

Head coach Jillian Ellis enters her eighth season at the helm of the UCLA women's soccer program. She was hired on July 8, 1999 as the third UCLA women's soccer head coach in program history.

In just seven seasons in Westwood, Ellis has transformed UCLA into one of the elite women's soccer programs in the nation. She has guided the Bruins to four appearances in the NCAA College Cup, highlighted by trips to the finals in 2000, 2004 and 2005. She owns an overall record of 132-27-7 (.816) at UCLA, while her overall coaching record, which includes two seasons at the University of Illinois, stands at 151-45-7 (.761).

In 1999, her first season at the helm, Ellis coached the Bruins to an impressive 15-5-1 overall record and their fourth NCAA tournament bid. During the season, the Bruins emerged as one of the top teams in the country, ranking as high as No. 7 in the nation, which at that time was the highest regular-season ranking the program had ever achieved. UCLA was able to build on its 1999 performance as, a year later, the Bruins reached the school's first-ever NCAA College Cup in 2000. UCLA opened play with a 1-0 victory over Portland in the semifinals before dropping a 2-1 heartbreaker to North Carolina in the NCAA title match. UCLA finished second in the national rankings that season with a 19-4-1 overall record. Ellis was rewarded for her efforts when she was named the NSCAA/adidas National Coach of the Year at the NSCAA's annual convention following the season.

In 2001, Ellis guided the Bruins to the Pac-10 title and within one match of a second-straight College Cup. Although UCLA fell upset to Florida in the quarterfinals, the Bruins ended the season ranked No. 5 nationally with a 20-3-0 overall record. The Bruins' 20 victories that year set a single-season school record.

In 2002, UCLA made another strong run deep into the NCAA Tournament by reaching the third round. The Bruins finished 18-4 overall and ended the season ranked No. 7 in the NSCAA/adidas final national poll. With an 8-1 record, UCLA also finished second in the highly-competitive Pac-10 Conference.

The 2003 season was another special year for Ellis and the Bruins, as UCLA advanced to the College Cup for the second time in school history. UCLA posted a 20-2-3 overall record, claiming its fourth Pac-10 title. For her efforts, Ellis was named Pac-10 Coach of the Year at season's end.

The Bruins made a return trip to the NCAA College Cup in 2004, falling in the NCAA Final to Notre Dame on penalty kicks. UCLA ended the season with an 18-7 overall record, earning the third Pac-10 title for Ellis in the process.

In 2005, Ellis guided the Bruins to the NCAA College Cup for the third year in a row, making UCLA the only team in the country to appear in the last three College Cups. The Bruins, who set the school record for wins with 22, finished the season with a 22-2-2 overall record and the school's third Pac-10 title in a row.

In addition to her efforts in the college game, Ellis has also excelled at the international level after serving as the head coach of the Under-21 U.S. National Team. She has led the U-21s to two Nordic Cup titles (2000 and 2005), including a trip to the finals in 2006. In addition to her work with the U-21s, Ellis has served as a consultant with the U.S. Olympic Team in Sydney, Australia in the Summer of 2000. She has also worked extensively with the Under-16 U.S. National Team.

Ellis came to Westwood after heading the University of Illinois women's soccer program for two years. In 1998, she brought the Fighting Illini to a 12-8 record and a first-ever Big-Ten Tournament berth. In the program's first year in 1997, the Illini ranked among the leaders in the Big Ten in attendance.

"Our goal every year at UCLA is to compete for a Pac-10 and national championship, as well as maximize every player's potential"

— Jillian Ellis

Head coach Jillian Ellis enters her eighth season at UCLA with a career coaching record of 151-45-7. Her .761 winning percentage ranks seventh nationally among NCAA Division-I coaches.

Prior to heading up the University of Illinois women's soccer program, Ellis served as an assistant coach at the University of Virginia for one year (1996-97), at Maryland for three years (1994-96) and at North Carolina State for another three years (1988-90). As an assistant coach at North Carolina State, Ellis helped the Wolfpack secure the 1988 Atlantic Coast Conference title and an NCAA Final Four appearance. In 1993, at the University of Maryland, she helped lead the Terrapins to the 1995 NCAA quarterfinals.

A forward at the College of William & Mary from 1984-87, Ellis was a third-team All-American in 1987 and an honorable mention all-region selection in 1985. She was also a member of the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America Senior Recognition Team in 1987. In 1984, Ellis led the Braddock Road Club in Virginia to the Under-19 national championship.

Ellis is the daughter of legendary soccer coach John Ellis, who is a former assistant coach with the U.S. Women's National Team and has directed the Soccer Academy in Manassas, Virginia since 1984. John was a longtime soccer ambassador for the British government, helping to create soccer programs worldwide. He also served as head coach for the Trinidad and Tobago national team. Ellis' brother, Paul Ellis, is also a soccer coach. In 1998, he was head coach for the Region I U-17 team. A former assistant coach at George Mason University, he currently works full-time with his father at the Soccer Academy.

Jillian Ellis grew up in Portsmouth, England and came to the United States in 1981 at the age of 15. She also lived in Singapore for two years while her father helped to develop a national soccer program in that country. She earned her bachelor of arts degree in English Literature and Composition from the College of William & Mary in 1988 and currently resides in Los Angeles.

UCLA head coach Jillian Ellis announced the hiring of Joe Mallia as assistant head coach on June 10, 2005. Mallia, who is entering his second season at UCLA, came to Westwood from Loyola College (Md.), where he was head coach for seven years.

Mallia, who is coming off five-straight NCAA Tournament appearances at Loyola, compiled an overall record of 89-45-9 in seven years. This past season, the Greyhounds outscored Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC) opponents by a 26-1 margin, breaking the school single-season record for most wins (16), highest winning percentage (.800), most points (160) and goals (59). Loyola also recently captured the MAAC regular season and post-season tournament titles.

A native of Syosset, N.Y., Mallia was a goalkeeper at Old Dominion University from 1987-91, earning team MVP honors in 1990. He graduated with a degree in sports medicine, leaving ODU as the school's career leader in saves (206) and shutouts (20). He was inducted into the ODU Sports Hall of Fame in 1998.

"I am extremely pleased that Joe decided to join the UCLA staff," said Ellis. "His successful coaching experience, playing background, and strong personal qualities make him a fantastic addition to our program. I know that the players, staff and UCLA community will directly benefit from Joe's decision to be a part of the Bruin family."

Joe and his wife Amy live in Redondo Beach with their two daughters, Kaitlyn (5) and Reagan (2).

UCLA assistant coach Mark Carr is entering his fourth season in Westwood after being hired on July 16, 2003.

During his time in Westwood, the Bruins have won three Pac-10 titles and have played in the College Cup three times, making runs to the finals in 2004 and 2005.

A native of London, England, Carr came to UCLA from Northern California, where he held several coaching positions at both the high school and club levels.

Carr graduated in 2001 with an International Marketing-Management degree with French from England's Bournemouth University, where he also played on the soccer team.

Prior to college, he was a member of the Charlton Athletic Youth Football Program from ages 15-19. While in England, he also played on several semi-pro teams, including Weymouth, Dorchester Town and Welling. He represented England Schools at the U-18 level and was captain of his state team.

"During the past three years, Mark has proven himself to be an integral part of this program," said head coach Jillian Ellis. "His chemistry with the players, professionalism and coaching ability is a large part of our success."

In addition to his work with the UCLA team, Carr works locally with the South Bay Force Soccer Club. He is also on the Region-IV ODP staff. He recently earned his USSF "A" License.

B.J. Snow begins his first season on the UCLA coaching staff in 2006, serving as a volunteer assistant.

Snow comes to UCLA after spending the last four years as the head men's coach at his former high school, Portage Central in Kalamazoo, Mich. During his tenure at PCHS, he led the Mustangs to three Southern Michigan Athletic Conference (SMAC) titles, including three district championships. In addition, Portage Central set the school record for wins in both 2004 (19) and 2005 (20). He also coached NSCAA/adidas National High School Player of the Year Eric Alexander, who recently signed with Indiana. Snow was also an assistant with the girl's team at the school.

A four-year starter on defense at Indiana from 1996-99, Snow helped the Hoosiers capture four-straight Big Ten titles, including back-to-back national championships in 1998 and 1999. He was an academic All-American his senior season and an All-Big-Ten academic selection every year. Indiana's record during his time in Bloomington was an impressive 81-8-3.

Snow graduated in 1995 from Portage Central, where he was an NSCAA/adidas High School All-American.

After recently wrapping up a stellar four-year career as a player at UCLA from 2002-05, Jill Oakes joins the coaching staff as an undergraduate assistant coach for the 2006 season while finishing up her degree in Psychology. She is expected to graduate this December.

A defender from nearby West Hills, Calif., Oakes finished her career as one of the most accomplished players in UCLA history. Last year as a senior, she was named a first-team NSCAA/adidas All-American, and NCAA All-Tournament selection, and one of 15 semifinalists for the M.A.C. Hermann Trophy. Additionally, she was a three-time first-team All-Pac-10 selection, leading the Bruins to NCAA College Cup appearances in 2003, 2004 and 2005. Oakes played three years in the midfield before moving to the Bruin defense in 2005. She finished her career with 34 points on 10 goals and 14 assists.

She currently trains with the U.S. Women's National Team.
