

MEET THE BRUINS

COACHING STAFF

Adam Wright begins his first season as UCLA's head men's water polo coach in 2009. A former standout in the pool at UCLA and on the U.S. Olympic Team, Wright was named the fourth head coach in program history on June 3, 2009.

A four-year letterwinner at UCLA (1997-2000), Wright led the Bruins to back-to-back NCAA titles in 1999 and 2000. Following his collegiate career, Wright served as a key member on the U.S. National Team, participating in the 2004 and 2008 Olympics for Team USA. He helped lead the U.S. to a seventh-place finish at the 2004 Olympics (Athens) and to the silver medal at the 2008 Olympics (Beijing).

Wright served as an assistant coach with the UCLA men's and women's water polo teams during the 2008-09 school year. He helped guide the women's program to an unprecedented fifth consecutive NCAA championship in May 2009. Following the 2008 men's water polo season, Wright played an integral role in securing the top men's recruiting class in the nation.

In addition, Wright served as an assistant coach with the varsity boys and girls water polo programs at Wilson High School (Long Beach, Calif.) from 2001-04. He helped coach the boys program to four consecutive CIF Division I championships and Moore League titles. Wright coached the girls team to two Moore League titles and two CIF Division I quarterfinal playoff appearances.

As a senior at UCLA in 2000, Wright scored 39 goals before earning honorable mention All-America acclaim and second-team All-MPSF honors. In 1999, he secured third-team All-America and second-team All-MPSF honors after having led the Bruins in assists (27) and ranked second on the team in goals scored (46), total points (48) and steals (39).

In his first two seasons, he scored 43 goals – 26 as a freshman and 27 as a sophomore. He gained second-team All-America honors in 1998 and was named an honorable mention All-America and All-MPSF selection as a freshman in 1997.

Wright graduated from UCLA in 2001 with degrees in history and sociology.

Following his collegiate career, Wright competed in the European League (Italy and Russia) for Bissolati Cremona, Civitavecchia SNC, Nuoto Catania and Dynamo Moscow from 2004-08. He competed for the U.S. National Team in all major tournaments from 2001-09, helping lead Team USA to the gold medal at the 2003 and 2007 Pan American Games as well as the 2005 ASUA Cup (Mexico City).

Most recently, Wright concluded his playing career with the U.S. National Team by leading Team USA to a fourth-place finish at the 2009 FINA World Championships in Rome, Italy.

A graduate of Wilson High School (Long Beach, Calif.) in 1997, Wright was a four-year varsity water polo and three-year varsity swimming letterwinner at Wilson.

Wright, 32, is married to Kerry Norris, a former UCLA women's soccer player. He and his wife reside in Los Angeles.

Adam Krikorian enters his 14th season on the UCLA men's water polo coaching staff in 2009. Krikorian served as the program's head coach from 1999-2008 and in an assistant capacity from 1996-1998 before assuming Associate Head Coaching duties in July 2009. Krikorian concurrently serves as head coach of the U.S. Women's Water Polo National Team.

Krikorian has won 15 national titles — 11 as a head coach (men's and women's), three as an assistant coach and one as a student-athlete — in 17 years with the UCLA water polo programs. Krikorian helped lead the men's program to NCAA titles as head coach in 1999, 2000 and 2004 and as an assistant coach in 1996. As a senior, he led the Bruins to the 1995 NCAA title, UCLA's first men's water polo championship since 1972.

On the women's side, Krikorian coached UCLA to eight national championships (7 NCAA) as head coach from 1999-2009. He helped engineer UCLA's remarkable run of five consecutive NCAA women's water polo titles from 2005-2009. Serving as an assistant coach with the women's program in 1997 and 1998, he led UCLA to national titles each season.

As the men's water polo head coach from 1999-2008, Krikorian guided UCLA to three NCAA Championships and recorded a 192-62 overall record (.756 winning percentage). His men's water polo teams went 61-19 in MPSF play in 10 seasons, and two of his men's teams posted a perfect 8-0 MPSF record (1999, 2004).

Between both water polo programs, Krikorian has coached six Peter J. Cutino Award recipients, seven National Player of the Year selections and 12 Olympians. On the men's side, Sean Kern won the Cutino Award in 1999 and 2000 and was named the National Player of the Year in 2000. Brett Ormsby earned National Player of the Year honors as a senior in 2004.

Krikorian led the UCLA men's and women's teams to national championships in the same season on three occasions — during the 2004-2005, 2000-2001 and 1999-2000 school years. The 2004 men's water polo team finished with the best winning percentage of any UCLA water polo team since 1972. The women's team completed the second undefeated season in NCAA water polo history that spring by running off 33 consecutive victories.

THE KRIKORIAN FILE

Career Highlights

- Led UCLA to 11 national championships as head coach (men's, women's water polo)
- Guided men's program to NCAA titles in 1999, 2000 and 2004
- Has coached six Peter J. Cutino Award recipients between both programs
- Helped lead women's program to five consecutive NCAA championships (2005-09)
- Coached two men's players of the year — Sean Kern (2000), Brett Ormsby (2004)
- Guided men's program to two perfect, 8-0 MPSF finishes (1999, 2004)

Playing Highlights (at UCLA)

- As a senior (1995), led UCLA men's program to first NCAA title since 1972
- Finished collegiate career with 76 goals, playing from 1992-95
- Named UCLA's "Most Inspirational Player" by teammates his final three seasons
- Served as UCLA's team captain in 1994 and 1995

In 2004, Krikorian guided the men's program to their first perfect MPSF finish since 1999 and first NCAA championship since securing back-to-back titles in 1999 and 2000. The 2004 team also compiled an 18-game winning streak, which included winning the NorCal Tournament title and gaining multiple victories over the nation's other three top-ranked teams — Stanford, California and USC.

In 2000, Krikorian led the men's program to its fourth NCAA title in six years. He also coached the UCLA women to the inaugural NCAA championship in the spring of 2001, coaching in the absence of Guy Baker (who then served as the U.S. Women's Water Polo Head Coach). The 2001 women's squad finished the season with an 18-4 overall mark, including a 9-1 MPSF record, and won its second consecutive national championship.

Krikorian was promoted to Co-Head Coach of the men's program at the start of the 1999 season, after serving as an assistant coach for three seasons. In the spring of 1999, he served as the interim head coach for the women's team, while Baker was coaching Team USA.

During the 1996-1997 school year, Krikorian served as a student assistant coach as he completed his undergraduate studies, assisting Baker in leading both squads to national championships.

As a senior captain in 1995, Krikorian helped lead UCLA to its first men's water polo national championship since 1972. He scored two goals in the Bruins' 10-8 win over California in the NCAA title match. During his senior season, he registered a team-best 31 goals, including one two-pointer, while earning second-team All-America and second-team All-MPSF honors.

A four-year letterwinner, Krikorian captained the team in 1994 and 1995, leading the Bruins to the NCAA Tournament both seasons. He finished his collegiate career with 76 goals, including a pair of two-pointers, and was named "Most Inspirational Player" by his teammates in his final three seasons.

A standout prep athlete at Mountain View High School, Krikorian was a four-year letterwinner in water polo and swimming. As a senior, he scored 113 goals and earned honorable mention All-America accolades. In 1992, he helped lead his team to the National Junior Olympic Championship. Krikorian's older brother, Blake, was on the UCLA water polo team from 1986-1989.

Krikorian, 35, graduated from UCLA with a psychology degree and a business administration emphasis in June 1997.

In May 2001, Krikorian married Anicia Mendez, a four-year Bruin letterwinner in tennis who is completing her MBA at UCLA. Adam and Anicia reside in Manhattan Beach, Calif., with their son Jack (born July 2006) and daughter Annabel (born June 2009).
