2012 Meet Summaries

Meet 1 - #5 Utah (Jan. 8)

UCLA took a big lead after the first event with a postseason-worthy vault rotation, nearly gave it all away on balance beam, but then hung on in the last rotation to squeak out a season-opening 196.075-196.025 victory over No. 5 Utah. The Bruins started big with a whopping 49.55 on vault in the first rotation, with UCLA's last four gymnasts each scoring 9.9 or higher. After scoring 49.275 on bars to take a 1.075 lead at the halfway point, the Bruins faltered on beam in rotation three, scoring just 48.375. UCLA held on in the final rotation, scoring just enough on floor exercise (48.875) to squeak out the victory by .05.

Meet 2 - at California (Jan. 15)

UCLA took down California in Berkeley, 196.675-192.55, thanks to 49.5+ team scores on vault and beam. Vanessa Zamarripa provided the highlight of the competition, scoring a perfect 10 on vault. Holding a slim .125 lead after the first rotation, the Bruins blew it open with a 49.575 on vault in rotation two. Kaelie Baer (9.875), Samantha Peszek (9.925) and Zamarripa (10.0) all recorded career-high marks to help UCLA achieve the No. 6 vault score in school history. In the final rotation, UCLA posted the seventh-best beam score in school history with a 49.55. The Bruins received four 9.9+ scores on beam.

Meet 3 - vs. San Jose State (Jan. 22)

UCLA put together its most complete performance of the year thus far, scoring a season-best 197.575 to defeat San Jose State by over four points on Jan. 22. The Bruins counted no score lower than 9.825 and had season-bests on bars (49.4) and floor (49.4). Sophomore Samantha Peszek won the all-around for the third consecutive meet, recording a career-high 39.5, and the Bruins swept the event titles, with Tauny Frattone tying her career high to win vault (9.95), Olivia Courtney and Aisha Gerber scoring season-best 9.9s to tie for first on bars, Peszek winning beam (9.9) and Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs winning floor with a career-high tying 9.95.

Meet 4 - at Washington (Jan. 27)

UCLA suffered its first loss of the season on Jan. 27, falling to Washington in Seattle, 195.350-194.600. Troubles on uneven bars in the first rotation and balance beam in the final rotation proved costly for the Bruins. UCLA had event winners on every event, with Vanessa Zamarripa winning vault (9.925), Samantha Peszek tying for first on uneven bars and winning balance beam with scores of 9.85, and Alyssa Pritchett and Olivia Courtney tying for first on floor exercise with scores of 9.875.

Meet 5 - vs. Stanford (Feb. 5)

On Super Bowl Sunday, UCLA defeated Stanford, 197.250-196.450, in a home dual meet. The Bruins had to make adjustments to their lineup due to an ankle injury to Aisha Gerber on Thursday and illness striking Olivia Courtney Sunday morning, but their replacements came up big, with several even delivering career-best marks. Samantha Peszek won the all-around for the fourth time in as many attempts, setting a new career-high with a score of 39.55. Lichelle Wong and Mattie Larson, both thrust into the all-around due to Courtney's illness, tied for second place with career-best scores of 39.325.

IGI/Chicago Style Champions

Meet 6 - at IGI/Chicago Style (Feb. 10)

Despite not being at full strength (Vanessa Zamarripa and Tauny Frattone were held out on all but one event), the Bruins hit all 24 routines without a fall to take first place at the IGI/Chicago Style NCAA Invitational with a score of 196.85. UCLA held slim leads over Boise State after each of the first three rotations but then pulled away in the final rotation with a strong performance on floor (49.35) to win the meet by over eight-tenths of a point. Boise State was second with a score of 196.025, followed by Missouri (195.525) and Illinois (195.1). The Bruins had event winners on all four events, with Olivia Courtney winning vault and tying for first on bars with a career-high tying 9.9. Mattie Larson picked up her first event victory, winning beam with a 9.85, and Alyssa Pritchett set a new career-high of 9.9 on floor to win that event for the second time this year.

Meet 7 - at Oregon State, w/ Cal (Feb. 17)

Fighting through adversity and a modified lineup, UCLA came from behind to tie Oregon State for first place in a tri-meet against the Beavers and California in Corvallis. Both the Bruins and Beavers totaled 196.775. UCLA rallied from a 0.40 deficit at the halfway mark, recording strong marks on vault (49.45) and bars (49.2) to catch up to the Beavers. The Bruins had to tinker with the expected lineup several times after injuries to Samantha Peszek, who only competed on beam due to wrist soreness, and Lichelle Wong, who suffered a ruptured Achilles tendon during the three-minute touch on floor, and illness to Mattie Larson.

Meet 8 - vs. Arizona State (Feb. 26)

UCLA made a big statement, scoring 198.050 in a victory over 24th-ranked Arizona State (194.850). The score was the highest in the nation this year and the highest by a Bruin team since winning the 2004 NCAA Championships. The Bruins posted team totals of 49.475 or better on every event, including a 49.6 on floor, and totaled 13 marks of 9.9 or higher, including three 9.95s and a 9.975. Vanessa Zamarripa won the all-around with a mark of 39.625, the highest by a Bruin this season. Olivia Courtney won vault with a career-high 9.975 and tied for first on floor with Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs with another career-high 9.95. Monique De La Torre won bars with a career-high 9.95. Zamarripa, Samantha Peszek and Mattie Larson tied for first on beam with scores of 9.925

Meet 9 - at Georgia (Mar. 2)

Third-ranked UCLA earned its highest road score of the season, but it wasn't enough to defeat fourth-ranked Georgia, who won the dual meet in Athens, 197.700-196.975. The Bruins were less than a tenth of a point out of first at the halfway mark, but a season-high 49.475 beam set by Georgia in the third rotation shifted the momentum the host team's way, and the Bruins couldn't match it in the fourth rotation, scoring just 49.025 on beam. Tauny Frattone tied for first on vault with a 9.95, and Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs tied for first on floor with a 9.925.

Meet 10 - vs. Oklahoma (Mar. 11)

In a matchup between two of the nation's Top 3 gymnastics teams, No. 3 UCLA easily defeated No. 2 Oklahoma, 197.525-196.475. The meet was highlighted by a perfect 10 on vault by Tauny Frattone, the first of her career. The Bruins recorded their fourth 197+ score of the season on the strength of dual 49.5 marks on vault and floor. Samantha Peszek won the all-around with a career-high score of 39.575 and also took first place on beam and floor with career-high marks of 9.925 and 9.95, respectively. Fittingly, three Bruin seniors ended their last home meet with event victories and career-high marks, with Frattone's 10, Aisha Gerber scoring a career-high 9.95 to win uneven bars, and Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs tying her career-high of 9.95 to tie for first on floor.

2012 Meet Summaries

Meet 11 - at Pac-12 Championships (Mar. 24)

At the inaugural Pac-12 Championship in Utah, UCLA came from behind on balance beam in the final rotation to capture its 17th conference title, scoring 197.425. Stanford held the lead for each of the first three rotations before falling out of contention during the fourth and final rotation. The Bruins kept close throughout the meet and showed tremendous grace under pressure in the final rotation, scoring 49.375 on beam to overtake Stanford and hold off a surging Utah, who scored 49.525 on floor. The Bruins' final three performers on beam came up big, with Vanessa Zamarripa scoring a season-high 9.95, Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs scoring a meet-winning 9.975, and Samantha Peszek clinching the win with a 9.85.

Meet 12 - at NCAA Fayetteville Regional (Apr. 7)

Top-seeded UCLA won the Fayetteville Regional and advanced to the NCAA Championships, scoring 197.225, the second-best score among all Regional competitions. Host Arkansas placed second with a 196.825 to also advance. The Bruins had a rough start at the top of the meet when the leadoff competitor on bars in the first rotation posted a sub-9 score. But the team remained unrattled, hitting five routines to avoid counting the fall. Stuck landings on beam in rotation two helped the team pick up momentum, and in their final two events, floor and vault, the Bruins dominated, scoring 49.475 and 49.45, respectively, to take the title.

Meet 13 - NCAA Semifinals (Apr. 15)

UCLA led a Pac-12 sweep in the first semifinal of the NCAA Championships, placing first with a score of 197.400, two-tenths ahead of second-place Utah and .275 ahead of third-place Stanford. The Bruins had to overcome some adversity on their final two events to win the meet. A fall from a Bruin competitor on both beam and floor put senior Elyse Hopfner-Hibbs in pressure-filled situations, but on each event she came through immediately after with scores of 9.9 to prevent UCLA from counting a fall. The Bruins had strong team scores on bars (49.45), beam (49.325) and floor (49.35) to pull ahead after a relatively shaky start on its highest-scoring event - vault (49.275).

Meet 14 - NCAA Super Six (Apr. 16)

UCLA earned its third-highest NCAA Championships score ever, recording 197.750, but it wasn't enough at the 2012 NCAA Championships, which went to Alabama for the second-straight year. The Crimson Tide scored a tenth higher than the Bruins, 197.850, clinching the victory with a 9.95 on beam by its last competitor, Ashley Priess. Florida finished .025 ahead of the Bruins in second place with a score of 197.775. The competition went down to the wire in the final rotation. The luck of the draw had UCLA in the locker room in the last rotation after finishing up with a final score of 197.75. Florida needed to score 49.4 on floor exercise to overtake the Bruins, and Alabama needed 49.425 on balance beam to move ahead of UCLA. It came down to the last competitor for both the Gators and Crimson Tide to decide UCLA's final placement, and they each scored enough to move ahead of the Bruins. UCLA received monster performances by Vanessa Zamarripa, who scored a career-high 39.775 in the all-around and her sixth career perfect 10 on vault, and Samantha Peszek, who earned a career-high 39.675 in the all-around and career-bests on bars (9.925) and beam (9.95).
