Competition fosters improvement, and UCLA's 10-player roster will produce five battle-tested players by June in order to contend for the national championship at Sunriver, Ore. In his fourth season as UCLA's head coach, former Washington All-American O. D. Vincent has molded a team in his own likeness. He has assembled a group of competitive young players who will battle on every hole, compete until the last putt and strive to improve every day. They will expect to win every event, respect their opponents and condition themselves both mentally and physically. In the 21st Century, golf has become the most competitive sport in the world, and the UCLA program seeks to prepare its players for the next level, if they choose that path, and graduate them as well.

In less than three seasons, Vincent has guided UCLA to 22 tournament victories, including the school's first two NCAA West Regional titles, and has produced six individual tournament winners. The Bruins have strung together three straight NCAA Tournament berths, and the pipeline of junior talent is traveling in a direct path to Westwood. UCLA Golf has climbed the mountain of the nation's elite programs and seeks to remain there for a long time.

Following are capsule summaries of the 2005-06 UCLA team by class.

JUNIORS

The junior year, according to Vincent, is when players begin to establish themselves. Generally, players have overcome homesickness, tackled the time management puzzle and settled into a routine. UCLA's three juniors are no different as they begin to mature into seasoned players. Each has logged more than 60 collegiate rounds and played in a variety of post-season events.

Peter Campbell leads the team with two collegiate victories, a win at the 2004 California State Fair Amateur and four Golden State Tour events two summers ago.

"Peter has always been one of the most gifted players," said Vincent. "He has a great golf swing and he's a proven player."

After firing a 205 (-11) to win the season-opening Gold Rush Collegiate and tying for fourth at the Big 10/Pac-10 Challenge last Fall, Campbell battled injuries and failed to qualify for postseason play.

This year he has a few debts to settle.

"Peter is looking for a lot this season," continued Vincent, "he has very high expectations."

Joakim Renström, a native of Sweden, enjoyed a solid summer, nearly qualifying for two European majors: the Scandinavian Masters and the British Open. He tied for fourth at one-under par in the Scandinavian Masters qualifying, and tied for 10th at five-under in regional qualifying for the British Open, posting a 64 in the second round.

"Joakim came here (this Fall) and played with a lot of confidence," said Vincent. "He was a good, solid player for us last year."

Last season, Renstrom put himself in position to win at the TaylorMade Big Island event before he was derailed by a bout with food poisoning in the final round. In the next event, he tied for fourth, completing a stretch where he was 10-under par through five rounds.

At the end of the year, he led the Bruins with 10 rounds under par, and ranked second with 40 rounds played.

At the start of the season, Chris Heintz's 70 career college rounds led the team. In three Fall events, he has finished among the Top 5 twice and tied for 18th in the other.

His Fall stroke average of 71.8 exceeded his career numbers by almost two shots.

"Chris knows this is a really big year for him," said the head coach. "He's always been a good ball-striker. He's always working on his putting, chipping and his creativity around the greens. He played well in the Fall, and I look for him to have a really good Spring."

Last season, in three Blue Team events, Heintz recorded consecutive Top 10 finishes. Overall, he had five Top 20 finishes and averaged 73.5 in a team-leading 41 rounds.

SOPHOMORES

UCLA's five sophomores each played at least 29 rounds a year ago and every one of them enjoyed at least one Top 10 finish. Saratoga native Matt Marshall will redshirt this season.

Brandon Christianson enjoyed a productive summer, winning city championships in Oxnard and Simi Valley. His confidence level was high entering the Fall schedule.

"Brandon qualified for our first event, finishing fourth," said Vincent. "He's a very natural, feel-gifted player, who needs to tighten up his fundamentals. We're also working on his conditioning this year to make sure he gets the most out of his strength."

His Fall results improved each time out, and by the final event he had tied for 17th at the Cullum Intercollegiate at Wood Ranch.

Last year in 29 rounds, he averaged 74.1 with four Top 10s, six Top 20s and three rounds under 70. His best round was a 66 (-6) in the second round of the Gold Rush.

Craig Leslie averaged 74.3 last year in 29 rounds, and ended his season with a collegiate-best score of 67 (-5) in the final round of the Wyoming Cowboy Classic. He also tied for 13th in his last three events.

"Craig is a very athletic player," said Vincent. "Fundamentally, he's still learning about his golf swing. He's a great competitor."

In nine Fall rounds he averaged 74.4 with two Top 10 finishes. Throw out his high round in windy conditions at Isleworth and his stroke average would be nearly two strokes better. Additionally, all nine of his rounds counted in team scoring.

Kevin Chappell enjoyed a fine freshmen season, earning UCLA's co-player of the year honors after being named to the All-Pac-10 Honorable Mention Team and tying for seventh at the conference championships. He averaged 73.3 in 38 rounds last season and 92% of his scores were counters. He also recorded nine rounds under par and six rounds under 70, among the best totals on the team.

"Kevin can make a lot of birdies—he made five in a row at the Bill Cullum tournament," said Vincent. "He's a very good ball-striker and he has a lot of confidence in his ability."

In the Fall, he started slowly, but ended with a runner-up finish at the Cullum Intercollegiate.

"He's going to have a really busy off-season, and I expect his best golf to be ahead of him in the Spring," commented Vincent.

Daniel Im shared UCLA's co-player of the year honors with Chappell after a season in which he earned Second Team All-Pac-10 honors and captured the Southern Highlands Collegiate title against a nationally ranked field. He averaged 72.9 in 38 rounds with nine rounds below par and eight under 70. He also led the team lead with four Top 10 finishes in Gold Team events.

"Daniel came into the year fired up," said Vincent. "He won our qualifying, and has been rock solid in every single event. He's a very good putter."

"More than anything, Daniel is getting a feel for college golf," he continued, "and is going to have a real good year."

In the Fall, Im recorded three straight Top 10 finishes and averaged 71.6. He ended the Fall ranked 20th in the country.

FRESHMEN

Vincent has said that his three freshmen don't play like rookies, and at the final Fall event at CordeValle each finished in the Top 25.

Lucas Lee recorded three Top 25 finishes in the Fall and averaged 72.8 in nine rounds. At The Prestige, he was in contention entering the final round before tying for 11th place. At the end of the Fall season, he was ranked 80th nationally.

"Lucas is really excited to be at UCLA," said Vincent. "He's a very accurate driver of the ball and he's a great competitor. He's also a great addition to the team atmosphere."

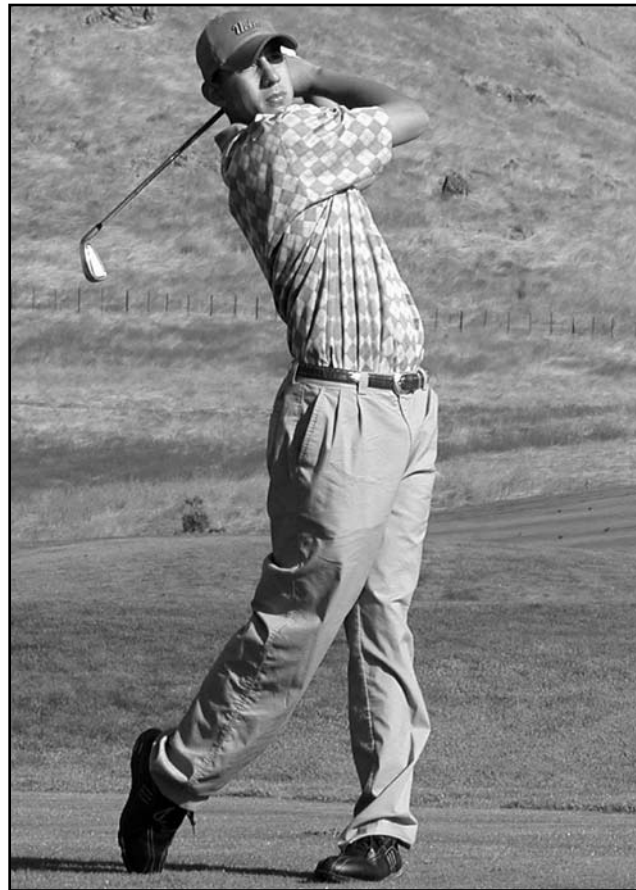

A two-time AJGA All-American, he won the 2003 L.A. City Junior Championship as well as the AJGA PING at Sunriver Resort.

James Lee posted a final round 69 at CordeValle and tied for fourth place. He averaged 74.4 in three Fall events and recorded three rounds under par.

A four-time AJGA All-American and two-time first-team selection, he won the team qualifying along with Im.

"James is a very good ball-striker who works hard at his game," commented Vincent. "He wants to have a lot of success (at UCLA)."

In 2004, he won the AJGA Polo Championship with a victory in 23 holes in the final. He also won the 2005 Family Toyota/Honda Championship with a score of 18-under par.

Erik Flores rose to 16th in the national rankings after a Fall season in which he averaged a team-leading 71.2 and placed among the Top 10 in all three of his events. After posting a 75 in the opening round at CordeValle, he played the final 36 holes in seven-under par and tied for second.

He entered Fall camp fresh off a victory at the California State Fair Amateur, posting an 11-under par score of 205. Earlier in the summer, he led the United States to a 12-stroke victory in the Toyota World Junior Golf Cup and won medalist honors with a 72-hole score of 20-under par 268.

"Erik is just a gifted player who hits the ball a long way," said the head coach. "He plays with a lot of confidence and has very high expectations. This Fall was a great start for him."

OVERALL COMMENTS

"Ours is a tough team to make the Top 5," commented Vincent. "That competition should be a very positive thing for us. It should help us improve throughout the year. Players (on this team) can't step back and take a little break because other players will pass by them. We've really tried hard to establish that environment and that atmosphere (of competition) because that's what players are going to get at the next level."

"Right now, we're the top-ranked team in the Pac-10," he continued. "I'm very confident that when we get to the Pac-10 Championship, we'll be considered one of the favorites (to win the title)."

In just three seasons, O.D. Vincent has laid the foundation for national success for the UCLA golf program.

Since 2002, the Bruins have recorded a pair of Top 3 NCAA finishes, won two NCAA West Regional titles, a conference championship and a total of 22 tournament titles through the Fall of 2005.

The September, 2005 edition of Golf Digest proclaimed UCLA the nation's "Best Balanced" program in a survey ranking 50 schools' academics, facilities, coaching, climate and golf. In a short period of time, Vincent has singlehandedly upgraded UCLA's golf practice facilities, fundraising efforts, recruiting and results. Most importantly, the Bruins are once again considered one of the nation's top collegiate programs.

Last season, the Bruins won three team titles, including the inaugural Gold Rush hosted by UCLA at the SCPGA facility in Calimesa. The three titles gave Vincent 28 career victories entering this season, a figure that ranks in the Top 5 among active Division I coaches. In three seasons at UCLA, Vincent has guided the Bruins to 19 tournament titles, including one conference and two regional championships, a total that ranks ahead of every Division I team.

In addition, four players — Steve Conway, Travis Johnson, John Merrick and Roy Moon, earned All-America honors, Merrick won the 2003 Pac-10 title, and the Bruins have produced six individual champions since the beginning of Vincent's tenure. Finally, Johnson earned GCAA Academic All-America honors for the second straight season.

Two years ago, the Bruins won nine tournaments, including six by the Gold Team (varsity). The year before they won seven times, including their first Pac-10 title in 18 years and their first-ever NCAA Regional crown.

Finally, the Bruins finished the 2003-04 season ranked No.1 by GolfStat for the first time in their intercollegiate golf history.

Fueled by the return of four veteran players, Vincent guided the Bruins to a record-setting victory in their first tournament three years ago. They won the Pacific Invitational by 16 shots, and set a 54-hole school scoring record of 34-under par.

At the end of the season, the Bruins' seven tournament victories led the nation. Conway won a pair of individual titles, and teammate Merrick won the 2003 Pac-10 individual title. Merrick's final round, nine-under par 63 set a school and course record in relation to par. Moon posted a 62 on a par 70 course in Hawaii to set another school scoring record.

For his efforts, Vincent was named 2003 Pac-10 Coach of the Year and Pacific Region Coach of the Year by the GCAA.

The Bruins finished among the Top 10 in every major collegiate golf rankings service in 2003, and concluded the season ranked No.2 by GolfStat.

Considered one of the finest golfers in University of Washington history, Vincent quickly established himself as one of the UW's top coaches. In 1999, as a 30-year old fourth-year head coach, he led the Huskies to three tournament victories, a fourth-place conference finish, a seventh-place finish in the NCAA West Regional and a fourth-place finish at the NCAA Championship. That season, he was voted Pac-10 co-coach of the year, District VIII Coach of the Year and the Golf Coaches Assn. of America's National Coach of the Year.

In six seasons as head coach (1995-2001), Vincent led the Huskies to four NCAA Tournament berths, nine tournament titles and 68 Top 10 finishes. During his tenure at Washington, he tutored two All-Americans in Troy Kelly and Brock MacKenzie, placed 13 players on Pac-10 All-Conference Teams, and five of his golfers earned Pac-10 All-Academic honors.

Vincent is the only former conference golfer to have won Pac-10 medalist honors and earn conference coach of the year acclaim.

As a sophomore in 1988, Vincent won the Pac-10 individual title while leading the Huskies to their first league title in 25 years. He then sparked Washington to a 15th place finish at the NCAA Championships while placing 19th individually. He also earned all-conference and All-America honors that season after winning two tournaments and finishing among the Top 10 eight times, a single-season Washington record.

He earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Washington in 1991.

Vincent's influence on the Washington golf program extended beyond his playing and coaching accomplishments. He was instrumental in the development of Washington National, the Huskies' home course that opened in August, 2000 and served as the site for the 2002 NCAA Women's Golf Championships and the 2003 NCAA Men's Golf West Regionals, which UCLA won.

Following his college career, Vincent became the only American to qualify for the PGA's European Tour in 1991. He earned a spot in the 1992 British Open and was among the leaders at Muirfield after a first round 67.

In August, 1995, the UW hired Vincent as its head coach, and in June, 2000, he was promoted to Director of Golf.

He left Washington in June, 2001 to pursue his dream of playing on the PGA Tour. In January, 2002, he played in the Phoenix Open.

As a prep golfer at Palm Springs High, Vincent won the 1985 California State CIF individual title and led the Indians to the team championship.

Born Orrin Daniel Vincent in Seattle, WA, on July 8, 1968, he is married to the former Jana Ellis, who was an All-America swimmer at Washington and Florida. The Vincents are the proud parents of Prada Patricia Vincent, born May 28, 2002.

Gus MONTAÑO

ASSISTANT COACH • 1ST YEAR • (CITRUS COLLEGE '93)

Gus Montaño, who worked eight years at the American Junior Golf Assn., begins his first season as UCLA's new assistant golf coach. Montaño, 37, will serve as the assistant coach for both the UCLA men's and women's golf teams.

"We are pleased to have a person of Gus's experience and dedication on our staff," said Associate Athletic Director Glenn Toth, who oversees the golf programs. "He brings a wealth of tournament expertise, organizational skills, and coaching prowess to UCLA."

In 1996, Montaño began as an intern at the AJGA and served in that capacity for five months before assuming a full-time position. He rose through the organization as a Tournament Director and as the Director of Education, a position he held for six years.

While at the AJGA, Montaño was responsible for budgeting, planning, executing, developing sponsor and host facility relations, and supervising the overall tournament and golf course operations for more than 40 national junior golf events. For the past five years, Montaño educated and instructed the AJGA Tournament Operations staff on the Rules of Golf. In addition, he was responsible for organizing and directing the AJGA's Day of Education, a three-topic seminar designed to educate junior players on how to succeed at tournament golf.

Montaño graduated from the Professional

Golfers Career College in Temecula, CA in May, 1996 after studying Golf Course Design and Development, the Rules of Golf, Golf Swing Techniques and the Psychology of Golf, among other curriculums.

Montaño is well-versed in the Rules of Golf and has attended nine PGA/USGA Rules of Golf workshops and six Tournament Administration workshops sponsored by both organizations.

From 2001-04, he guided the West Team to a 3-1 record in the Canon Cup.

A native of Southern California, Montaño graduated from Citrus College in 1993 with an AA degree. He took up golf at Citrus College and earned a spot on the Owls' golf team.

At Arroyo High School in El Monte, Montaño earned two varsity letters in wrestling.

The Bruins traveled from the birdies of the tropical climate in Hawaii to a battle against par on the East Coast. They hovered around the leaderboard for three rounds but could not post a low number. In the end they finished nine shots out of the lead to Florida and four shots shy of second to Alabama. Still, being the only team from the West, they represented their region well against a quality field. Sophomore Joakim Renström finished fourth at 217 (+1), followed by Poucher who tied for 19th on the strength of a final round 68, the second lowest round of the day.

SOUTHERN HIGHLANDS COLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIP

MAR. 11-13 AT SOUTHERN HIGHLANDS, LAS VEGAS, NV

UCLA 9TH, 290-303-298—891 (+27)

Freshman Daniel Im enjoyed a great tournament, winning his first collegiate event in a playoff against South Carolina's Mark Anderson. Im's victory was even more impressive considering the other players he beat — Ryan Moore, the reigning U.S. Amateur champion, Pablo Martin, the fourth-ranked collegian, and Alejandro Canizares, the 2003 NCAA champion. Im posted rounds of 66-75-68—209 (-7) to record his lowest total of the year. He was the only player to finish among the Top 50 as the team never seemed to follow his lead. Host UNLV was the only team to finish under par at 855 (-9), beating second place Georgia by 15 strokes.

UCLA's 2004-2005 TOURNAMENT SUMMARY

WESTERN INTERCOLLEGIATE

MAR. 28-29 AT PASATIEMPO GC, SANTA CRUZ, CA
UCLA 3RD, 289-297—586 (+26)

Wet weather washed out the final round of one of the West's oldest collegiate events, denying the Bruins a comeback opportunity. The Bruins finished four strokes out of first place to Oregon and two strokes back of Kansas in second. Im continued his hot play, placing second at even par 140 after rounds of 68-72. Chappell tied for 12th 145 (+5). As a result of his stellar play during the month of March, Im was named Pac-10 Golfer of the Month.

John Poucher

ASU THUNDERBIRD INVITATIONAL

APR. 8-9 AT KARSTEN GC, TEMPE, AZ
UCLA 5TH, 290-289-294—873 (+21)

Again, the Bruins experienced trouble going low and finished 14 shots out of first place behind a group of schools from their region. UCLA's best score was a five-over total in the second round. UNLV took top honors at 859 (+7), followed by Pepperdine at 861 (+9). Im tied for 15th place at 216 (+3), including a 69 in the second round. Chappell tied for 23rd at 218 (+5) and Campbell tied for 27th at 220 (+7).

U.S. INTERCOLLEGIATE

APR. 16-17 AT STANFORD GOLF COURSE, PALO ALTO, CA
UCLA 4TH, 289-286-293—868 (+28)

At the U.S. Intercollegiate, the Bruins hovered too far above par to make any noise. USC took the first-round lead on the strength of an opening round 278 (-2) and won the event by 17 strokes. San Diego State placed second at 863 (+23), followed by Fresno State at 867 (+27). Im recorded another Top 10 finish, however, tying for seventh place at 213 (+3) after rounds of 68-70 on the first day. Heintz tied for 12th at 216, recording an even par 70 in the final round, and Renström tied for 18th at 217 (+7), including a second round score of 68 (-2).

PAC-10 CHAMPIONSHIP

APR. 25-27 AT WALLA WALLA CC, WALLA WALLA, WA
UCLA 4TH, 352-355-354-371—1,432 (+12)

Four-under par at the start of the day and battling for the title on the back nine of the final round, the Bruins found themselves in the wrong place at the wrong time. UCLA was chasing the leaders after making the turn when a sudden weather front transformed a calm day into a nasty storm on the final nine. Washington, which had posted a final round score of five-under par 350 before the weather changed, waited as the leaders' scores ballooned. Both UCLA and Arizona State endured the teeth of the storm: the Bruins stumbling to a 16-over par 371 and ASU skying to a 12-over par 367. ASU and Washington tied at the end of 72 holes, but the Huskies won the playoff on their sixth player's score. The Bruins finished seven shots back at 12-over par 1,432. Chappell tied for seventh at 283 (-1), Poucher tied for 14th at 285 (+1) and Renström, after a final round 69 (-2), tied for 19th at 287 (+3). Im earned second team all-conference honors and Chappell was named honorable mention. Academically, Heintz and Renström were voted to the Pac-10 All-Academic Honorable Mention Team.

NCAA WEST REGIONAL

MAY 19-21 AT STANFORD GOLF COURSE, PALO ALTO, CA
UCLA T-4TH, 288-288-281—857 (+17)

The Bruins improved their score from the previous month's competition, but not the result. They finished 11 strokes behind first-place UNLV and eight strokes back of second place New Mexico. Washington placed third at 854 (+14). Still, the Bruins earned their third straight trip to the national championship tournament under Coach O.D. Vincent. Chappell continued his hot play by tying for second place at 207 (-3), playing the final 36 holes in four-under par (67-69). Im carded a 69 (-1) in the final round to vault 20 spots up the ladder and tie for 25th at 215 (+5).

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

JUNE 1-4, AT CAVES VALLEY GOLF CLUB, OWINGS MILLS, MD
UCLA 30TH, 299-301-304—904 (+64)

A long season came to a disappointing end on a golf course the Bruins never deciphered. The Bruins fared 20 shots worse than their 54-hole score at the Fall Preview and missed the cut for the final round. Chris Heintz's even par score of 71 in the third round was UCLA's best single round score. Heintz tied for 36th at 219 (+9), the Bruins' best individual finish. Washington's James Lepp fired a final round 63 (-7) and captured the first individual title for the Huskies.

UCLA has produced many outstanding golfers, including the likes of current PGA TOUR members Corey Pavin, Duffy Waldorf, Scott McCarron, Tom Pernice Jr., Steve Pate, Brandt Jobe and Jay Delsing. These seven players have won $56.2 million through the 2005 season.

One of the most successful players on the TOUR, Corey Pavin, was a two-time first-team All-American, the Pacific-10 Conference and NCAA Player of the Year in 1982, and the '82 Pac-10 individual champion. He won 11 collegiate tournaments while at UCLA and participated in the 1981 Walker Cup and the 1982 Masters and U.S. Open while still a collegian. In 1995, Pavin won his first "major" — the U.S. Open at Shinnecock Hills. His clutch four-wood to six feet on the 18th hole and subsequent par secured a two-shot victory over Greg Norman. He qualified for the PGA TOUR in 1983, and in 1984, he won his first professional tournament and was named PGA Rookie of the Year. He has won 26 professional tournaments (11 on the international circuit), including the 1994 and 1995 Los Angeles Opens and the 1996 Colonial Invitational. He played on the victorious 1991 and '93 U.S. Ryder Cup teams and has earned nearly $12 million. He finished 1991 as the PGA's leading money winner and was named the TOUR's Player of the Year that season.

Duffy Waldorf

A Bruin golf letterman from 1982-85, Duffy Waldorf was a two-time NCAA All-American and the 1985 College Player of the Year. As a senior in 1985, Waldorf won the Pac-10 title and earned a spot on the U.S. Walker Cup team. He has won four times on the PGA TOUR, including the 2000 National Car Rental Golf Classic. In his 20-year PGA career, Waldorf has won more than $10 million, including more than $1.4 million in 2004. He tied for fifth at the 1996 Masters and tied for ninth at the 1994 U.S. Open. Duffy was inducted into the UCLA Athletics Hall of Fame in 2002.

Former Bruin Scott McCarron, who played at UCLA from 1985-88, won his first professional tournament—the 1996 Freeport-McDermott Classic and tied for 10th at the Masters that season. McCarron, who won the 1997 and 2001 BellSouth Classics and recorded Top 10 finishes at the '97 U.S. Open and PGA Championships, has won more than $9 million on the TOUR. In 2003, McCarron won more than $1.2 million with two Top 10 finishes, including a second place finish at the Las Vegas Invitational.

Tom Pernice, Jr., a former two-time All-American and 1982 UCLA graduate, enjoyed one of his best seasons in 2001. He won more than $1.3 million, including The International. He also recorded three other Top 10 finishes. In 1999, he won his first tournament, the Buick Open, by firing a final round 65 to win by one shot over Tom Lehman at the Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club in Grand Blanc, MI. In 1998, he finished second in the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro Am, tied for 11th at the Greater Vancouver Open and placed 16th at the Sprint International. In 2004 he won more than $1.4 million and finished among the Top 10 five times. In 2005, he recorded his fourth million dollar season by winning more than $1.3 million in prize money. In his career, he has won more than $8 million.

Brandt Jobe, an 18-year PGA professional, played for the Bruins from 1985-88 and helped lead UCLA to its only NCAA team championship in men's golf. When he tied for second place at the 1988 NAAs, he became UCLA's highest individual finisher at the national championship. As a professional, he has won over $5 million and added nine international victories. In 2005, he finished 25th on the money list with more than $1.7 million in earnings.

Always a tough competitor, Steve Pate lettered from 1980-83, winning four college tournaments. In 1983, Pate won the Pacific-10 Championship and earned first-team All-America honors. He has won six PGA tournaments in more than 20 years as a professional and competed on both the U.S. Kirin Cup Team (1988) and the winning U.S. Ryder Cup team in 1991. A wrist injury kept him off the Tour in 1997, but he recovered in time to win the 1998 CVS Charity Classic and earn a spot as a captain's pick on the victorious 1999 Ryder Cup team. He has career earnings of more than $8 million.

Another UCLA All-American, Jay Delsing, was a key member of two Pacific-10 title teams. He was a three-time all-conference selection and earned first-team All-America honors in 1982 and second team acclaim in 1983. During his

All-America years, he captured seven collegiate tournament titles. He has won more than $3 million on the PGA TOUR, tied for second at the 1995 FedEx St. Jude Classic and finished eighth at the 1994

Steve Pate

Los Angeles Open. His best finish in 1998 was a tie for ninth in the Bell Canadian Open.

Jim Albus, a 1965 UCLA graduate, was the head professional at the Piping Rock Club on Long Island for 14 years before choosing to play on the Champions TOUR full-time in 1990. He won six tournaments and most recently won the 1998 GTE Classic. His best season was 1994, when he won the Vantage At The Dominion and the Bank of Boston Senior Classic and earned $1.2 million. Some of his other Champions Tour victories include titles at the 1991 Ford Seniors Players Championship and the 1993 GTE Suncoast Classic. A member of the Metropolitan (NY) PGA Hall of Fame, Albus won nearly $5 million in his professional career.

1988 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP SUMMARY

In 1988, the Bruins won their first and only NCAA golf team championship at North Ranch Country Club in Thousand Oaks, CA. On the final day of the tournament, UCLA, 13 shots behind the leader, rallied for one of the great comebacks in NCAA golf history. The Bruins shot a one-under par 287 over the final 18 holes to win the national championship by three shots over Texas-El Paso. The Bruins' Brandt Jobe fired a final round three-under par 69 to record a one-under par 72-hole score of 287 and finish in a tie for second place. Jobe's finish was the best individual finish ever by a UCLA golfer in the NCAA Championship. Although no other Bruin finished among the Top 20, clutch performances, especially on the final day, produced one of the most memorable championship moments in UCLA history. Below are the scores from the 1988 NCAA Championships.

1988 Team score: 1,176. Individuals: Brandt Jobe, 2nd tie (72-73-73-69 — 287); Bobby Lasken, 26th tie (74-71-75-75 — 295); Tim Cruikshank, 31st (79-73-73-71 — 296); Kevin Leach, 43rd (76-78-72-72 — 298); Rich Greenwood, 85th (82-79-77-77 — 315).

Many campus buildings can be seen from the Bel-Air Country Club, which is located across from UCLA on Sunset Blvd.

Bel-Air Country Club:

The Bel-Air Country Club, site of the 1976 U.S. Amateur Championship, has served as UCLA's home course for more than 50 years. Located five minutes from campus, Bel-Air's original architecture was done by George Thomas, Jack Neville and Billy Bell Sr., with most recent changes by Robert Trent Jones. The membership has added a new driving range which the Bruins use occasionally. Par: 70 Rating: 72.2 Yardage: 6,411.

Brentwood Country Club:

The Brentwood Country Club is located just 10 minutes from the UCLA campus. The course, which measures 6,681 yards and carries a 72.2 rating, puts emphasis on accuracy and is often subject to strong breezes off the nearby Pacific. Brentwood and UCLA also hosted the 1994 Women's Pacific-

10 Conference Championships.

El Caballero Country Club: Long, tough par 71 course that has hosted many TOUR qualifying events. Designed by Robert Trent Jones, Sr., the course measures more than 6,900 yards and carries a rating of 73.1 and a slope of 135. UCLA alumnus Brandt Jobe holds the course record of 63.

Hillcrest Country Club: Located 10 minutes from campus, Hillcrest is one of the area's oldest layouts. Opened in 1922, it was the site of the 1929 PGA Championship and 1932 and '42 L.A. Opens. Hillcrest carries a 69.0 rating over 6,411 yards. Rolling fairways, numerous bunkers and large undulating greens plus some of the best views of the Los Angeles skyline make this an enjoyable test of golf.

Lakeside Golf Club: Located next to Universal Studios, this tight, heavily trapped course has small greens that demand great accuracy. The par 70 course has a 71.4 rating and measures 6,454 yards. The beautiful course is located 20 minutes from campus.

Los Angeles Country Club: Considered one of America's finest, the North Course is consistently ranked among the nation's Top 20 golf courses. Both the North and South courses were designed by George C. Thomas, who also designed Riviera and Ojai Valley CC. Site of the 1983 Men's Pac-10 Championships won by UCLA. The North Course is rated 74.0 with a 135 slope over 6,909 yards. The Bruins enjoy regular playing privileges here.

Lost Canyons Golf Club: This facility has two courses, both designed by Pete Dye within the last five years. The Sky Course follows the canyon ridge lines offering spectacular panoramic views. It measures more than 7,200 yards with a slope of 149 and a par of 72. The Shadow Course features an ever-changing combination of light and shadows that add to the enjoyment of a challenging test of golf. It measures just over 7,000 yards and also has a slope of 149.

Mountaingate Country Club: Sporty course that offers great vistas of Los Angeles. Severely contoured greens require a delicate putting touch. Measures 6,507 yards, is rated 71.3, plays to a par of 72, and overlooks the UCLA campus.

Oakmont Country Club: Built in 1924 and originally designed by Max Behr, Oakmont is located in the lush hillside of Glendale and boasts some of the fastest greens in the city. A variety of bunkers and barrancas make the course a shotmaker's domain. Recently, Oakmont has hosted LPGA and Champions Tour events. From the blue tees, the course plays 6,736 yards, carries a slope of 130 and a par of 72. Oakmont served as the site of the 2003 Men's Pacific-10 Conference Championship, which UCLA hosted and won.

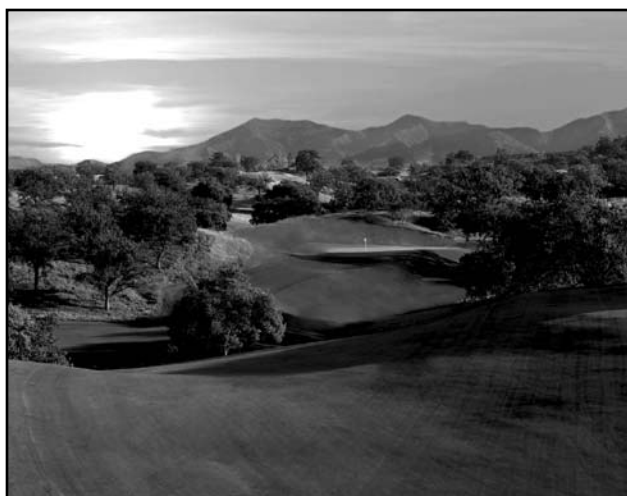

Riviera Country Club: Recognized as one of the world's premier courses, Riviera annually hosts the Nissan Open, which former Bruin Corey Pavin won in 1994 and '95. It has hosted several major championships, including the U.S. Open in 1948 won by Ben Hogan, the PGA Championship in 1983 and 1995 and the U.S. Senior Open in 1998. The course has several signature holes, including the par three sixth with a bunker in the middle of the green. Designed by George C. Thomas, Riviera measures more than 7,000 yards and plays to a par of 71.

Robinson Ranch: New facility, featuring two championship courses —The Mountain and The Valley. The Mountain Course measures 6,508 yards and offers dramatic views and plenty of water, while demanding strategic course management and accuracy off the tee. The Valley Course, which opened on Memorial Day 2000, meanders through untouched stands of stage and chaparral, California Sycamores and Coastal Live Oaks. Measuring 6,903 yards from the championship tees, The Valley's final six holes have been tagged Death Row.

TPC at Valencia: The TPC at Valencia, designed by Chris Gray and two-time major winner Mark O'Meara, is a big golf course requiring both length off the tee, precise iron play and bold putting. Running through oak canyons, river valleys and foothills, the course challenges players of every skill level. The course measures more than 7,200 yards from the tournament tees and plays to a par of 72.

Valencia Country Club: A classic Robert Trent Jones Sr. design featuring numerous bunkers, hidden water hazards and large, undulating greens. Prevailing afternoon winds can make this course play long and difficult. Signature hole is the par three third that features a long carry over water to a big, fast green, shaded by tall trees. From the tips, this par 72 course is rated 74.7 with a slope of 138 over 7,000 yards.

Wilshire Country Club: Medium length course that boasts the best greens in the city. A barranca runs through the course and comes into play on almost every hole. Carries a course rating of 71.5 at 6,531 yards and a slope of 126.

The Bruins have playing privileges at TPC Valencia.
