

ADAM KRIKORIAN

Head Coach • 8th Year • UCLA ('97)

There may not be another head coach in any sport throughout the country who has accomplished more than Adam Krikorian in such a short span. In his 15 years with the UCLA water polo program as both a player and a coach, Krikorian has won an unprecedented 12 national titles, including 11 while coaching both the Bruins' men's and women's teams.

Throughout his illustrious coaching career, Krikorian has coached 39 All-Americans (selected 69 times) and four Olympians.

This fall, Krikorian enters his eighth season as head coach of UCLA's men's water polo team and sixth alone at the helm. From 1999 to 2000, he shared head coaching duties with Guy Baker, who now serves as the head coach of the U.S. Men's National Team.

Last season, Krikorian led the men's squad to a fifth-place finish in the MPSF Tournament. In the spring of 2006, Krikorian guided the women's squad to its eighth national championship, the team's fifth national title since he took the reins of the women's program in 1999. The 2006 women's water polo title marked Krikorian's third national championship since the start of the 2004-05 school year.

In 2004-2005, Krikorian led both of his teams to national-champion status for the third time in his career as a head coach. His men's team finished with the best winning percentage of any UCLA water polo team since 1972, and his women's squad completed the second undefeated season in NCAA water polo history while running off a record 33-game winning streak.

Krikorian led the men's team back to the top of the rankings in 2004. He guided the Bruins to their first perfect conference finish since 1999 and first NCAA title since winning back-to-back championships in 1999 and 2000. The 2004 squad also rattled off an 18-game winning streak, which included capturing the Nor Cal Tournament title and gaining multiple victories over the nation's other three top-ranked teams – Stanford, California and USC.

In 2002, Krikorian guided a young Bruin team to a third-place finish in the MPSF Tournament. That team also claimed the Nor Cal Tournament Championship with a 6-3 victory over USC in the title game. In the spring of 2003, Krikorian led UCLA's women's water polo team to a national championship, his fifth title as a head coach.

In 2000, Krikorian led the men to their fourth NCAA title in six years and second in a row. He also led the UCLA women to the inaugural NCAA championship. The 2001 women's squad finished the season with an 18-4 overall mark, including a 9-1 MPSF record, and won its second consecutive national championship.

Krikorian was promoted to Co-Head

Coach at the start of the 1999 men's season, after serving as an assistant for three years. In the spring of 1999, he served as the interim head coach for the women's water polo team, while Baker was coaching the U.S. Women's National Team.

During the 1996-97 school year, Krikorian served as a student assistant coach as he completed his undergraduate studies, assisting Baker in leading both squads to national championships.

As a senior captain in 1995, Krikorian helped lead UCLA to its first men's water polo national championship since 1972. Krikorian scored two goals in the Bruins' 10-8 win over California in the NCAA championship game. During his senior season, he registered a team-best 31 goals, including one two-pointer, while earning All-America second team honors and All-MPSF second team accolades.

A four-year letterman, Krikorian captained the team in 1994 and 1995, leading the Bruins to the NCAA Tournament in each of those seasons. He finished at UCLA with 76 career goals, including a pair of two-pointers. Krikorian was named "Most Inspiration Player" by his teammates in each of his last three seasons.

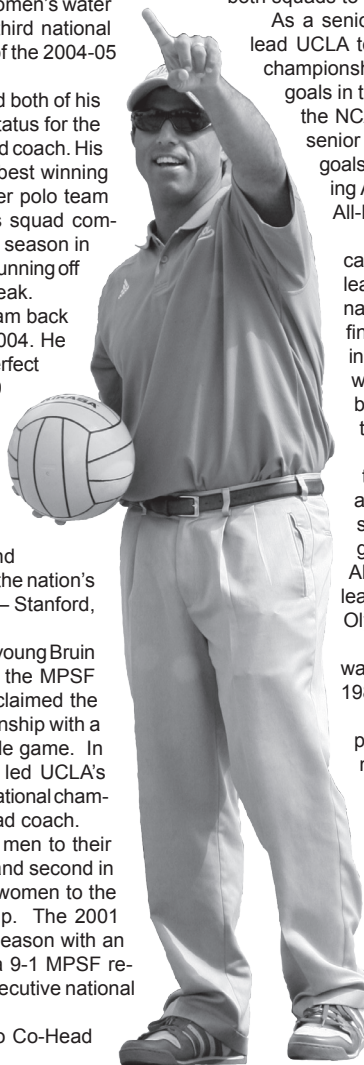

A standout prep athlete at Mountain View High School, Krikorian was a four-year letterman in water polo and swimming. As a senior, he scored 113 goals and earned honorable mention All-America honors. In 1992, he helped lead his team to the National Junior Olympic championship.

Krikorian's older brother, Blake, was on the UCLA water polo team from 1986-89.

Krikorian graduated from UCLA with a psychology degree and a business administration emphasis in June 1997.

In May of 2001, Krikorian married Anicia Mendez, a four-year Bruin letterwinner in tennis who is completing her MBA at UCLA. Adam and Anicia reside in Manhattan Beach, Calif., with their son Jack (born July 2006).

Krikorian was born on July 22, 1974.

MATT FLESHER

Assistant Coach • 2nd Year • UCLA ('02)

Matt Flesher enters his second season serving as an assistant coach on the UCLA men's water polo team. Flesher, a three-time All-America selection at UCLA from 1999-2002, helped guide the Bruins to a 21-8 overall mark in his first year on the coaching staff.

In his four-year career as a Bruin, Flesher led UCLA to back-to-back national championships (1999 and 2000), was twice honored as an All-MPSF athlete and finished his collegiate career with 81 goals scored.

Prior to returning to Westwood in 2005, Flesher kept busy within the international water polo ranks. He spent three seasons as a full-time member of the U.S. National Team in 2002, 2003 and 2005 and also competed for professional Greek team Ethnikos-Pireaus in 2003 and 2004.

Flesher also served as an assistant coach at Corona Del Mar High School in 2004 and helped lead the SeaKings to a CIF Division I Semifinal appearance.

While with the National Team, Flesher competed in the World University Games in 2003 and helped guide the United States to its qualification for the Water Polo World Championships in 2005.

Flesher enjoyed his finest playing season at UCLA as a sophomore in 2000, tallying a career-high 32 goals while adding 14 assists and 16 steals. During that campaign, which earned Flesher honorable mention All-America status, he helped lead UCLA to its second consecutive national title. One of that season's defining moments emerged with Flesher scoring the game-winning goal against Cal in the MPSF Tournament title game.

In 1999 as a newcomer to Westwood, the Diamond Bar native added eight goals to UCLA's 22-3 national championship team. Flesher earned third-team

All-America status as a junior in 2001 after pouring in 24 goals, good for third on the squad.

As a senior in 2002, Flesher was again awarded third-team All-America honors after notching 17 goals and serving as UCLA's emotional leader and co-captain. His most noted offensive performance of that season came in the third-place match of the MPSF Tournament, when he led all scorers with three goals to lead UCLA over top-ranked Stanford.

Flesher was awarded UCLA's Jack Bariteau "Most Inspirational Player" Award following the 2002 season.

He earned his degree in Political Science from UCLA in 2002 and currently competes for the New York Athletic Club Water Polo team.

Flesher was born on April 28, 1980 in Lakewood, Calif.

BRANDON BROOKS

Assistant Coach • 2nd Year • UCLA ('02)

Brandon Brooks enters his second year as an assistant coach on the water polo staff. The former UCLA standout assisted head coach Adam Krikorian as an undergraduate assistant coach in 2004. That season, Brooks helped lead the Bruins to its eighth national championship.

As an assistant coach, Brooks will focus his efforts on the development of goalkeepers and will oversee their conditioning and strength training program.

Brooks, a four-time All-America selection at UCLA and a former Olympic goalkeeper, helped lead the Bruins to national titles in 1999 and 2000 as UCLA's goalkeeper, all while becoming UCLA's all-time saves leader with 700 stops.

In the summer of 2004, Brooks and former UCLA teammates Adam Wright and Brett Ormsby competed for Team

USA in the Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. One year earlier, the Honolulu, Hawaii, native provided stellar defense as goalkeeper for the U.S. National Team at the FINA World Championships in Barcelona, Spain.

Following the 2003 World Championships, Brooks manned the net at the Pan-American Games, where Team USA took the gold medal and ultimately qualified for the 2004 Olympics.

As a student-athlete at UCLA, Brooks led the Bruins to consecutive national championships in his first two seasons. As a freshman in 1999, Brooks totaled 100 saves in 51.75 quarters. His 5.60 goals against average that season currently ranks second all-time in the school's record books.

The following season, Brooks recorded 208 saves in 95 quarters and posted a school-best 4.80 goals against average, a mark which still ranks first today. The sophomore allowed just one goal in the first 25 minutes of UCLA's 11-2 NCAA title game victory over UC San Diego. His 208 saves that season currently stands at seventh-place all-time school history.

Coming off back-to-back national championships at the start of the 2001 season, Brooks led UCLA to a No. 5 final national ranking as a junior. His 5.96 goals against average that season stands as the fifth-best mark in school history. Brooks recorded 165 saves in 78 quarters as the Bruins finished the season 16-5.

As a senior at UCLA in 2002, Brooks made 227 saves in 79 quarters and recorded a 6.46 goals against average, which currently ranks ninth best in the school record book. The All-America selection guided the Bruins to a third-place finish in the MPSF Tournament. He also earned All-MPSF First Team accolades in 2002.

The oldest of three children, Brooks has 20 year-old twin sisters (Nicole and Jessica). He was born on April 29, 1981.

CORALIE SIMMONS

Assistant Coach • 1st Year • UCLA ('01)

Coralie Simmons enters her first year as an assistant coach on the UCLA water polo staff. Simmons served as an assistant coach for the University of Hawaii women's water polo team during the 2005-06 school year.

Since graduating from UCLA in 2001, Simmons spent four years playing for two professional water polo teams in Athens, Greece. Her squads won three Greek Championships and one European Cup. Prior to her one-year stint at the University of Hawaii, she assisted both the Punahou School (Honolulu, Hawaii) and Hawaiian Island programs.

Simmons brings a wealth of national and international experience to UCLA's water polo program. A two-time National Player of the Year in college, Simmons guided the Bruins to their fourth national title in 2001 (in the inaugural NCAA title match). She was the recipient of the Pete Cutino Award, given annually to the top NCAA male and female players, and earned NCAA Tournament MVP honors.

Simmons sat out the 2000 season as a member of the U.S. Olympic Team, and helped the United States bring home a silver medal at the Olympics in Sydney, Australia. She tied for the team lead in scoring with nine goals at the Games. Simmons helped the U.S. National Team qualify for the Olympic Games in the World Women's Olympic Qualification Tournament in Italy, scoring a team-leading eight goals.

In 1999, Simmons redshirted the season to compete with the U.S. Women's National Team. She helped the United States capture a silver medal at the Pan-American Games that summer, and Simmons became the only team member to record a goal in all six Pan-Am Games (led the U.S. squad with 10 total goals).

Simmons was named the National Player of the Year in 1997 and 1998. The Hemet, Calif., native earned All-America first-team honors, All-MPSF first-team accolades and first-team National Collegiate Championship honors in 1998. She led the team with a school-record 74 goals in 115 attempts and posted a team-best 64 percent shooting average. In the national title game, Simmons scored three goals to help UCLA defeat California (May 10, 1998).

As a sophomore in 1997, Simmons collected MPSF Southern Division Player of the Year honors, in addition to earning All-MPSF Tournament first-team accolades. She tied her previous single-season school record for goals with 60 and netted points in 28 of 32 matches that season (15 multiple-scoring games). Simmons tallied two goals in the championship match versus California that season.

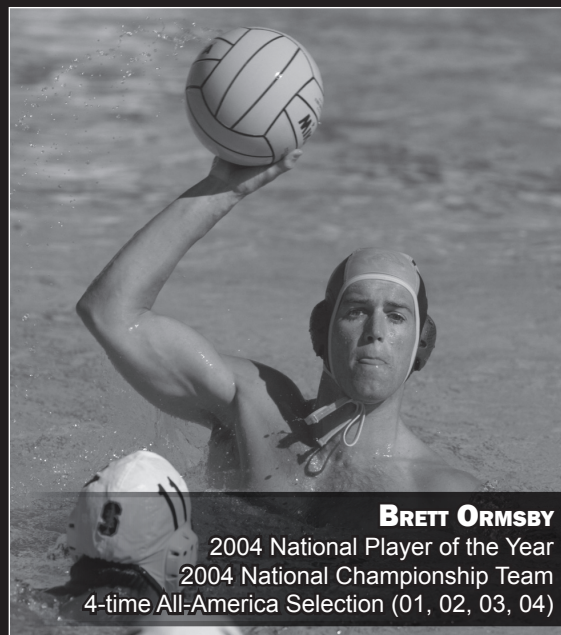

In her first season at UCLA, Simmons earned All-America first-team accolades and led the Bruins in all offensive categories. She was selected to the 1996 National Collegiate Championship first-team all-tournament team. Simmons assembled a 10-game scoring streak through the Western Regional Qualifying Tournament and National Collegiate Championships.

Simmons earned a degree in geography/environmental studies at UCLA.
