

2009 IN REVIEW

Although the 2009 UCLA softball season would begin and finish with shocking losses, what happened in between resulted in a magical run toward the program's ninth Pacific-10 Conference title and a 45-win campaign.

Following a season-opening loss to Purdue at the Stacy Winsberg Memorial Tournament (Feb. 7-8), the Bruins reeled off six straight victories, including dramatic wins against San Diego State (Feb. 8) and Northwestern (Feb. 13) at the UNLV Louisville Slugger Desert Classic. Against the Aztecs, the Bruins rallied to tie the game in the eighth on Andrea Harrison's first collegiate home run and won it one inning later on a grand slam by Kaila Shull. Five days later against the Wildcats, the Bruins overcame a five-run, first-inning deficit, scoring six in the third and nine in the sixth to out-slug Northwestern 16-10. Katie Schroeder hit a pair of bombs and drove in six.

The Bruins' winning streak was snapped by Michigan on Feb. 14, but UCLA responded with its longest win streak of the season, recording 18 straight victories to improve to 23-2. Among the triumphs during the 18-game stretch were a win over then-#1 Alabama on Feb. 20 at the Cathedral City Classic (Feb. 20-22) and three more ranked victories against Massachusetts (Feb. 21), Fresno State (Feb. 22) by run rule and Missouri (March 1) in extra innings at the San Diego Classic (Feb. 27-March 1).

During the streak, the Bruin offense was on fire, scoring in double digits seven times. Against North Carolina State (Feb. 21), UCLA hit three home runs and scored 11 times in the second inning, tying for the third-most runs scored in one inning in Bruin history. At the Long Beach State Invitational (March 6-8), UCLA recorded a walk-off win on a Schroeder home run in the bottom of the eighth inning against Iowa (March 6) and stole eight bases, the second-most by UCLA in one game, versus Longwood (March 8).

The UCLA pitching staff was just as hot as the offense. Megan Langenfeld retired the first 18 batters she faced against Maryland (Feb. 22) before settling for a one-hitter. Donna Kerr came close to posting her second career perfect game on March 7 against Syracuse, setting down the first 14 batters before the perfect game was broken up on a two-out single in the fifth. UCLA had four one-hitters and five shutouts during the streak, holding opponents to two runs or less in 15 of 18 victories.

The Bruins saw their 18-game streak broken by Long Beach State on March 8 and temporarily struggled to find their winning ways, dropping six of nine and starting Pac-10 play with a 1-4 record. The turning point of the season came on April 5 at home against Arizona. Trailing 2-0 and staring down a 1-5 start to conference play, Langenfeld came to the rescue in the circle, hurling 5 2/3 hitless innings of relief and striking out six. The Bruins came back to win 3-2 and started another winning streak on their way to a conference championship.

UCLA hosted Washington (April 10-11) the following weekend and the first contest of the two-game set was an epic pitcher's duel between Langenfeld and Danielle Lawrie. Two hurlers matched zeroes through the first 10 innings, with Langenfeld also holding the Huskies hitless through the first eight frames. The no-no was broken up in the ninth, but it was the only hit Langenfeld allowed. In the bottom of the 11th, Andrea Harrison put an end to the scoreless tie, belting a two-run, walk-off homer to give the Bruins a thrilling 2-0 win.

The next day, the Bruins finished off the two-game sweep in run-rule fashion (10-0), but the big story was Langenfeld, who tossed the 100th no-hitter in UCLA history. The only batter to reach was on an error in the fifth. The Bruins scored six runs in the bottom of the fifth to invoke the mercy rule and clinch Langenfeld's first career no-no. For her efforts, Langenfeld was named NFCA and USA Softball National Player of the Week, as well as Pac-10 Pitcher of the Week.

UCLA continued its win streak with a three-game road sweep of the Oregon schools (April 17-19) and then did the same with the Arizona squads the following weekend. On April 24 at Arizona, Dani Yudin broke a scoreless tie with a one-out, two-run single in the top of the sixth, as Langenfeld struck out eight in a 2-1 win. The Bruins then broke out the bats in Tempe, scorching Arizona State for 19 runs and 11 homers in a pair of routs. In game one (April 25), UCLA hit four long bombs, including a pair by GiOnna DiSalvatore, in a 9-1, five-inning win. A day later, Monica Harrison made history by becoming the first UCLA player to hit three home runs in one game. The Bruins tied a single-game school record with seven homers and defeated the Sun Devils 10-4.

In a situation of turnabout is fair play, the Bruins were no-hit at Washington on April 29 just 18 days after doing the same to the Huskies. It would snap a nine-game winning streak, but it would be UCLA's last loss of the regular season. The Bruins played the final six contests at Easton Stadium and began by sweeping the Oregon schools again (May 1-3). After a May 7 win against California, UCLA clinched the Pac-10 title with a 1-0 victory over Stanford on May 8. A fourth-inning, RBI single by Monica Harrison was the only offense the Bruins needed, as Langenfeld blanked the Cardinal to win the conference crown. The Bruins wrapped up the regular season the next afternoon with an 8-0, six-inning victory over Stanford.

The Bruins began postseason play at home, hosting Long Beach State in the first game of Regionals on May 15. The game was tied at two when the Bruins received an RBI double by Langenfeld in the fourth and a solo homer by Julie Burney in the fifth to take their Regional opener. The next day, UCLA again had a tough battle, this time against Fresno State. The game was tied at two in the bottom of the sixth when Shull doubled home a pair of runs to give the Bruins a 4-2 lead. Langenfeld did the rest, finishing up with five strikeouts in a three-hit victory. UCLA punched its ticket to Super Regionals the following afternoon. Trailing 3-1 early, the Bruins scored seven in the second on a solo homer by Burney, a three-run triple by DiSalvatore and a three-run homer by Amanda Kamekona, going on to win 9-5.

UCLA welcomed Missouri to Easton Stadium for Super Regionals (May 23-24), but the Tigers weren't friendly guests, defeating the Bruins 2-1 in the opening game. The Bruins rebounded the following afternoon with a 5-2 victory to force an if necessary contest. Shull had a two-run homer and Langenfeld went 2-for-3 at the plate while striking out six. But the season would come to a close in Game 3 of Super Regionals, as Missouri jumped all over UCLA en route to a 9-1, five-inning victory, earning a berth to the Women's College World Series.

The Bruins had three players selected to the Louisville Slugger/NFCA All-American team, as Langenfeld and Schroeder earned first-team honors and Kamekona was named to the third team. Six Bruins received NFCA All-West Region accolades and nine were honored by the Pac-10, including Kelly Inouye-Perez, who was named conference Coach of the Year.
