and non-traditional undergraduate students among other duties.

Prior to entering the college admissions field, Lopez spent 14 years coaching football at the high school, junior college and college levels. He played quarterback at Illinois State University from 1972-76, starting his last two seasons.

Lopez began his career as a high school teacher and later became director of admissions and athletics at Fort Scott (KS) Community College. From 1987-1998, he held several positions at Northern Arizona University, including recruiting coordinator and assistant coach, and program coordinator in the Counseling and Testing Center and in the Office of Admissions. He was assistant director of admissions at Northern Arizona from 1994-98 and was marketing manager for Southwest Student Services Corp., Mesa, AZ, for one year. In 1999, he moved to Peru (NE) State College as director of enrollment management.

INDIVIDUAL UCLA NOTES — Drew Olson has shattered the school record for touchdown passes. He has 31 this season, breaking the mark of 25 set by Cade McNown in 1998.

Drew Olson ranks third in the nation in touchdown passes (31). He also ranks third nationally in passing efficiency (165.23) and first in interception percentage (0.85).

Drew Olson's efficiency rating of 301.26 for the Arizona State game was the second highest in NCAA Division IA history for quarterbacks with between 25 and 49 pass attempts.

Maurice Drew is the only player in school history to score five touchdowns in a game and he has now done it twice (2004 at Washington and 2005 versus California).

Maurice Drew already holds the UCLA career record for all purpose yards with 4,592. He passed former No. 1 Gaston Green, 1984-87, (4,283 yards) on a 10-yard fourth-quarter punt return this season at Stanford.

Maurice Drew ranks No. 9 in UCLA career scoring with 234 points and No. 10 in career rushing with 2,489 yards.

Marcedes Lewis leads the nation's tight ends with 10 touchdown receptions and his average of 5.27 receptions per game ranks second.

Marcedes Lewis (currently with 21) ranks second on the all-time UCLA TD reception list. He trails only J.J. Stokes (28) on that list.

Marcedes Lewis (currently eighth with 126) will tie for seventh on the all-time school list for receptions with two catches.

Spencer Havner (currently with 395) moved into third place ahead of Kenny Easley (374) on the career tackles list at Arizona. He needs five tackles to become the third Bruin in history with 400 or more tackles for a career.

Drew Olson's 31 touchdown passes this season tie him for sixth (5th is Akili Smith, Oregon-32 in 1998; 3rd are Matt Leinart, USC in 2004 and Carson Palmer, USC in 2002-33; 2nd is Ryan Leaf, Wash. St.-34 in 1997; 1st is Matt Leinart, USC - 38 in 2003) on the Pac-10 Conference season list. His 64 career touchdown passes rank 10th (tied) on the all-time Pac-10 list (9th is Jake Plummer of ASU - 65, 8th is Cade McNown of UCLA - 68; 7th is Jason Gesser of Wash. St. - 70).

Maurice Drew, currently with 120 points, is tied for No. 9 (8th is Ryan Killeen, USC-122 in 2003; 7th is Hugh McElhenny, Wash.-125 in 1951; 6th is Duke Morrison, Cal-131 in 1922; 5th is Steven Jackson, Oregon St.-132 in 1932; 3rd is Marcus Allen, USC in 1981 and O.J. Simpson in 1968, USC-138; 2nd is Corey Dillon, Wash.-150; 1st is Skip Hicks, UCLA-156 in 1997) on the Pac-10 single season scoring list.

Quarterback Drew Olson was one of seven finalists for the Unitas Award (top senior quarterback). He was named one of 15 semifinalists for the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award. Spencer Havner was one of the 12 semifinalists for the Rotary Lombardi Award. He was one of 10 semifinalists for the Butkus Award. Havner was also one of 12 semifinalists for the Bednarik Award (nation's top defender) and one of 15 quarterfinalists for the Lott Trophy.

Maurice Drew is averaging 23.65 yards on his 20 touchdowns this season. In the first game of the 2005 season, Drew scored three touchdowns (averaging 45.6 yards in length). On UCLA's first offensive play of the year, he raced 64 yards for a score. He also hit paydirt on a one-yard run in the second quarter. Later in the same period, he returned a punt 72 yards for a touchdown. Against Rice, he scored on a four-yard run and a 66-yard punt return (35.0-yard avg). He had one touchdown (nine yards) versus Oklahoma and one touchdown (one yard) versus Washington. Against California, he scored five touchdowns for the second time in his career -- 12-yard run, one-yard run, 81-yard punt return, 28-yard reception and two-yard run (24.8 yards avg). At WSU, he scored two touchdowns -- a 45-yard reception and a one-yard run -- (23.0 yard avg). Against Oregon State, he scored on receptions of 43 and 20 yards, an average of 31.5 yards per score. At Stanford, he scored on runs of six and one yard

(3.5 average). He did not score at Arizona and had a one-yard touchdown run versus Arizona State. His touchdown run versus USC measured 15 yards.

In 2004, Drew averaged 40.63 yards on each of his eight rushing touchdowns in 2004 (47, 47, 62, 58, 15, 37, 57, 2) for 325 yards. He also had scoring receptions of 27, 43 and three yards and a punt return for 68 yards.

Maurice Drew's 43-yard scoring reception versus Oregon State was the 16th time in his career he has scored on a play which measured at least 40 yards. Drew's 81-yard scoring punt return against California tied the UCLA and Pac-10 single-season (three) and career (four) records for punt return touchdowns. He had a 65-yard scoring return against Washington erased by penalty.

Drew's 81-yard scoring punt return against Cal was his sixth kick return for a touchdown. (91 KOR v. Oklahoma, 2003; 99 KOR v. USC, 2003; 72 PR v. SDSU, 2005, 66 PR v. Rice, 2005; 81 PR v. California, 2005; 68 PR v. Stanford, 2004).

Against Oregon State, Drew Olson set a school record with six touchdown passes, breaking the record of five he had tied the previous week at Washington State. He also threw five touchdown passes against Arizona State, becoming the first Bruin to throw at least five in a game three times. Cade McNown threw five touchdown passes at Texas in 1997 and at Miami in 1998.

Drew Olson's 31 completions against Washington State rank No. 2 in school history, trailing only Troy Aikman's 32 versus USC in 1988.

In Drew Olson's last 19 games, he has completed 372 of 590 (.631) passes for 4,880 yards, 47 TDs and 11 interceptions.

Drew Olson has led four fourth-quarter comebacks this season (Washington, 10 points; Cal, 12 points; Washington State, 17 points; Stanford, 21 points). In those four games, he completed 45 of 61 passes (.738) for 539 yards and six touchdowns in the fourth quarter/overtime. In the fourth quarter/overtime of all games this season, Olson is 65 of 93 (.699) for 848 yards, 11 touchdowns and no interceptions. In the second half of all games this season, Olson is 119 of 174 (.684) for 1,445 yards, 16 touchdowns and no interceptions.

The 131 receiving yards by Marcedes Lewis at San Diego State and at Arizona are the most by a Bruin tight end since 2002, when Mike Seidman had games of 138 against Oregon State and 134 versus San Diego State. Rick Walker's 145 yards versus Oregon State in 1975 is the school record for tight ends.

Spencer Havner's four defensive touchdowns are the most ever by a UCLA player (records date back to 1957). Havner has three interception returns for scores and one fumble return. Havner's fumble return for a score against Oklahoma pushed him past Abdul McCullough ('93-96) who had two interception returns and one fumble recovery; Jerry Robinson ('75-78) who had three interception returns; Marcus Turner ('85-88) who had three interception returns and Tommy Bennett ('92-93, 95) who had three fumble returns. NOTE: (Darryl Henley ('85-88) had three punt returns and one fumble return for touchdown; Maurice Drew has six kick returns for scores, four punts / two kickoffs).

By kicking field goals of 52 and 50 yards at Oregon in 2004, Justin Medlock became the first Bruin to kick two field goals of at least 50 yards in a game. He is the only Bruin ever to kick three field goals of 50 or more yards in the same season and is one of just two Bruins (John Lee is the other) to have four career field goals of 50 or more yards. Medlock is now fourth (tied) on UCLA's career field goal list with 42.

UCLA senior quarterbacks have won 24 of the last 31 games (77.4%) in which they have started, including Drew Olson's 9-2 mark this season.

Running back Maurice Drew's 120 rushing yards against Oregon State marked the ninth time in his career he has topped the century mark. Drew's total of nine 100-yard games ranks tied for eighth on the all-time school list. (114 vs. San Diego St., 2005; 109 v. Washington St., 2005; 120 v. Oregon St., 2005; 142 v. Illinois, 2004; 322 v. Washington, 2004; 161 v. San Diego St., 2004; 105 v. Stanford, 2004; 126 v. Wyoming, 2004; 176 v. Arizona St., 2003)

Tight end Marcedes Lewis has set a school record for tight ends with 10 touchdown catches in 2005, breaking the mark of seven he set last year. He also holds the career mark with 21. Lewis ranks second on the overall school career touchdown reception list, seven shy of J.J. Stokes' record of 28.

TEAM NOTES — UCLA's 660 yards of total offense against Arizona State ranks No. 5 on the all-time list and were the most since UCLA had 670 at Miami in 1998.

UCLA's 510 yards passing against Arizona State ranks No. 2 all-time, trailing only the 513 yards at Miami in 1998.

For the first time ever, UCLA had three receivers with at least 100 yards -- 120 by Chris Markey, 109 by Joe Cowan and 108 by Marcedes Lewis -- against Arizona State.

UCLA has won six regular season games in the Rose Bowl just twice -- 2005 and 1982, finishing 6-0 in both seasons.

UCLA has won 10 games in six previous seasons -- 1946 (10-1), 1982 (10-1-1), 1987 (10-2), 1988 (10-2), 1997 (10-2) and 1998 (10-2).

UCLA has started the season 8-0 five times -- 2005; 1998, when it started the year with 10 straight wins and went to the Rose Bowl; 1954, when it earned a National Championship; 1952 and 1946 (Rose Bowl).

UCLA has compiled an eight-game winning streak during the season eight times -- 2005 (won first eight), 1998 (won first 10), 1997 (won last 10), 1987 (won eight in a row mid-season), 1973 (won nine in a row mid-season), 1954 (won all nine), 1952 (won first eight), 1946 (won first 10). Two teams went on to play in the Rose Bowl game (1998, 1946). One won the national championship (1954).

UCLA's win over No. 9/10 California was its first over a Top 10 team since UCLA defeated No. 10 Washington, 35-13, in the 2001 season.

UCLA's No. 7 ranking by AP and USA Today/Coaches on Oct. 30 was its highest since Oct. 21, 2001 when the 6-0 Bruins were ranked No. 4 by the polls.

In 11 games, UCLA's offense has produced 34 touchdown drives of 64 yards or longer -- three vs. San Diego State, four vs. Rice, one vs. Oklahoma, two vs. Washington, four vs. California, five vs. Washington State, five vs. Oregon State, three vs. Stanford, one vs. Arizona, five versus Arizona State and one versus USC.

Six have measured between 64 and 69 yards, 13 between 70 and 79 yards, 12 between 80 and 89 yards and three have measured at least 90 yards, including the game-tying drive at Washington State (96 yards).

In its last eight games, UCLA has outscored its opponents 94-41 in the fourth quarter and 12-6 in overtime, including 71-13 in the four come-from-behind wins. Against Washington, UCLA trailed by 10 points in the fourth quarter and outscored the Huskies, 14-0. Against California, UCLA trailed by 12 points in the fourth and outscored the Golden Bears, 19-3 (the last 19 points). At Washington State, UCLA trailed by 17 entering the fourth and outscored the Cougars 17-0 in the fourth quarter and 6-3 in overtime. At Stanford, UCLA trailed by 21 points in the fourth quarter and outscored the Cardinal 21-10 (the final 21) and 6-3 in overtime.

Overall, UCLA has outscored its opponents 142-55 in the fourth quarter with the only touchdowns being scored by San Diego State, Oklahoma, Oregon State, Stanford, Arizona State and USC (2).

UCLA's win over Washington on October 1 was its first as a ranked team since defeating California in the sixth game of the 2001 season. UCLA was ranked No. 4 by AP entering that contest.

When UCLA moved into the Top 25 on Sept. 18, it was the first time since 2002, when it was No. 24 on the USA Today/Coaches poll and No. 25 on the AP poll entering USC week (Nov. 18).

UCLA is 13-0 in games in which it has won the turnover battle under head coach Karl Dorrell, including 5-0 this season (SDSU, Rice, Oklahoma, Oregon State, Arizona State).

UCLA's eight straight wins to open the 2005 campaign marked the first time the Bruins had compiled an eight-game winning streak under head coach Karl Dorrell.

California entered its game with UCLA having allowed just 53 points in five games (10.6 average). UCLA scored 47 versus the Golden Bears.

UCLA is 6-1 all-time in overtime, including this year's 30-27 single overtime win at Stanford and the 44-41 single overtime win at Washington State. Head coach Karl Dorrell is 3-0 in overtime, defeating California in 2003 and Washington State and Stanford this season.

Opponents have scored eight touchdowns on UCLA's 12 turnovers this season. UCLA has scored 84 points this season off of 19 opponent turnovers.

UCLA scored at least 40 points in each of its first three games and has scored at least 40 in seven of 11 contests.

All-Time Comeback Stories--(21 points in 4th quarter) UCLA trailed Stanford 24-3 when the Cardinal scored with 8:26 remaining in the fourth quarter of this season's game. (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 7:04 to play in the fourth quarter) The Bruins rallied to tie the game with 46 seconds left in regulation and went on to win, 30-27, in the first overtime.

(21 points in 2nd quarter) UCLA trailed Arizona State 21-0 after the Sun Devils scored with 11:54 remaining in the 2nd quarter (2000) before rallying for a 38-31 win (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 2:38 remaining in the 2nd quarter).

(21 points in 2nd quarter) UCLA trailed at Washington State 28-7 after the Cougars scored with 5:36 remaining in the 2nd quarter (2005) before rallying for a 44-41 win in overtime (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 26 seconds remaining in the 2nd quarter).

(21 points in 2nd quarter) UCLA trailed at Michigan 21-0 after the Wolverines scored with 9:56 remaining in the 2nd quarter (1982) before rallying (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 4:34 remaining in the second quarter) for a 31-27 win.

(17 points in fourth quarter) UCLA trailed USC 38-21 after the Trojans scored with 11:06 remaining in the 4th quarter (1996) and rallied (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 6:12 remaining in the fourth quarter) to win 48-41 in the second overtime.

(17 points in fourth quarter) UCLA trailed at Washington State 38-21 early in the fourth quarter (2005) and rallied (UCLA began its comeback with a score with 14:32 remaining in the 4th quarter) to win, 44-41 in the first overtime.

The Sept. 17 win over Oklahoma (No. 17 USA Today/No. 21 AP) was UCLA's first over a ranked opponent (AP) since a 46-16 win over No. 18 Washington at the Rose Bowl in 2003.

UCLA's 51 points against Oregon State was the highest point total by a Bruin team in a Pac-10 game since defeating Arizona State, 52-42 on Dec. 1, 2001.

The win at San Diego State was UCLA's first in an opener since a win over Colorado State began the 2002 season.

UCLA's 63 points against Rice is its highest total of the Karl Dorrell Era and the most points by a Bruin team since a 66-10 win over Houston on Oct. 4, 1997.

UCLA is 44 for 50 in the Red Zone (37 touchdowns, seven field goals, one end-of-game kneeldown, three possessions turned over on downs, one missed field goal and one fumble) in 2005.

In 11 games, UCLA has committed 12 turnovers while forcing 19 (17 on defense and two on special teams).

In 2005, UCLA has produced 81 plays of at least 20 yards - 10 versus San Diego State (three passes, two punt returns, two runs, two kickoff returns and one interception return), 11 versus Rice (six passes, three runs, one kickoff return and one punt return), five against Oklahoma (three passes and two runs), five versus Washington (three passes, two kickoff returns), 11 versus California (five passes, three kickoff returns, two punt returns and one run), seven versus Washington State (five passes, two kickoff returns), 13 against Oregon State (five passes, three kickoff returns, three runs, one punt return and one interception), six at Stanford (five passes, one run), two at Arizona (both passes), nine versus Arizona State (all passes) and two versus USC (one pass and one kick return). Seventeen have resulted in touchdowns.

Maurice Drew has 23 plays of at least 20 yards (six runs, five punt returns, 11 receptions and one kickoff return) and eight have resulted in touchdowns. Drew Olson has 46 completions of at least 20 yards and Mercedes Lewis has 11 receptions of at least 20 yards.

In 2004, UCLA had 100 plays of at least 20 yards (44 passes, 22 runs, 23 kickoff returns and seven punt returns, four interception returns), including 21 for touchdowns.

In 11 games this year, UCLA is averaging 6.28 yards per play, 429.00 yards of total offense and 38.09 points.

With the win at Washington State, the Bruins qualified to play in a bowl game following the 2005 season. The Bruins have now qualified to play in a bowl game in eight of the last nine seasons. UCLA entered the 2005 season having played in 17 bowl games in the last 24 years. UCLA is 10-6 in its last 16 bowl game appearances.

UCLA has more bowl wins (10) in the last 23 years than any other school in the Pac-10 conference. In fact, only eight schools (Florida State, Miami, Tennessee, Georgia, Michigan, Auburn, Alabama, Penn State) have won more bowl games than the Bruins in that span.

SERIES NOTES — Northwestern leads the series with the Bruins, which dates back to 1931, by a count of 3-2. The teams have not met since the Tommy Prothro-coached Bruins won a 12-7 decision in the 1970 season in a game played at the L.A. Coliseum. Northwestern was led that season by running back Mike Adamle.

UCLA also captured the 1969 meeting at Northwestern by a score of 36-0. Northwestern posted wins in the 1948 (19-0), 1947 (27-26) and 1931 (19-0) seasons.

UCLA's last meeting with a team from the Big Ten Conference came in the 2004 season, a 35-17 win at Illinois. The Bruins have won the last three meetings with teams from the Big Ten Conference --- 2004 35-17 at Illinois, 2003 6-3 vs. Illinois, 2001 13-6 vs. Ohio State. UCLA's last loss to a Big Ten team came when Wisconsin bested the Bruins 21-20 in the 2000 Sun Bowl.

DID YOU KNOW? — The football team had 29 players listed on the Athletics Director's Honor Roll for the Spring '05 quarter. To qualify, student-athletes had to post at least a 3.0 grade point average. Sixteen of the 19 members of Karl Dorrell's first recruiting class (2003) are still in the program and on track to graduate.

The UCLA football program has produced 16 NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship winners, 14 first-team Academic All-Americans, eight National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Post-Graduate Scholarship recipients, one Rhodes Scholar and three members of the Academic All-America Hall of Fame.

Offensive guard Chris Joseph was selected to the ESPN The Magazine/CoSIDA Academic All-District-8 team. Joseph and defensive tackle Kenneth Lombard were named to first-team Pac-10 All-Academic. Offensive guard Bob Cleary and defensive back Michael Norris were named to the second team while receiver Andrew Baumgartner and linebacker Dan Nelson earned honorable mention.

Two Bruins on the 2005 roster are the sons of former Bruin standouts — DB Trey Brown (dad, Theotis, played running back from 1976-78 and rushed for 2,914 yards to rank No. 7 all-time at the school); LB Bruce Davis (dad, Bruce, played offensive line from 1975-78 and went on to a long NFL career, winning two Super Bowl titles).

UCLA is the only school to produce five quarterbacks — Troy Aikman, Steve Bono, Billy Kilmer, Tom Ramsey, Jay Schroeder — to have played on a Super Bowl team.

According to the NFL, the Bruins were first among Pac-10 schools with 25 active players on 2005 opening weekend National Football League rosters. UCLA ranked 15th among all universities.

During the last 23 years, UCLA has been ranked in the final Associated Press Top 25 on 11 occasions, tied with USC for the most among Pac-10 schools.

In the last 23 seasons (1982-2004), UCLA has more Top 10 rankings (seven) than any other Pac-10 school. In fact, only eight schools (Florida State, Nebraska, Miami, Florida, Michigan, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Auburn) have been ranked in the AP Top 10 more often than UCLA during this period.

2005 FIRSTS — Five Bruins made their first career starts against San Diego State -- offensive linemen Chris Joseph and Brian Abraham, defensive linemen Nathaniel Skaggs and Nikola Dragovic and safety Dennis Keyes. In addition, punter Aaron Perez and holder Brian Callahan started at their respective spots for the first time.

Against Rice, tight end J.J. Hair and defensive tackle Chase Moline made their first career starts.

Against Oklahoma, true freshmen tight end Ryan Moya and linebacker John Hale made the first starts of their careers.

In the win over California, redshirt sophomore defensive end William Snead and redshirt junior wide receiver Andrew Baumgartner made the first starts of their careers. True freshman Gavin Ketchum made his first career start at Washington State. Redshirt sophomore Noah Sutherland made his first career start against Oregon State. Robert Chai made his first start of the year at center against Stanford. Kyle Morgan made his first start of the year against Arizona State. Against USC, redshirt sophomore Chris Horton and redshirt sophomore Christian Taylor made their first career starts.

Nine true freshmen played in the opener against San Diego State -- RB Kahlil Bell, LB Kyle Bosworth, LB John Hale, WR Gavin Ketchum, S Robert Kibble, S Bret Lockett, DL Chase

Moline, TE Ryan Moya and TE Logan Paulsen. Thirty-six true freshmen have now played for the Bruins during the last four seasons (2002-2005). A school-record 12 true freshmen played for the Bruins in 2004.

Twenty-one Bruins played in a game for the first time against SDSU. In addition to the nine true freshmen, others who made their debut included LB Christian Taylor, S Charlie Schuh, CB Byron Velega, DT Nathaniel Skaggs, QB/H Brian Callahan, WR Matt Willis, WR Andrew Baumgartner, C Aaron Meyer, OL Scott Glicksberg, DT Brian Ruziecki, DT Scott Kearney and P Aaron Perez. In addition, Noah Sutherland, who played defensive tackle a year ago, made his debut at offensive tackle. QB Pat Cowan made his debut against Rice.

BRUIN HEAD COACH KARL DORRELL — The 2005 Pac-10 co-Coach of the Year, Karl Dorrell is concluding his third season (21-15 overall, 14-10 in Pac-10 play) as the 15th head coach in UCLA history. He returned to Westwood, where he played on teams that won five consecutive bowl games, after serving as an assistant coach at both the collegiate and professional levels. He is the first UCLA coach to go to bowls in each of his first three seasons.

Dorrell came to UCLA after working the previous three seasons for Mike Shanahan's Denver Broncos as an assistant coach in charge of wide receivers. Prior to his arrival in Denver, Dorrell coached 12 years on the collegiate level, including seven seasons as an offensive coordinator.

During his career as a collegiate player and coach, Dorrell has participated in 14 bowl games (the 2005 Vitalis Sun Bowl will be the 15th), including three Rose Bowls, two Fiesta Bowls and two Cotton Bowls. He played on teams that won three Pacific-10 titles and defeated USC four times in five seasons. His 108 receptions still rank in the all-time school career Top 11 and his total of 1,517 receiving yards ranks No. 15.

Dorrell's previous collegiate coaching experience includes six seasons at Colorado, two years at Northern Arizona, and one year each at UCLA, Washington, Arizona State and Central Florida.

He earned his bachelor's degree from UCLA following the 1986 season and began his coaching career in the 1988 season as a Bruin graduate assistant.

He became receivers coach at Central Florida the next season and moved on to Northern Arizona for the 1990 and 1991 seasons as offensive coordinator and receivers coach. He then embarked on the first of two stints at Colorado. Dorrell served as receivers coach in the 1992-93 seasons. During that tenure, receivers Charles Johnson and Michael Westbrook, became just the fourth pair of wideouts on the same team in NCAA history to accumulate more than 1,000 yards in the same season.

Dorrell returned to the Pac-10 for the 1994 season as receivers coach at Arizona State before going back to Colorado for the 1995-98 campaigns as offensive coordinator and receivers coach. The Buffaloes won three bowl games in that four-year span and were victorious in 33 of 47 games. He spent the 1999 season at Washington, serving as offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach.

The former Bruin then moved to the professional ranks and served as receiving coach with the Broncos from 2000 until the time he took the UCLA job on December 18, 2002.

THE OFFENSE

#14 QB DREW OLSON — The Bruin quarterback has played himself into Heisman Trophy consideration with his fabulous senior season. He is one of five finalists for the Manning Award (nation's top quarterback). He was also on the list of 10 "Players to Watch" for the Walter Camp Foundation Player of the Year award. In addition, he was one of seven finalists for the Unitas Award (nation's top senior quarterback) and was one of 15 semifinalists for the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award and has led the Bruins to a 9-2 record, including four fourth-quarter double-digit comebacks. On the year, he has completed 232 of 354 passes (65.5) for 3,055 yards and 31 touchdowns with three interceptions. His passing efficiency rating of 165.23 ranks third nationally, as do his 31 touchdown passes. He leads the nation in interception percentage of 0.85 and ranks sixth in points responsible for with 17.45 per game. He ranks second in the Pac-10 in passing yards (277.78) and second in the league and T-19th in the nation in total offense (272.45). His 31 touchdown passes also rank sixth (tied) on the Pac-10 single-season list.

Olson's 31 touchdown passes have shattered the old school record of 25, set by Cade McNown in 1998 (12 games). In his last seven games, Olson has thrown 21 touchdowns and just one interception. He has a current streak of 195 passes without an interception, a school record.

His 232 completions rank No. 1 in school history, having passed Troy Aikman's 228 versus USC. His 3,055 yards rank No. 3 on that UCLA list, trailing only Cade McNown's 3,470 yards in 1998 and McNown's 3,116 yards in 1997.

He has 11 completions of at least 40 yards this season and 46 of at least 20 yards.

His 510 passing yards against Arizona State rank No. 2 in school history behind only McNown's 513 at Miami in 1998. He has thrown at least five touchdown passes three times this season (McNown did it twice in his career), including a school-record six against Oregon State and five each versus Arizona State and Washington State.

His efficiency rating of 301.26 for the Arizona State game was the second highest in NCAA Division IA history for quarterbacks with between 25 and 49 pass attempts.

In his 44-game career (37 starts (23-14) / last 26 straight), Olson has 654 completions which rank No. 2 in UCLA history. In addition, his 8,389 career passing yards rank No. 2 and his career total offense of 8,171 yards also ranks No. 2. His 64 touchdown passes rank No. 2 on the UCLA career list.

His 64 touchdown passes rank 10th (tied) on the Pac-10 career list while his 8,389 passing yards rank 16th.

In his last 19 games, he has completed 372 of 590 (.631) passes for 4,880 yards, 47 TDs and 11 interceptions.

In the four fourth-quarter come-from-behind victories, he completed 45 of 61 passes (.738) for 539 yards, six touchdowns and no interceptions in the fourth quarter and overtime. In the fourth quarter/overtime of all games this season, Olson is 65 of 93 (.699) for 848 yards, 11 touchdowns and no interceptions. In the second half of all games this season, Olson is 119 of 174 (.684) for 1,445 yards, 16 touchdowns and no interceptions.

In the regular-season finale versus USC, he completed 14 of 32 passes for 146 yards and one touchdown.

Against Arizona State, he was virtually unstoppable. On the evening, he completed 22 of 27 passes for 510 yards with five touchdowns and no interceptions. In the first quarter, he completed eight of 10 passes for 295 yards and three touchdowns (91 yards to Joe Cowan on the first play of the game, 56 yards to Chris Markey and six yards to Mercedes Lewis). In the second half, he completed all 12 of his attempts for 195 yards and two touchdowns (seven yards to Brandon Breazell and 13 yards to Lewis). The 91-yard touchdown to Cowan was the fourth-longest pass play in school history. He became only the second Bruin to break the 500-yard plateau late in the game on Mercedes Lewis' diving 17-yard reception. He engineered five touchdown drives of at least 79 yards.

The 510 yards rank No. 2 on UCLA's single-game list (Cade McNown set the school record with 513 yards at Miami) as do his 501 yards of total offense (McNown's 515 yards at Miami is the record). The five touchdown passes were one shy of his school record and the third time this year he has thrown at least five TD passes.

He was selected the National Player of the Week by USA Today.com, Division IA National Offensive Player of the Week by the Walter Camp Football Foundation. He was also the Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week for the third time this season.

At Arizona, he completed 23 of 38 passes for 232 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions. On UCLA's final scoring drive (91 yards), he completed five of six passes (last five) for 70 yards, including his second touchdown pass to Mercedes Lewis (16 yards).

In the Oct. 29 21-point comeback at Stanford, he completed 24 of 35 passes for 293 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. In the fourth quarter and overtime, he completed 15 of 20 passes for 206 yards and two touchdowns, a 31-yard strike to Joe Cowan in the fourth quarter and the game-winning 23-yard connection with Brandon Breazell in overtime.

In the fourth quarter, he led UCLA on touchdown drives of 65, 72 and 66 yards after Stanford took a 24-3 lead with 8:26 remaining. The three scoring drives took just 3:40. In overtime, he hit Breazell for the winning score after a two-yard run by Maurice Drew.

He was at his best in the Oct. 22 victory over Oregon State. That afternoon, he set a school record by throwing six touchdown passes -- two each to Maurice Drew and Mercedes Lewis and one each to Ryan Moya and Brandon Breazell. On the day, he completed 16 of 24 passes for 262 yards, six touchdowns and no interceptions while leading the Bruins to a 51-28 win. He moved into second place on UCLA's career touchdown passes list and was named Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts.

He also set a school record with 11 touchdown passes in two consecutive games, breaking the previous record of eight. He had 13 in a three-game span, breaking the record of 11 by Wayne Cook in 1993.

In the 2005 opener at San Diego State, he connected on 10 of 15 passes for 152 yards with a long of 40. In the first half, he completed six of nine passes for 103 yards.

Against Rice, he completed 18 of 25 passes (.720) for 296 yards and three touchdowns (39, 10, 11) with no interceptions. He threw five completions of at least 20 yards and had 302 yards of total offense. He completed passes to eight different receivers. In the first half, he led the Bruins to touchdowns on all six of their offensive possessions, completing 15 of 20 passes for 263 yards and three scores.

In the victory over Oklahoma, Olson completed 28 of 38 passes for 314 yards and three touchdowns with no interceptions. He completed passes to 10 different receivers and both times Oklahoma scored in the second half, he responded by leading a touchdown drive. When Oklahoma closed to within 20-17 with 3:25 left in the third quarter, he responded by leading a 13-play, 83-yard drive, completing six of seven passes for 78 yards, including a 19-yard scoring strike to Marcedes Lewis. On UCLA's next possession, he drove the Bruins 45 yards for another touchdown, completing three of four passes for 42 yards, including a seven-yard score to Chris Markey. Olson was named Sporting News National Player of the Week and Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts against the Sooners.

Against Washington, he completed 29 of 44 passes for 287 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions. The 44 attempts tied his career high. In the second-half comeback (down 10-0 at half), Olson connected on 20 of 26 passes for 210 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions. In the fourth quarter, he completed 11 of 15 passes for 99 yards and one score, including his last six attempts for 72 yards on the winning drive.

In the third quarter, with UCLA starting on the UW 28-yard line following a fumble recovery, he hit Joe Cowan for 24 yards and after a run for no yards, he found Marcedes Lewis in the end zone for a four-yard touchdown.

After Washington made the score 17-7, he moved the Bruins 80 yards, hitting Michael Pitre for a one-yard score on the first play of the fourth quarter. With 3:39 remaining in the game, he drove the Bruins 73 yards for the winning score, converting a key fourth-and-one from the Bruin 36-yard line. He completed six of seven passes (the final six) for 72 yards on the drive, which was capped by Maurice Drew's one-yard run with 1:08 remaining in the game.

Against California, Olson rallied the Bruins to victory for the second straight week. He brought them back from a 14-0 deficit less than three minutes into the game, pulling them into a 14-14 tie just 10 seconds into the second quarter. Trailing 40-28 with 12:55 remaining, he drove the Bruins 80 yards to make the score 40-35, scoring on a one-yard sneak. With 2:30 remaining, UCLA took possession on its own 25-yard line and Olson drove them 75 yards, completing passes of 38 and nine yards to Marcus Everett. On third-and-one at the 28-yard line, he found Maurice Drew in the right flat and he sped 28 yards for the winning score. UCLA regained possession with 1:01 remaining and Olson helped run the clock until Drew scored on the final play of the game.

On the night, Olson completed 17 of 33 passes for 225 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions and twice rallied his team from double-digit deficits for the win. He also moved into second place on the career total offense list.

At Washington State, he rallied the Bruins from deficits of 21 points in the first half and 17 points in the fourth quarter, tying school records in both categories. On the night, he completed 31 of 43 passes for a then career-high 338 yards, five touchdowns and one interception. His five touchdown passes tied the old school record held by Cade McNown (1997 at Texas, 1998 at Miami) and his 31 completions were one shy of Troy Aikman's school record of 32 (USC, 1998).

In the final three quarters, he hit on 28 of 34 passes (.824) for 310 yards, five touchdowns and no interceptions. In the fourth quarter, he connected on 13 of 16 passes for 132 yards and two scores.

UCLA trailed 28-7 near the end of the first half, but Olson drove the Bruins 80 yards, hitting Marcedes Lewis for four yards with 26 seconds remaining to cut the deficit to 14 points.

Midway through the third quarter, his 45-yard touchdown pass to Maurice Drew completed a 73-yard drive and brought the Bruins to within seven points. However, UCLA still trailed by 17 entering the final quarter.

With 14:32 remaining in the game, Olson and Lewis hooked up for a nine-yard score to complete an 80-yard drive. UCLA trailed by seven points with 4:52 remaining when it took over on its four-yard line. He drove the Bruins 96 yards for the tying score, finding Marcus Everett in the back corner of the end zone with 44 seconds remaining in regulation. On the final drive, he was six of seven for 78 yards.

During the 2004 season, Olson ranked sixth in the Pac-10 (44th-NCAA) in total offense (222.58 yds.), sixth in the Pac-10 in passing (213.8 yds.), and fourth in the Pac-10 (43rd-NCAA) in passing efficiency (132.39 rating). In the Pac-10, his average of 13.09 yards per completion was first among players with at least 100 completions and his 57.48% was fourth.

Olson's 2004 season ended in the second quarter of the Las Vegas (Dec. 23) Bowl, when he suffered a torn ligament in his left knee which required surgery.

In his last seven regular-season games of 2004, he completed 134 of 226 passes (59.29%) for 1,729 yards, 15 touchdowns and eight interceptions.

Olson began the 2003 season as the No. 2 quarterback, but found himself thrust to the forefront for the second straight year because of injury. He replaced an injured Matt Moore in the first half of the opener at Colorado and went on to appear in 12 games (nine starts). Olson became the fourth sophomore to pass for more than 2,000 yards in a season (2,067). He began 2002 behind four-year starter Cory Paus. Olson started the final five games of the year after Paus suffered a season-ending ankle injury against Cal. Olson was also injured in that game and sat out the next contest against Stanford, before returning to start the season's last five games. Olson made his first career start at Washington and became the first Bruin true freshman since Tom Ramsey in 1979 to win his initial road start. He also became just the third UCLA true freshman quarterback to start the game against USC, joining Ramsey and Cade McNown.

#21 RB MAURICE DREW — One of the top players in the nation, junior tailback Maurice Drew played himself into Heisman Trophy consideration. He also earned first-team All-America acclaim from the AFCA, the Walter Camp Foundation, SI.com and the Football Writers Association of America. He was on the Watch List for the 2005 Maxwell Award, given to the nation's outstanding player. He was one of 10 semifinalists for the Doak Walker Award, presented to the nation's best running back. He was also on the list of 10 "Players of Watch" for the Walter Camp Foundation Player of the Year Award.

Drew leads the nation in punt return average (29.07, which would be a new NCAA record) and has scored on returns of 72, 66 and 81 this year. He also has non-scoring returns of 69 and 59 yards and had a 65-yard touchdown return negated by penalty. His 407 punt return yards have already set a new UCLA single-season record while his three punt return touchdowns have tied the UCLA and Pac-10 single-season records.

Drew is sixth in the NCAA in scoring, averaging 10.91 points per game. He has scored a career-high 20 touchdowns — 13 running, four receiving and three on punt returns. Drew ranks ninth nationally in all-purpose yards (160.64) with only 36 yards on kickoff returns.

He is averaging 23.65 yards per touchdown this season and scores every 11.45 times he touches the football.

In 11 games, he has accounted for 1,767 all-purpose yards (160.64 average) and is averaging 7.72 yards every time he touches the football. The 1,767 yards ranks No. 2 in school history, just 37 yards shy of the record of 1,804, set by Theotis Brown in 1978.

He leads the Bruins in rushing (81.82). He has scored 20 touchdowns, No. 2 (tied) on UCLA's single-season list, and is averaging 23.65 yards on those touchdowns, including four of at least 60 yards. He is fourth on the squad with 29 receptions and is averaging 14.6 yards per catch, highest among players with at least seven receptions.

In UCLA's wins over Washington, California and Washington State, all come-from-behind victories, he scored the winning touchdown. Against Washington, he scored the winning touchdown with 1:08 remaining. Against California, his 28-yard reception with 1:35 remaining gave UCLA the lead for good and he iced the game with a touchdown on the last play of the game. Against Washington State, he scored the winning touchdown in overtime. In the come-from-behind win at Stanford, he scored the tying touchdown on a one-yard run with 46 seconds left in regulation.

This season, Drew has 23 plays of at least 20 yards (six runs, five punt returns, 11 receptions and one kickoff return) and eight have resulted in touchdowns.

In his 35-game career, he has scored 39 touchdowns, including seven receptions, four punt returns and two kickoff returns. Sixteen scores have measured at least 40 yards. His 4,592 all-purpose yards are a new school record, his 39 touchdowns rank No. 4 in school history, his 234 points rank ninth and his 2,489 rushing yards rank 10th on that UCLA career list.

In the 21-point comeback win at Stanford (Oct. 29), he accounted for 175 all-purpose yards on 26 touches. He rushed for 82 yards and two touchdowns on 18 attempts, tied for the team lead with a career-best six receptions for a team-high 87 yards and netted six yards on two punt returns. He scored UCLA's first touchdown on a six-yard run with 7:04 remaining in the fourth quarter and tied the game with 46 seconds remaining in regulation on a one-yard run.

In the win over Oregon State (Oct. 22), he accounted for 250 all-purpose yards on 26 touches. He rushed for 120 yards on 21 attempts (his ninth career game over 100 yards) and he made three receptions for 67 yards, including UCLA's first two touchdowns on catches of 43 and 20 yards. He also returned two punts for 63 yards, including a return of 59 yards to set up his second scoring reception.

In the 21-point comeback win at Washington State (44-41 in overtime) on Oct. 15, he accounted for 187 all-purpose yards. He ran for 109 yards (career-high 29 carries), including 19 of UCLA's 20 yards in overtime, scoring the winning touchdown on a one-yard run, and made three receptions for 78 yards, including a 45-yard catch-and-run for a third quarter touchdown.

He was at his best in the Oct. 8 victory over No. 10 (AP) California. Drew dominated the game with 299 all-purpose yards - 162 on punt returns, 65 rushing, 52 receiving and 20 on a kickoff return -- and tied his own school record with five touchdowns -- three rushing, one receiving and one on a punt return. He averaged 14.24 yards on each of his 21 touches against the Golden Bears. His 299 all-purpose yards rank No. 5 in the NCAA this season.

In the first quarter, with UCLA trailing 14-0, he returned a punt 69 yards to give the Bruins a first down on the four-yard line and they scored on the next play. His first touchdown, a 12-yard run, allowed UCLA to tie the score at 14-14. His one-yard run with 21 seconds remaining in the half brought the Bruins to within six points (27-21).

In the third quarter, he gave the Bruins their first lead when he returned a punt 81 yards for his third touchdown of the night. It was the longest punt return of his career and the third longest scoring punt return in school history. It was also his third scoring punt return of the year and fourth of his career, tying UCLA and Pac-10 records in both categories.

In the fourth quarter, he took a swing pass from Drew Olson in the right flat, broke a tackle and raced down the sideline for a 28-yard touchdown to give the Bruins a 41-40 lead with just 1:35 remaining in the contest. Following Trey Brown's interception, Drew scored on a fourth-down run from the two-yard line on the game's final play for the margin of victory. For his efforts, he was named the Walter Camp Football Foundation National 1-A Offensive Player of the Week, The Sporting News National Player of the Week, the Cingular Wireless/ABC Sports All-America Player of the Week and the Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week.

On UCLA's first offensive play of 2005, he broke through the line and sped 64 yards for a touchdown at San Diego State. In the second quarter, he scored on a one-yard run and then broke the game open by taking a punt back up the middle for a 72-yard score.

Despite touching the ball just once in the second half, he finished the night with 194 all-purpose yards, 114 on the ground on 11 carries and 80 on two punt returns. He averaged 14.92 yards each time he touched the ball and scored three times on those 11 opportunities.

Against Rice, he accounted for 168 all-purpose yards and two touchdowns. He rushed for 95 yards, including a four-yard touchdown that gave the Bruins the lead for good, on 11 carries. He had one run of 42 yards. He also returned a punt 66 yards for a score and made two receptions for seven yards.

In the win over Oklahoma, he accounted for 100 all-purpose yards and one touchdown (a nine-yard run) one week after the death of his grandfather. He rushed for 69 yards on 15 carries, including a 38-yard run on the first play following an Oklahoma touchdown that cut the lead to 10 points (34-24).

Against Washington (Oct. 1), he accounted for 101 all-purpose yards. He rushed for 33 yards on 14 carries and scored the winning touchdown with 1:08 remaining on a one-yard blast. He also made five receptions for 43 yards and returned two punts for 25 yards. In the second quarter, he had a 65-yard touchdown on a punt return wiped out due to a penalty and was credited with a six-yard return.

At Arizona on Nov. 5, he had 15 touches (12 rushes, three receptions) and accounted for 66 all-purpose yards (41 rushing, 25 receiving).

Against Arizona State on Nov. 12, he accounted for 113 all-purpose yards and one touchdown. He carried 23 times for 88 yards, including a one-yard touchdown in the second quarter, and made two receptions for 25 yards.

Versus USC, he had 114 all-purpose yards, including 84 rushing on 14 attempts, 14 yards on one reception and 16 yards on two kickoffs. He also scored on a 15-yard touchdown.

In 2004, Drew averaged 8.19 yards every time he touched the football (1,606 yards on 196 touches). He averaged 6.3 yards per rush and five of his eight rushing touchdowns were at least 47 yards (40.63 avg., 325 yds.), including runs of 62, 58 and 57 yards. Overall, he scored 12 touchdowns -- eight rushing, three receiving and one punt return. Drew, with 1,007 yards in 2004, became the 10th Bruin to rush for at least 1,000 yards in a season. It was the 17th time in Bruin history that a back has had a 1,000-yard season.

Drew ranked T-ninth in the Pac-10 in scoring (6.55 points/game). He averaged 15.2 yards on 10 punt returns and would have led the league, but was two returns shy of qualifying.

At the time of his ankle injury against Washington State, Drew ranked second in the nation and led the Pac-10 in all-purpose yards (179.75). He also ranked 16th in the NCAA and second in the Pac-10 in rushing (111.50 avg.) and 13th in the NCAA and second in the Pac-10 in scoring (9.00 points per game). Overall in 2004, he ranked third in the Pac-10 and 17th in the nation in all-purpose yards (146.0). Drew achieved that ranking despite leaving the WSU game in the first quarter (sprained ankle) and carrying twice against USC. His total of 384 all-purpose yards at Washington was the best in the nation.

Drew had nine plays of at least 40 yards in 2004 (five runs, two receptions, one kickoff and punt return) and scored on seven of them. He had 25 plays of at least 20 yards (13 runs, five receptions, one punt and six kickoff returns), including nine touchdowns.

His total of 1,606 all-purpose yards ranked No. 4 on UCLA's single-season list. He was the first UCLA player to have at least 100 yards in all four all-purpose categories in the same season.

Drew enjoyed the greatest rushing afternoon in UCLA history in the Bruins' 37-31 victory at Washington in 2004. UCLA rallied from a 24-7 first-quarter deficit on the legs of Drew who totaled a school-record 322 yards, breaking DeShaun Foster's mark of 301 yards, set in 2001 against Washington. Drew also scored a school-record (rushing and overall) five touchdowns on runs of 47, 62, 58, 15 and 37 yards. In the first quarter alone, he rushed for 169 yards and three touchdowns on four attempts. He finished the first half with 235 yards and four touchdowns on 13 attempts.

Drew's 322 yards rank No. 3 all-time in the Pacific-10 conference, bettered only by Reuben Mayes' 357 for Washington State (1984) and Ricky Bell's 347 for USC (1976). He tied the Pac-10 record for rushing touchdowns, held by five players, and compiled a Pac-10 record 384 all-purpose yards (since broken).

In 2003, Drew led the team in rushing (582 yards) and returned two kickoffs for touchdowns (vs. Oklahoma and USC). He was named first-team Freshman All-Pac-10 as a kick returner by The Sporting News. Drew's 83-yard touchdown run from scrimmage against Arizona State was the longest of the 2003 season in the conference. His total of 176 yards rushing against the Sun Devils ranked as the second-best total ever by a UCLA true freshman.

#19 TE MARCEDES LEWIS — The true senior has been selected winner of the Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. He has also been named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the Football Writers' Association of America.

Lewis leads the Bruins with 58 receptions, 741 yards (12.8 avg.) and 10 receiving touchdowns -- all career highs and UCLA records for tight ends. His 58 catches shattered the old mark of 44, his 741 yards broke the old record of 631 and his 10 touchdowns broke the mark of seven he set last year.

In his last six games, he has made 35 receptions for 437 yards and eight touchdowns.

His average of 5.27 receptions is second nationally among tight ends and his 10 touchdown receptions rank No. 1. He ranks fifth in the Pac-10 with his average of 5.27 receptions, eighth with his average of 67.36 yards per game and third (tied) with his 10 receiving touchdowns. He ranks first in the league among tight ends in all three categories.

His 58 receptions rank No. 7 (tied) on UCLA's single-season list. His 21 career touchdown catches stand as a UCLA record by a tight end and rank No. 2 overall, trailing only J.J. Stokes' record of 28. His 126 receptions rank No. 1 on UCLA's career tight end receiving list and eighth on the school career receptions list. His 1,571 yards also rank No. 1 among tight ends and 13th overall.

Lewis started the 2005 season in great form, making seven receptions for 131 yards -- both career highs at the time -- against the Aztecs. Five of his catches accounted for double figures in yards and first downs, including receptions of 22, 31 and 40 yards, the longest of his career. The 31-yard reception was a leaping, acrobatic grab that put the Bruins inside the one-yard line. Against Rice, he made two receptions for 27 yards, including one for 19 yards. In the win over Oklahoma, he made five receptions for 61 yards, including a 19-yard touchdown with 12:32 remaining in the game that gave UCLA a 10-point lead (27-17).

Against Washington, he made eight receptions for 77 yards and one touchdown, a four-yard catch to begin UCLA's comeback. Seven of his receptions came in the second half as UCLA rallied from a 10-0 halftime deficit and three produced first downs. He was named Mackey Committee National Tight End of the Week. He made just one reception for six yards versus California but it produced a first down on UCLA's touchdown drive at the end of the first half.

At Washington State, he made five receptions for 66 yards and two touchdowns (four and nine yards). His second touchdown, a nine-yard grab, started UCLA's 17-point fourth quarter comeback, cutting the deficit to 10 points. He was again named Mackey Committee National Tight End of the Week.

In the victory over Oregon State, he led the Bruins with six receptions for 63 yards and two touchdowns (two and three yards). His TDs, one at the end of the half and one at the start of the third quarter, built UCLA's advantage from 10 to 24 points. He also had a spectacular one-handed leaping 21-yard reception that led to a third-quarter field goal.

At Stanford, he made three receptions for 39 yards and two first downs. Two of his catches came in the fourth quarter, including a 20-yard reception on third-and-five on UCLA's game-tying drive. He also drew a pass interference call that gave UCLA a first down at the Stanford 14-yard line on that same drive.

At Arizona, he made a career-high 11 receptions for 131 yards (ties his career high) and two touchdowns. The 11 receptions are tied for second on UCLA's single-game list (J.J. Stokes made 14 catches in the 1994 Rose Bowl) and the most ever by a tight end. Lewis was named Mackey Committee National Tight End of the Week for the third time in six games.

In the win over Arizona State, he again led the Bruins with seven receptions for 108 yards and two touchdowns (six and 13 yards). Six of his catches produced first downs (five) or touchdowns (two) and his diving 17-yard catch late in the game enabled Drew Olson to become the second Bruin ever to break 500 yards passing. Against USC, he made three receptions for 30 yards.

His 131 yards against SDSU and Arizona are the most by a Bruin tight end since 2002, when Mike Seidman had games of 138 against Oregon State and 134 versus San Diego State. Rick Walker's 145 yards versus Oregon State in 1975 is the school record for tight ends.

Lewis led the Bruins with seven touchdown catches (a tight end record total at the time) in 2004. He caught 32 passes overall (tied for fifth-best among Bruin tight ends since 1980), for 402 yards. In addition, Lewis produced a team-best 25 first downs and averaged 12.6 yards per catch. His seven touchdown receptions ranked fifth (tied) in the Pac-10 while his 2.67 receptions/ game ranked T-22nd.

Lewis had a breakout game in the 2004 win over Arizona, making six receptions for 99 yards and three touchdowns. His touchdowns measured 16, 12 and 18 yards. He also had catches of 23 and 21 yards on scoring drives. Dating back to 1965, his three touchdown receptions are the most by a Bruin tight end in a game. He was named Mackey Committee National Tight End of the Week.

WIDE RECEIVERS — True junior JOE COWAN started the 2005 opener at San Diego State, but did not make a reception. Against Rice, he made two receptions for 38 yards. His 17-yard catch gave the Bruins a first-and-goal at the one-yard line.

Against Oklahoma, he made five receptions for 49 yards and produced four first downs. Against Washington, he made four receptions for 49 yards. His 24-yard reception gave the Bruins a first down at the four-yard line on their first touchdown drive.

Versus California, he scored UCLA's first touchdown on a four-yard reception. At Washington State, he led the Bruins with a career-high six receptions for 73 yards and three first downs. He made two receptions for 18 yards versus Oregon State.

At Stanford, he made five receptions for 71 yards and one touchdown. His 31-yard scoring catch brought the Bruins to within seven points (24-17) with 4:43 remaining and his five-yard catch on fourth-and-one from the six-yard line set up Maurice Drew's game-tying touchdown. His 15-yard catch in the fourth quarter led directly to Drew's six-yard TD run. He made four catches for 32 yards at Arizona.

Against Arizona State, he made three receptions for a career-high 109 yards and one touchdown. On the first play of the game, he caught a short slant pass and outran the defense for a 91-yard touchdown, the fourth longest pass play in UCLA history. Versus USC, he made two receptions for 15 yards.

Cowan is second on the squad with 34 catches for 458 yards (13.5 average) and three touchdowns. Twenty-two of his receptions have accounted for first downs (21) or touchdowns (three).

In 2004, he made two starts and totaled 13 catches for 228 yards, a team-high 17.5 average, and one touchdown. He led the team at California with five receptions for 95 yards and one touchdown, a 46-yarder. At Arizona State, he made three receptions for 71 yards, including a long of 33, and three first downs. In 2003, one of his catches was good for a touchdown versus USC.

True sophomore MARCUS EVERETT suffered a sprained shoulder in practice on August 22 and did not suit up for the first two games against San Diego State and Rice.

Playing for the first time this year against Oklahoma, he came off the bench to lead the Bruins with six receptions, good for 66 yards and three first downs -- all in the first half.

He started against Washington and made two receptions for 41 yards. On UCLA's final drive, he took a flat pass, made a couple of moves and raced 39 yards to the Bruin 20-yard line. UCLA scored the winning touchdown three plays later. Versus California, he led the team with a career-high tying six receptions for a career-high 95 yards. Three of them produced first downs and two measured 38 and 26 yards. On UCLA's winning drive, he made an acrobatic 38-yard reception and made a nine-yard catch on the next play to set up UCLA's go-ahead touchdown.

At Washington State, he made five receptions for 39 yards, one touchdown and three first downs. His nine-yard touchdown catch in the back of the end zone with 44 seconds remaining in regulation completed UCLA's 17-point fourth-quarter comeback and was the first TD of his career. Against Oregon State, he sprained his left knee early and played sparingly the rest of the way, not making a reception.

At Stanford, he tied for the team lead with six catches for 61 yards and four first downs. Three of his receptions came in the fourth quarter, including a 15-yard catch on the first touchdown drive and a 19-yard catch-and-run to set up the second fourth-quarter touchdown. He had one reception for two yards at Arizona. Against Arizona State, he had one catch for 44 yards. Against USC, he made three receptions for 28 yards.

On the year, Everett has made 30 receptions, third on the squad, for 376 yards in his nine games. In the fourth quarter of the Washington, California, Washington State and Stanford games, he made 10 catches for 158 yards and one TD.

Everett started four games in 2004 and finished with nine catches for 110 yards. He made his first career start against San Diego State and responded with two receptions for 49 yards and two first downs.

Against Arizona, he started and made four receptions for 45 yards and two first downs. At Arizona State, he started in a three wide receiver set and made two catches.

True sophomore BRANDON BREAZELL came off the bench to contribute 40 all-purpose yards against San Diego State. He made one reception for 15 yards and ran a reverse for 25 yards to the one-yard line, setting up a touchdown. Against Rice, he made four receptions, second-only to Junior Taylor, for 75 yards and the first touchdown of his career (11 yards). He also made a 48-yard reception on UCLA's third touchdown drive, the longest catch of his career.

He made two receptions for 13 yards against Oklahoma, including a big third down catch to pick up a first down on the touchdown drive which put UCLA up 27-17. He made two receptions for 26 yards in the win over Washington. Against California, he made two receptions for 33 yards, including a long of 24. At Washington State, he made four receptions for 21 yards and ran for 16 on a reverse.

Against Oregon State, he made two receptions for 53 yards, including a 46-yard touchdown. At Stanford, he made three receptions for 28 yards and one touchdown. His 23-yard over-the-shoulder touchdown grab in overtime gave the Bruins the victory. At Arizona, he made one reception for nine yards. Against Arizona State, he made one reception for seven yards and a touchdown. His score, on which he just got his left foot down while diving for the catch, broke a 28-28 tie with 4:18 left in the third quarter and gave the Bruins the lead for good. He did not make a reception versus USC.

On the year, his 22 receptions rank fifth on the squad while his four receiving touchdowns rank second (tied).

In 2004, he made two receptions for 15 yards in 2004, both in the game at California. He made his first start against San Diego State.

True senior JUNIOR TAYLOR missed virtually the entire 2005 season after surgery to repair a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee suffered on the second play (a 16-yard reception) of the Oklahoma game. His 76 career receptions at the time of his injury rank 20th on the all-time school list. In addition, he ranks 22nd on the career receiving yardage list. In 2004, he tied for second on the team with 32 receptions and 463 receiving yards (14.5 avg.) while starting 11 games. He had 17 catches good for first downs.

OFFENSIVE LINE — In 2004, the offensive line helped Bruin rushers average 184.9 yards on the ground (24th-NCAA/ second-Pac-10) and 410.0 yards overall (26th-NCAA/ fourth-Pac-10).

Thru 11 games in 2005, UCLA is averaging 429.0 yards of total offense (24th in NCAA) and 38.09 points (seventh in NCAA). Redshirt senior center MIKE MCCLOSKEY, a Rimington Award candidate, returned to the starting lineup in 2004 after missing the last seven games of 2003 with a fractured left ankle. McCloskey earned second-team All-Pac-10 honors after UCLA rushed for at least 200 yards in six of the 10 games in which he played in 2004. In 2005, he started the first seven games and played well. In the first quarter of the Oregon State game, he strained his right shoulder and did not return. He missed the final four games of the year and his status for the bowl game is undetermined.

Redshirt senior ED BLANTON is in his third season as a starter and has been a key performer in all 11 games this year, playing virtually every snap while the game is on the line. He earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention for his efforts. In 2004, he started 11 games and played the entire contests against Oklahoma State, Illinois, Washington, San Diego State, California, Arizona State and Stanford at weak tackle and all but the final two snaps versus Arizona. He had a string of 22 straight starts snapped last year when he came off the bench versus Oregon.

True sophomore SHANNON TEVAGA is one of the top young linemen in the Pac-10. He has now started 17 straight games at strong guard, including all 11 this season. He earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention for his efforts. A year ago, he spent most of the first six weeks of the season playing on the PAT-field goal squad, started at strong guard against Arizona State and did a good job in his first extensive action (he had played two snaps against Arizona and four at tight end at Cal). He went on to start the final six games of 2004. Tevaga earned third-team Freshman All-America and first-team Freshman All-Pac-10 acclaim from The Sporting News.

True sophomore CHRIS JOSEPH made his first career start against San Diego State and helped the Bruins rush for 191 yards. He also played well versus Rice, Oklahoma and Washington. Against California, he suffered an injury to his left knee in the first quarter and missed the remainder of the regular season. He has been selected first-team Academic All-District 8 and first-team Pac-10 All-Academic for his efforts in the classroom. In 2004, he saw action on the PAT-field goal team in the first five games of 2004 before he suffered a partially torn knee ligament. He sat out the remainder of the season and had surgery in November of 2004. Joseph had played a couple of offensive snaps at the end of the Arizona contest.

True sophomore BRIAN ABRAHAM also made his first career start at the strong tackle position against San Diego State. He also contributed to the rushing attack against Rice and played well versus Oklahoma, Washington, California and Washington State. He did not start and saw limited action against Oregon State due to the flu. He returned to the starting lineup at Stanford and played the entire game. He also played virtually the entire Arizona contest and much of the game versus Arizona State. He did not play versus USC due to an ankle injury. A year ago, he played on the PAT-field goal team and saw limited action on offense (couple of offensive snaps at the end of the Arizona contest and versus Stanford and Washington State).

Redshirt senior ROBERT CLEARY played on offense or special teams as a reserve in each of the first five games this season and has started the last five contests. Against California, he came in during the first half in place of injured Chris Joseph and played very well. He started and played the entire contest at Washington State and virtually every snap against Oregon State and every snap versus Stanford, Arizona, Arizona State and USC. He has been selected second-team Pac-10 All-Academic for his efforts in the classroom. A year ago, he made his first career start (weak guard) against Oklahoma State last season and played the entire contest. He also started against Illinois, Washington, San Diego State, Arizona and California. Against Arizona State, Stanford and Washington State, he came off the bench. He started and played extensively at weak guard at Oregon.

Redshirt junior guard ROBERT CHAI has started the last four games (Stanford, Arizona, Arizona State and USC) in place of injured Mike McCloskey and has done a solid job. He also played as a reserve versus San Diego State, Rice and Oregon State. Redshirt sophomore NOAH SUTHERLAND, who played defense a year ago, started at strong tackle against Oregon State in place of an ill Brian Abraham and did a fine job. He also played extensively versus Arizona State and started against USC. Redshirt freshman center AARON MEYER played virtually the entire Oregon State game at center and did a solid job. Redshirt freshman tackle/guard SCOTT GLICKSBERG has played against San Diego State, Rice and Oregon State and played on special teams versus USC.

MORE QUARTERBACK — Redshirt freshman BEN OLSON, who earned the backup quarterback role in Fall camp, made his debut late in the fourth quarter of the Oregon State game and threw his first career pass. He also played the final series at Arizona and completed two of three passes for 11 yards. He was sidelined for the first three games due to a small fracture in his left (throwing) hand. Olson entered UCLA in January of 2005 following his transfer from Brigham Young University.

Olson had been on a church mission the past two years after redshirting as a true freshman at BYU during the 2002 season. He had not seen action in a competitive game since his senior prep season, in 2001, at Thousands Oaks, CA High School (played in an all-star game in January of 2002). During his prep career, he completed 421 of 702 passes for 6,401 yards and 54 touchdowns. As a prep senior, he threw for 2,989 yards and 32 touchdowns.

Senior DAVID KORAL, who entered UCLA in January of 2004 following a transfer from Santa Monica College, gained valuable experience coming off the bench for D. Olson in the Las Vegas Bowl. He completed seven of 12 passes for 89 yards, including a couple of touchdowns. The pass attempts and completions were the first of his UCLA career. He had seen action in earlier games against Stanford (three snaps) and Arizona (two), but had not attempted a pass.

He played in the fourth quarter of the 2005 opener at San Diego State, completing two of three passes for six yards. He played in the third and fourth quarters against Rice, completing one of two passes for 29 yards. He did not see action versus Oklahoma or Washington. Prior to the California game, he contracted mononucleosis and has just recently returned to practice in street clothes.

Redshirt freshman PATRICK COWAN (brother of wide receiver Joe) spent the 2004 season running the scout team during practice. He has shown a rapid level of development during his time at UCLA. He saw his first action in the fourth quarter against Rice but did not attempt a pass.

MORE RUNNING BACK — Redshirt sophomore MICHAEL PITRE and true sophomore CHRIS MARKEY each have made valuable contributions to the Bruins' offense.

Markey came off the bench to account for 175 all-purpose yards at San Diego State. He returned two kickoffs for 91 yards, including one for 71 yards. He also returned a punt 41 yards and carried the ball 15 times for 43 yards and two one-yard touchdowns.

Against Rice, he rushed for 69 yards on eight attempts, including one run of 51 yards and a two-yard touchdown. He also returned two kickoffs for 34 yards and one punt for seven yards, giving him 110 all-purpose yards.

In the Oklahoma contest, he made three receptions for 31 yards, including a seven-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. He also rushed seven times for 15 yards and returned one kick-off for 16 yards. Against Washington, he rushed four times for 21 yards, made two receptions for 19 yards and returned two kickoffs for 47 yards. His 12-yard catch-and-run came two plays before the go-ahead touchdown.

Versus California, he accounted for 142 all-purpose yards -- 86 on four kickoff returns, 43 rushing yards and 13 yards on three receptions. His 18-yard run was the longest run by a Bruin back in that contest. At Washington State, he rushed for 59 yards on eight carries (7.4) and made two receptions for 13 yards.

Against Oregon State, he had 145 all-purpose yards. He rushed for 80 yards (6.2 average) on 13 attempts and added 65 yards on three kickoff returns. At Stanford, he had 34 total yards -- 14 on four rushes, 13 on one kickoff return and seven on one reception. At Arizona, he saw limited action after spending much of the week undergoing tests for illness. He gained just seven yards on three attempts and had one punt return for no yards.

Against Arizona State, he contributed 147 all-purpose yards. He made three receptions for a team-high 120 yards and one touchdown and added 27 rushing yards on eight attempts. He scored in the first quarter when he caught a short pass and raced 56 yards to give UCLA a 14-0 lead.

Against USC, he accounted for 72 all-purpose yards, including 31 on kickoffs, 22 on rushing and 19 on receptions.

Markey is 54th in the nation and eighth in the Pac-10 in kickoff return average (22.53) and is 18th in the Pac-10 in all-purpose yards (95.73). He is second on the team in rushing with a career-high 400 yards and third with five touchdowns.

Markey was the team's third-leading rusher with 350 yards (5.3 avg.) in 2004. He ranked seventh in the Pac-10 with his 22.2 kickoff return average and was third on the team and 17th in the Pac-10 with 854 all-purpose yards (77.6 avg.). He was named to The Sporting News' Pac-10 All-Freshman team and was the offensive winner of UCLA's John Boncheff, Jr. Award for Rookie of the Year.

Markey had a breakout performance at Oregon. Opening in place of an injured Maurice Drew, he rushed for 131 yards and had five receptions for 84 yards. Including his 23-yard kickoff return, Markey accounted for 238 all-purpose yards and was the Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week.

Pitre, an honorable mention All-Pac-10 selection in 2005, has established himself as an outstanding blocking back. In the 2005 opener against San Diego State, he blocked well for Maurice Drew and Chris Markey and made one reception for eight yards. Versus Rice, he carried twice for 11 yards, including the first rushing touchdown of his career (six yards) late in the first quarter. Against Oklahoma, he carried twice for one net yard and made one reception for two yards. In the win over Washington, he scored on a one-yard touchdown reception on the opening play of the fourth quarter. On the night, he made four receptions for 20 yards and one score and carried once for one yard. In the victory over California, he had the first double-digit run of his career, gaining 16 yards on a first quarter run which led to UCLA's second touchdown. At Washington State, he made one reception for eight yards. He carried once for one yard versus Oregon State. At Stanford, he did not touch the ball but blocked well. At Arizona, he carried seven times for 39 yards, more than his previous career total and made one reception for 11 yards. He had one carry for zero yards versus Arizona State but made one reception for 13 yards.

THE DEFENSE

#41 LB SPENCER HAVNER — The senior All-America inside linebacker is one of the best in the nation. In 2005, he was a semifinalist for the Bednarik Award (nation's top defender, 12 players), the Rotary Lombardi Award (nation's top line-man, 12 players) and the Butkus Award. In addition, he was a quarterfinalist for the Lott Trophy (nation's top defender). He also earned second-team All-Pac-10 honors from the league's coaches.

In 2004, Havner earned first-team All-America acclaim from cbssportsline.com and collegefootballnews.com. He was selected second-team All-America by the Walter Camp Football Foundation. He was one of 12 semifinalists for both the 2004 Butkus and the Rotary Lombardi Awards.

He leads the Bruins with 92 tackles (8th in Pac-10), 15 tackles for losses and two interceptions and is tied for third on the team with 2.0 sacks. His average of 1.36 tackles for loss per game ranks T-first in the Pac-10 and his average of 0.18 fumble recoveries is T-5th.

His 395 career tackles rank No. 3 on that all-time school list (he passed Kenny Easley at Arizona) while his 42 tackles for loss rank No. 3 on that chart. Havner has 10 career interceptions and has returned three for touchdowns (52-San Diego St., 42-Washington and 23 yards-Oklahoma St., -31.6 avg.), including one in 2004. He also scored on a fumble recovery against Oklahoma this season for his school record fourth defensive touchdown.

In the 2005 opener against San Diego State, he led the Bruins with 13 tackles, including six solos. He also made a career-high three tackles for losses, including one sack, and returned the ninth interception of his career 27 yards. He was named the Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week. Against Rice, he was credited with one tackle.

Versus Oklahoma, "UCLA's Tackling Machine" (Bruce Feldman, ESPN.com) tied for the team lead with nine tackles (six solos). In addition, he scored the fourth touchdown of his career just 1:47 into the second half when he scooped up a fumble caused by Dennis Keyes and returned it 13 yards to give UCLA a 10-point cushion (27-17).

Against Washington, he led the Bruins with 11 tackles (seven solos), including one for loss, and also broke up a pass. Versus California, he made nine tackles (eight solos), second on the squad. He was credited with three tackles for losses, including one sack.

At Washington State, he led the Bruins for the fourth time, finishing with 10 tackles (nine solos), including one for loss. In the win over Oregon State, he had five tackles (four solos), including one for loss, and his 10th career interception set up the field goal that gave UCLA the lead for good. At Stanford, he led the team for the fifth time, finishing with 12 tackles (nine solos), including one for loss. He also broke up one pass. Seven of his tackles came in the second half and overtime. At Arizona, he made six tackles (three solos), including two for losses.

#4 S JARRAD PAGE — Now a four-year starter at strong safety, Page was on the Watch List for the 2005 Thorpe Award, presented to the nation's top defensive back.

He currently ranks second on the squad with 66 tackles (50 solos), including one sack, seven tackles for loss and one forced fumble. He is fifth on the team with his seven tackles for losses. His 6.0 tackles per game rank 23rd in the Pac-10. In addition, he has 38 rushing yards on a key fake punt in the fourth quarter of the California game.

In the opener at SDSU, he made five tackles, including four solos. Against Rice, he made one solo tackle. Versus Oklahoma, the hard-hitting safety made eight tackles, one shy of the team lead, including seven solos. Two of those tackles accounted for losses, including the first sack of his career. Against Washington, he made six tackles (four solos), including one for loss, forced a fumble and broke up one pass. Versus California, Page made five tackles (three solos), including three behind the line of scrimmage. With just over nine minutes remaining against California and the Bruins in punt formation with a fourth-and-two at their own 42-yard line, Page took a handoff, broke a tackle and raced 38 yards to set up the first of UCLA's three fourth-quarter touchdowns. At Washington State, he made six solo tackles and broke up two passes. Against Oregon State, he had three tackles (two solos) and also broke up one pass. At Stanford, he made five tackles (three solos), including his seventh of the year for a loss. At Arizona, he led the team with eight tackles, including six solos.

Against Arizona State, he led the team with 10 tackles (six solos), tying his career high. He also recovered a fumble at the Bruin 18-yard line that set up the go-ahead touchdown and broke up one pass. Against USC, he had nine tackles (eight solos).

In 2004, he ranked second on the team in tackles (79), tied for first in interceptions (3) and second in passes broken up (7).

In 2003, Page ranked sixth on the team in tackles with 55 in 12 games. He tied for the team lead with three interceptions, returning one for a touchdown (Washington). In 2002, Page saw action in all 13 games and started the final 10 contests at strong safety to become the first Bruin safety since Kenny Easley in 1977 to start as many as 10 games as a true freshman. He finished sixth on the team in tackles (43). He was named first-team Freshman All-America and to the first-team Freshman All-Conference teams by The Sporting News.

KICKERS — Redshirt junior JUSTIN MEDLOCK is considered one of the premier kickers in the nation. A year ago, he was one of 20 semifinalists for the Lou Groza Award and was on the pre-season list in 2005.

In the opener against San Diego State, he converted three of four field goal attempts (missed from 48 and made from 23, 48 and 40) and added five PATs for 14 points.

Against Rice, he tied school records for PATs made (nine) and attempted (nine). Zenon Andrusyshyn (1968 vs. Pittsburgh) and Efren Herrera (1973 vs. Utah) held the record for PATs made and attempts and Herrera also attempted nine versus Washington in 1973. Medlock missed a 52-yard field goal attempt in the third quarter.

Against Oklahoma, he made two of three field goals and all five PATs for 11 points. Late in the second quarter, he made a 51-yard field goal, the fourth field goal of his career of over 50 yards, tying John Lee's school record. In the win over Washington, he made all three PATs and did not attempt a field goal. Two of his four kickoffs resulted in touchbacks. Against California, he converted all five of his PATs and did not attempt a field goal. In the win at Washington State, he made a 36-yard field goal, his only attempt, and converted all five PAT opportunities. Against Oregon State, Medlock kicked three field goals -- 27, 47 and 37 yards -- and made all six PATs for 15 points. He was named Pac-10 Special Teams Player of the Week for his efforts. At Stanford, he made one of two field goals (made from 32, missed from 32) and all three PATs for six points. At Arizona, he made both PAT attempts for two points. Against Arizona State, he made a 27-yard field goal and all six PAT tries for nine points. Against USC, he made both field goal attempts (43, 43) and his only PAT try for seven points.

On the year, Medlock has made 13 of 17 field goals (.765) and all 50 of his PATs for 89 points, second on the squad behind Maurice Drew's 120 points. He ranks fourth in the Pac-10 in field goals (1.18), 33rd in the NCAA and seventh in the league in scoring (8.09) and third in kick scoring (8.09). In addition, 33 of his 76 kickoffs have been touchbacks.

Medlock is fourth (tied) on UCLA's career field goal list with 42. Medlock's career percentage (.750) is third among Bruins with at least 21 career field goals. He also ranks eighth on the career scoring list with 244 points. Medlock has made 24 of his 32 field goal attempts (.750) from 40 yards and out.

He is the first UCLA player to kick two field goals of at least 50 yards in the same game (at Oregon, 2004). He is also the first Bruin to kick three field goals of 50 or more yards in a season (52 v. Oklahoma State, 50 at Oregon, 52 at Oregon) and the second to kick four field goals of 50 or more yards in a career. Only John Lee made as many field goals (four) of at least 50 yards in a career. Against San Diego State in 2004, Medlock set a career high with four field goals (22, 40, 43, 44) on four attempts, the most by a Bruin since Nate Fikse kicked five against Stanford in 2002.

In 2004, he was selected first-team All-Pac-10 after making 15 of 20 field goals and 42 of 43 PATs. He was the team's leading scorer (87 pts.) and ranked second in the Pac-10 with a .750 field goal percentage, fourth in kick scoring (7.25), sixth in scoring (7.25) and fourth (31st in NCAA) in field goals (1.25). Medlock made his debut as the team's place kicker in 2003 and was named to The Sporting News Pac-10 All-Freshman team. He ranked fourth in the Pac-10 in field goals per game (1.08) and field goal percentage (.737).

In the 2005 opener at San Diego State, the Bruins were five for five in the Red Zone with three rushing touchdowns and two field goals for 27 points. Against Rice, UCLA was five for five in the Red Zone with three rushing touchdowns and two passing touchdowns for 35 points.

In the win over Oklahoma, the Bruins were four for four in the Red Zone with three passing touchdowns and one rushing TD, for 28 points. In the win over Washington, UCLA was three for four in the end zone with two passing touchdowns and one rushing TD for 21 points. The fourth possession was a one-play kneeldown at the end of the game.

In the win over California, UCLA scored five touchdowns (four rushing and one passing) and four PATs for 34 points in five Red Zone trips.

In the overtime win at Washington State, UCLA scored four touchdowns (three passing, one running), three PATs and one field goal for 30 points on five Red Zone trips.

Versus Oregon State, UCLA accounted for 27 points on three passing touchdowns and two field goals on six Red Zone trips. The sixth ended on a fourth-down run with a 51-28 lead and 2:47 remaining in the game.

At Stanford, UCLA had 17 points on two rushing touchdowns and a field goal on four Red Zone trips. The other possession resulted in a missed field goal.

At Arizona, UCLA scored two passing touchdowns (14 points) on four Red Zone possessions.

Against Arizona State, UCLA scored four touchdowns (three passing, one rushing) and one field goal for 31 points on six Red Zone trips. The sixth trip ended on a fumble.

Against USC, the Bruins converted both Red Zone trips into touchdowns (one rushing, one passing) for 13 points.

In 2005, opponents are 46 of 52 in the Red Zone with 36 touchdowns (24 rushing and 12 passing) and 10 field goals for 281 points. San Diego State was two for three with two rushing touchdowns and one interception. Rice was two for two with two rushing touchdowns. Oklahoma was three of four with two rushing touchdowns, one field goal and one missed field goal. Washington was three for four with two rushing touchdowns, one field goal and a field goal miss. California converted all seven Red Zone trips with three touchdowns (two rushing, one passing) and four field goals. WSU converted all four Red Zone trips with three touchdowns (two passing, one running) and one field goal. Oregon State had three touchdowns (two rushing and one passing) on four Red Zone trips. Stanford had three touchdowns (two passing, one rushing) and one field goal - 24 points - on four Red Zone trips. Arizona converted all five Red Zone trips into 31 points (four touchdowns -- three rushing, one passing -- and one field goal). Arizona State converted five (three passing touchdowns, two rushing touchdowns) of six Red Zone possessions for 35 points and also lost a fumble. USC converted eight of nine attempts (five rushing touchdowns, two passing touchdowns and one field goal) for 52 points.

In 2004, the Bruins were 29 of 37 (13 passing, 10 rushing TDs and six field goals) in the Red Zone for 178 points. UCLA finished the season converting seven of its last eight Red Zone possessions into points.

In 2004, opponents were 37 of 49 (13 rushing, nine passing touchdowns and 15 field goals) in the Red Zone for 199 points.

TURNOVERS — In 11 games, UCLA has forced 19 turnovers (six interceptions and 13 fumbles), leading to 84 points (10 touchdowns and five field goals). The Bruin defense has scored twice on fumble returns (Christian Taylor versus Rice and Spencer Havner against Oklahoma). UCLA has committed 12 turnovers (three interceptions and nine fumbles for 56 points) and ranks T-24th nationally and third in the Pac-10 in turnover margin (+0.64 per game).

Against San Diego State, the Bruins forced two turnovers (interceptions by Havner and Norris) and converted them into a field goal (the half ended after the other turnover). UCLA did not commit a turnover.

Against Rice, UCLA recovered two fumbles (C. Taylor and N. Dragovic) and both led to Bruin touchdowns (one by C. Taylor). UCLA did not commit a turnover.

Against Oklahoma, UCLA recovered three fumbles (Havner, Snead and Norris, two forced by Keyes) and they led to two touchdowns (one by Havner) and one field goal. UCLA did not commit a turnover.

Against Washington, UCLA recovered two fumbles (Hale on defense and Van on a punt) and converted them into seven points. UCLA threw two interceptions but neither was converted into points.

Against California, UCLA intercepted one pass (T. Brown) and converted it into six points. The Bruins lost one fumble (Markey on a kickoff return) and it was converted into seven points.

Against Washington State, UCLA recovered one fumble (Hickman) but it led to a punt. The Bruins threw one interception but it did not lead to points.

Against Oregon State, UCLA forced three turnovers (interceptions by Havner and McNeal and a fumble recovery by Snead) and converted them into six points (two field goals). The Bruins did not commit a turnover.

At Stanford, UCLA did not cause a turnover. The Cardinal recovered two UCLA fumbles and converted them into 14 points (two touchdowns).

At Arizona, UCLA did not cause a turnover. The Wildcats recovered a Bruin fumble (lateral) in the end zone for a touchdown.

Against Arizona State, UCLA recovered three fumbles (Spencer Havner, Jarrad Page, Dennis Keyes) and all three led to touchdowns. UCLA lost two fumbles and Arizona State converted both into touchdowns.

Against USC, the Bruins had an interception by Rodney Van and a fumble recovery by Justin London and converted them into 10 points (one touchdown and one field goal). UCLA lost three fumbles resulting in 14 points (two touchdowns).

In 2004, UCLA forced 19 turnovers (five fumbles, 14 interceptions) and converted 11 of them into 65 points (eight touchdowns, three field goals). Opponents received 26 turnovers (13 interceptions, 13 fumbles) and converted 13 into 71 points (eight touchdowns, five field goals).

BRUINS IN THE NFL — On Opening Weekend of the 2005 National Football League season, 25 former Bruins were active on NFL rosters. That total led the Pacific-10 Conference and ranked 15th nationally.

The following is the list of Bruins who were on NFL rosters for the opening week of the 2005 season: Baltimore-Jonathan Ogden-OT; Buffalo-Ryan Neufeld-TE; Carolina-Ben Emanuel-DB (practice roster, now with San Francisco), DeShaun Foster-RB, Mike Seidman-TE, Ricky Manning-DB; Chicago-Brendon Ayanbadejo-LB, Marcus Reese-LB (injured reserve); Cincinnati-Tab Perry-WR, Steven Vieira, OL (injured list), later released and signed to practice squad; Dallas-Kenyon Coleman-DL; Denver-Marques Anderson-DB (now with San Francisco); Green Bay-Craig Bragg-WR (practice roster, later signed by New York Jets and then Chicago practice squad), Mike Flanagan-C, Robert Thomas-LB; Houston-Jason Bell-DB; Indianapolis-Bryan Fletcher-TE; Minnesota-Chris Kluwe-P; New Orleans-Rodney Leisle-DL; NY Giants-Shaun Williams-DB; Philadelphia-Matt Ware-DB; Pittsburgh-Tommy Maddox-QB, Travis Kirschke-DL; St. Louis-Brandon Chillar-LB; San Diego-Donnie Edwards-LB, Dave Ball-DL (later released); Tampa Bay-Ryan Nece-LB; Tennessee-Drew Bennett-WR; Washington-Ryan Boschetti-DT, Manuel White-RB (injured reserve).

UCLA ON THE RADIO — The 2005 season is UCLA's ninth with Clear Channel and the games will air on XTRA Sports AM 570. The Los Angeles all-sports station broadcasts the Bruins' games, including a two-hour pre-game show and a post-game show.

Chris Roberts, a four-time Golden Mike Award winner, is in his 14th season as the voice of the Bruins. Former Bruin quarterback Matt Stevens is in his eighth year on the broadcast team and his fourth as the analyst in the booth. Former Bruin quarterback Wayne Cook is in his fourth season as sideline reporter.

Stevens and Cook host the one and one-half hour local pre-game show while Roberts, Stevens and Cook host the one-half hour network pre-game and network post-game shows. XTRA Sports 570 also provides ancillary programming, including Karl Dorrell and player interviews during game weeks. Bruin games are also available nationally through an agreement with Sirius Satellite Radio, the Official Satellite Radio Partner of UCLA Athletics.

Games can also be heard via the internet at www.uclabruins.com (a UCLA All-Access pass is needed). Fans can also hear the game for as little as 10 cents per minute by dialing 1-800-846-4700 (ext. 5929) to listen to the broadcast on the phone.

UCLA ON TELEVISION — Entering the bowl game, 145 of UCLA's last 153 games have been televised live. All 11 games were televised this season, Sept. 3 at San Diego State (ESPN2), Sept. 10 Rice (FSNW2), Sept. 17 Oklahoma (ABC), Oct. 1 Washington (FSNW2), Oct. 8 California (TBS), Oct. 15 at Washington State (FSN), Oct. 22 Oregon State (TBS), Oct. 29 at Stanford (FSN), Nov. 5 at Arizona (FSNW2), Nov. 12 Arizona State (ABC), Dec. 3 at USC (ABC).
