BRUINS GETTING AIRTIME

Having reached the NCAA Tournament in seven of the past eight seasons, the UCLA baseball program has received increased exposure and media attention. Los Angeles has seven local network affiliates or independent television stations, and the baseball program has been broadcast each spring on Fox Sports Network. The Bruins have had 49 televised games the past six years, including 38 nationally televised contests. This season, UCLA will enjoy even more national exposure with 19 televised games between the Pac-12 Networks and ESPN.

BEST ARE IN THE WEST

The West Coast has featured at least one team in the finals of the College World Series in seven of the last 10 seasons. UCLA represented the West Coast in the CWS in 2010 and 2012 before winning the NCAA Championship in 2013. Locally, UCLA faces prominent programs such as Cal State Fullerton, Pepperdine, San Diego State, UC Irvine, UC Riverside, UC Santa Barbara and USC nearly every season. The Bruins have hosted an NCAA Regional the past four years, and advanced to Southern California area Regionals in 2006, 2007 and 2008.

SPORTS INFORMATION

Mike Leary enters his second season as the UCLA Baseball Sports Information Director in 2014 and is in his fourth season in the UCLA Sports Information Department. Additionally, he serves as the contact for the men's soccer program while assisting at other UCLA sporting events. Leary graduated from UCLA in June of 2010, earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics.

MEDIA GUIDELINES

CREDENTIALS: All media credential requests should be made, preferably via e-mail, to mleary@athletics.ucla.edu, or by phone as far in advance as possible (no later than 24 hours before game time). Credentials for games and access to coaches and student-athletes are granted to major news-gathering papers, magazines or web sites.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS: Credentials will be issued on a per-game basis and must be worn in plain sight at all times. Only credentialed photographers will be granted access to take photos on the field level from the bullpen.

TELEPHONES: The press box phone number (for media scoring updates only) is 310-794-8213. Additional phone lines are available on a shared basis in the main press box. Radio positions and additional media seating will be allocated in the press box or adjacent to the broadcast booths, if necessary.

RADIO LINES: One telephone line can be made available to the designated radio station of the visiting team. Please make arrangements through the Sports Information Office by e-mailing Mike Leary (mleary@athletics.ucla.edu) well in advance.

UCLA BASEBALL RADIO NETWORK

John Ramey, Tim Wilhelm will team up to call the action at all UCLA home games and selected road contests in 2014. Live audio of ballgames is available at uclabruins.com, the official web site of the UCLA Athletics Department. For updated broadcast schedules, visit the Bruins online at uclabruins.com.

HIGH-SPEED INTERNET: The press box is equipped with high-speed, wireless Internet for working media only. Additional high-speed data jacks are not available.

INTERVIEWS: Coaches and players are available for postgame interviews outside the clubhouse (third-base side) after a brief cooling down period. Midweek interviews can be conducted before practice (best time, between 12-2 p.m.) or after practice. All interview requests must be facilitated through the Sports Information Office.

UCLABRUINS.COM: The official web site of the UCLA Athletics Department, uclabruins.com provides up-to-date results, news, schedules, player biographical information, statistics, in-game scoring and links to audio webcasts.

TWITTER/FACEBOOK: Follow UCLA baseball on both Twitter (twitter.com/uclabaseball) and Facebook (facebook.com/uclabaseball) for the latest in-game updates and news.

ABOUT UCLA'S BASEBALL RADIO CREW

John Ramey returns for his fifth season as the UCLA baseball program's play-by-play broadcaster. Ramey will be joined by Tim Wilhelm (seventh season).

Ramey has had the call of many historic Bruins moments over the past four seasons, including the program's NCAA Championship-clinching win in 2013, the team's College World Series-clinching wins in 2010, 2012, and 2013, and team victories at Dodger Stadium and Safeco Field. In addition to his work for UCLA, Ramey serves as the play-by-play voice of UC Riverside Men's Basketball. Ramey also works for a variety of media outlets, including ESPN and Westwood One, and previously with Southern California Public Radio, and KNX 1070 Newsradio in Los Angeles. He also enjoys a career as a singer/songwriter and musician. When not broadcasting, Ramey performs his music throughout Southern California and the West.

Wilhelm called nearly every home game and multiple road games for UCLA from 2007-2009 and returned to the Bruins' broadcast booth in 2011. He began calling college baseball in 1992, serving as Pepperdine's play-by-play announcer. He has broadcast 16 NCAA regional tournaments in addition to calling the 1992, 2012 and 2013 College World Series. He has called more than 1,000 games either broadcast on the radio or streamed online. His previous work includes serving as a broadcaster for Big Ten Football Game of the Week (ABC radio) and as a halftime reporter for Pac-10 Basketball Game of the Week (NBC television).

2013 NCAA CHAMPIONS

BANNER SEASON

UCLA won its first national championship in program history in 2013, defeating Mississippi State in the College World Series Finals by scores of 3-1 and 8-0. The Bruins went a perfect 10-0 in the postseason, becoming the third team in NCAA history to accomplish the feat. UCLA also made history by posting the lowest team ERA in the College World Series' aluminum bat era (0.80 ERA) and becoming the first team to complete the College World Series without allowing more than one run in each game. En route to their first championship, the Bruins defeated four national seeds, eliminating two of them (No. 5 Cal State Fullerton, No. 1 North Carolina). The Bruins won 49 games in 2013, marking the second-highest single-season win total in school history. UCLA totaled at least 40 wins for the third time in four seasons and for the ninth time in program history.

MOST OUTSTANDING PLAYER ►

Junior Adam Plutko went 2-0 with a 1.38 ERA in two CWS starts, earning him Most Outstanding Player honors at the College World Series. Plutko served as UCLA's Friday starter all season, posting a 10-3 record with a 2.29 ERA and 81 strikeouts. Additionally, he finished his three-year career in sole possession of second place on UCLA's all-time career wins list with 29 victories and seventh on the Bruins' all-time strikeout list, logging 272 strikeouts. In his last 12 starts, Plutko went 11-1 with a 1.58 ERA. In eight career postseason starts, he went 7-0 with a 0.94 ERA.

REGIONAL SWEEP

The Bruins advanced to the NCAA Super Regional round by winning three consecutive games in the NCAA Los Angeles Regional. Adam Plutko pitched seven strong innings and Pat Gallagher posted a three-hit game to lead UCLA past San Diego State, 5-3, in the opening game. The Bruins then overcame a four-run deficit in game two with help from Kevin Williams' three-run game-tying triple in the sixth inning to defeat Cal Poly, 6-4, to advance to the NCAA Los Angeles Regional finals. In the finals, UCLA met San Diego and earned its third postseason shutout in program history, downing the Toreros, 6-0. Grant Watson, Zack Weiss and David Berg combined to throw a one-hitter against San Diego.

BRUINS DEFEAT CAL STATE FULLERTON

UCLA traveled on the road for a Super Regional for the first time in six years and defeated Cal State Fullerton in two games to advance to the College World Series for the fifth time in school history. The Bruins earned a dramatic 5-3 10-inning win over the Titans in the first game to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three series. Sophomore Eric Filia led UCLA with a 4-5 night that included the game-winning RBI in the top of the 10th. Junior Adam Plutko was terrific on the mound once again, pitching seven strong innings and allowing just one unearned run. David Berg picked up the win with three innings in relief. Then in Game 2, the Bruins scored three runs in the bottom of the first to propel them to a 3-0 shutout win over Fullerton. Junior Pat Gallagher hit a two-run single in the bottom of the first to give UCLA the lead while junior Nick Vander Tuig held the Titans scoreless on the mound for 6.1 innings. Freshman James Kaprielian, junior Zack Weiss and Berg then combined to hold the lead for 2.2 innings in relief.

ACE NUMBER TWO

Junior-right hander Nick Vander Tuig enjoyed an outstanding season on the mound for the Bruins, serving as the team's Saturday starter all year. The right-hander from Oakdale, Calif. posted a 14-4 record on the season with a 2.16 ERA. He led the Bruins with 93 strikeouts and allowed just 18 walks all season, eighth-fewest in the Pac-12. Vander Tuig's 14 wins were also tied for the most in the conference and are second-most on UCLA's all-time single season wins list. Additionally, he threw at least six innings in 17 of his 19 starts and finished his career tied for third with Alex Sanchez (1985-87) on UCLA's all-time career wins list (27). Vander Tuig appeared in 10 career postseason games, starting seven of them and posting a 6-2 record with a 2.13 ERA. In the 2013 postseason, he went 4-0 with a 1.65 ERA and 19 strikeouts in 27.1 innings pitched.

ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAM

Four Bruins landed on the All-CWS team, with pitcher Adam Plutko earning Most Outstanding Player honors at the tournament. Joining Plutko on the All-CWS team were pitcher Nick Vander Tuig, shortstop Pat Valaika and outfielder Eric Filia. Vander Tuig also went 2-0 at the CWS, posting a 0.60 ERA and 12 strikeouts in 15 innings pitched. Vander Tuig earned the victory in the championship-clinching game against Mississippi State with a dominating performance, tossing eight shutout innings and striking out six. Filia batted .333 with eight RBI in the CWS, including a career-high five RBI in game 2 of the CWS Finals. Finally, Valaika anchored a UCLA defense that posted a .984 fielding percentage in the CWS while knocking in four runs at the plate.

REACHING NEW HEIGHTS

THREE CWS TRIPS IN FOUR YEARS

The Bruins won a school-record 51 games in 2010, advancing to the College World Series for the third time in school history. UCLA reached the finals of the CWS for the first time ever, falling short against South Carolina in a best-of-three series at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha, Neb. Previously, UCLA had not advanced to the College World Series since 1997. The Bruins returned to Omaha in 2012, reaching the College World Series for the second time in three years after going 5-0 in the Regional and Super Regional rounds. In 2013, UCLA won its first ever NCAA Championship, going undefeated in the postseason. Over the last four seasons, UCLA has compiled a school-record 183 victories, ranking first among Pac-12 teams and sixth in the country.

BAUER WINS GOLDEN SPIKES AWARD

Trevor Bauer became the first UCLA player to ever win the Golden Spikes Award in 2011, going 13-2 with a 1.25 ERA. He led the nation in strikeouts for the second consecutive year, logging a Pac-12 Conference record 203 strikeouts in a team-leading 136.2 innings. The No. 3 overall draft selection by Arizona in the June 2011 Draft, Bauer finished his UCLA career as the school's all-time leader in strikeouts (460), wins (34) and innings pitched (373.1). He concluded his junior year by hurling nine consecutive complete games.

COLE, BAUER DRAFTED FIRST, THIRD

UCLA right-handers Gerrit Cole and Trevor Bauer were drafted No. 1 and No. 3 overall, respectively, in the June 2011 Draft. That marked the first time since 1978 in which one college baseball program had two players selected in the first three picks (previously, at Arizona State). Cole became UCLA's first-ever No. 1 MLB Draft selection, getting selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bauer was chosen by the Arizona Diamondbacks. The standout pitching duo was among the best 1-2 punch in the history of college baseball.

Bruins end Titans' title hopes

UCLA's victory in Game 3 of the NCAA Los Angeles Super Regional ended the Titans' hopes for a second straight title.

DODGERTOWN CLASSIC

UCLA and USC initiated the first-ever Dodgertown Classic on Feb. 28, 2010. The crosstown rivals faced each other in the afternoon after Vanderbilt played Oklahoma State at Dodger Stadium in the morning. UCLA won the meeting against USC, 6-1, in 2010. The Trojans blanked UCLA, 2-0, in 2011 before UCLA defeated USC, 7-2, in 2012.

RASMUSSEN DELIVERS

Pitching in one of the biggest games in program history, left-hander Rob Rasmussen turned in a herculean effort against Cal State Fullerton on June 13, 2010, in a decisive Game 3 of the NCAA Los Angeles Super Regional. Rasmussen struck out nine batters and limited the Titans to one run and two hits in a complete game victory. The Bruins won, 8-1, to advance to the College World Series for the first time since 1997.

BAUER, COLE SIGN PRO DEALS

UCLA's Trevor Bauer inked a major league contract with the Arizona Diamondbacks on July 25, 2011. He was introduced at a press conference at Chase Field in Phoenix that afternoon. Nearly three weeks later, Gerrit Cole signed a professional contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates at PNC Park. Cole was accompanied by his parents, sister, agent Scott Boras and UCLA head coach John Savage at the press conference.

Bruins return to College World Series

POSTSEASON SUCCESS

Over the last four seasons, UCLA has earned remarkable success in postseason play. In 2010, the Bruins earned the No. 6 national seed in the 64-team postseason bracket, eventually advancing all the way to the finals of the College World Series. 2010 marked the first year since 1986 in which UCLA's baseball program had hosted a postseason game. In 2011, UCLA won the then-Pac-10 Conference and hosted an NCAA Regional for the second straight season. Then in 2012, the Bruins earned the No. 2 national seed in the tournament, the highest seed that the program has ever received. UCLA won five consecutive games in the NCAA Regional and Super Regional at Jackie Robinson Stadium to earn their second College World Series appearance in three years. The Bruins returned to the College World Series in 2013, winning 10 straight games to earn the program's first NCAA Championship. Head coach John Savage also became the first coach in school history to lead the Bruins to multiple College World Series appearances.

IMPRESSIVE FEATS FOR UCLA IN 2010

Aside from advancing to the finals of the College World Series for the first time in program history in 2010, UCLA also established the school and Pac-12 Conference records for single-season strikeouts with 700 in 618.1 innings. Led by Gerrit Cole, Trevor Bauer and Rob Rasmussen, the Bruins' pitching staff led the country in strikeouts per nine innings (10.2). UCLA finished the year ranked No. 2 in all national polls, the highest top-25 finish in program history. Bauer became UCLA's first pitcher to ever lead the nation in strikeouts (165). In addition, UCLA finished the year 34 games over .500, the highest total over the .500 plateau in program history.

UCLA WINS BACK-TO-BACK PAC-12 TITLES

The Bruins accomplished something that had never been done in school history in 2012, winning their second straight Pac-12 Championship. UCLA was crowned co-champions with Arizona after sweeping rivals USC in the final series of the year, but the Bruins secured the tiebreak over the Wildcats by virtue of their series victory over the Wildcats earlier in the year. In the final year of the Pac-10 configuration in 2011, the Bruins earned their first outright conference championship since 1986. The Bruins entered the final weekend of the season trailing Oregon State by one game, but won two of their first three games at Arizona State to claim the championship by one game over the Beavers.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

UCLA has sent 59 players to the minor leagues since June 2006. In the last eight seasons, 24 Bruins have been selected in the first 10 rounds of the MLB Draft.

▲ JERMAINE CURTIS ▲

Undrafted out of high school, Jermaine Curtis was selected in the fifth round of the 2008 draft by the St. Louis Cardinals. As the team's third baseman, he helped lead UCLA to the postseason in each of his three seasons (2006-2008).

▲ BRANDON CRAWFORD

Brandon Crawford was undrafted out of high school and batted .319 in 179 starts for UCLA (2006-2008). Selected by his hometown San Francisco Giants in the fifth round of the 2008 draft, Crawford hit a grand slam in his major league debut (May 27, 2011).

▲ TREVOR BAUER

After enrolling at UCLA one season early, Trevor Bauer (2009-11) had the most dominant pitching career in program history. In 2011, he became the school's first Golden Spikes Award winner after going 13-2 with a 1.25 ERA as a junior. The No. 3 overall draft pick by the Arizona Diamondbacks in 2011, Bauer left UCLA as the program's all-time leader in wins (34) and strikeouts (460). He set the school's top single-season strikeout marks with 165 in 2010 and 203 in 2011.

BEAU AMARAL ►

After being drafted in the 45th round of the 2009 draft out of high school by the Diamondbacks, Amaral went on to enjoy one of the most successful careers in UCLA history, before being re-drafted in the 7th round of the 2012 draft by the Reds. He finished his UCLA career as the all-time leader in postseason games played (24, tied with Cody Regis), hits (33) and at-bats (99) while posting the highest batting average by a freshman since 1998, hitting .354 in 2010.

▼ DAVID HUFF

After transferring to UCLA from Cypress College (2005) via UC Irvine (2004), Huff shined for the Bruins in 2006, going 7-4 with a 2.98 ERA in 128.1 innings. He was chosen as 39th overall draft pick (supplemental first round) by the Cleveland Indians in 2006, making his MLB debut with the organization in 2009.

▲ GARETT CLAYPOOL

Undrafted out of high school, Claypool starred for the Bruins from 2007-2010, helping lead UCLA to the 2010 College World Series. A 32nd round draft selection as a junior by Oakland in 2009, Claypool chose to return for his senior season. In 2010, he went 8-3 with a 2.29 ERA in 82.2 innings. He was selected in the 11th round of the 2010 draft by the Philadelphia Phillies.

▲ DAN KLEIN

Selected in the 24th round of the 2007 draft by Baltimore, the Orioles re-drafted Klein in the third round of the 2010 draft. That year, the right-hander from Los Alamitos, Calif., flourished as UCLA's closer. He collected 10 saves and a 1.90 ERA in 39 appearances to lead the Bruins to the College World Series.

▲ GERRIT COLE

A first-round draft selection by the Yankees out of high school, Gerrit Cole had a fantastic three-year career for the Bruins (2009-11). Cole finished second on the school's career strikeouts list (376) and became the first UCLA ballplayer ever selected No. 1 overall in the June MLB Draft, as the Pittsburgh Pirates selected the hard-throwing right-hander first on June 6, 2011. Cole helped lead UCLA to consecutive postseason appearances in 2010 and 2011, including to the finals of the 2010 College World Series.

▲ ROB RASMUSSEN

Chosen in the 27th round of the 2007 draft by the Los Angeles Dodgers out of high school, Rasmussen became a second round draft selection by the Florida Marlins in 2010 out of UCLA. He capped his collegiate career with a fantastic junior season, going 11-3 with a 2.72 ERA and 128 strikeouts that year.

▲ JOSH ROENICKE

A center fielder and right-hander at UCLA, Roenicke was selected in the 10th round of the 2006 MLB Draft by the Cincinnati Reds as a pitcher. The former two-way star made his major league debut with Cincinnati in 2008.

▲ CASEY HAERTHER

Selected out of high school in the 34th round of the 2006 draft by San Diego, Haerther enjoyed a stellar three-year career for UCLA (2007-09). He logged career totals of 22 homers and 109 RBI, before being chosen in the fifth round of the 2009 draft by the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim.

▲ JEFF GELALICH

Jeff Gelalich was selected in the 41st round of the 2009 draft by the Phillies out of high school, but elected to come to UCLA, where he played in 159 games and led the Bruins to the College World Series in 2010 and 2012. The Most Outstanding Player at the 2012 Los Angeles Regional, Gelalich was selected in the supplemental first round (No. 57 overall) of the 2012 draft by the Cincinnati Reds.

▲ TYSON BRUMMETT

Drafted by San Francisco in the mid-30 rounds of the 2003 and 2004 drafts (high school, junior college), Brummett shined in two years at UCLA (2006-2007). He led the Bruins to consecutive NCAA Regionals and the 2007 Super Regionals before being selected in the seventh round of the 2007 draft by the Philadelphia Phillies. Brummett made his Major League debut with the Phillies this past fall.

▲ HECTOR AMBRIZ

After overcoming an injury in 2004, Ambriz thrived for UCLA in 2005 and 2006. He was selected in the fifth round of the 2006 draft by the Arizona Diamondbacks after his redshirt junior season and pitched for the Cleveland Indians throughout 2010.

STEELE FIELD at JACKIE ROBINSON STADIUM

Steele Field at Jackie Robinson Stadium celebrates its 34th season as UCLA's home baseball facility in the spring of 2014, after having undergone significant renovations since 2006. Jackie Robinson Stadium hosted the NCAA Los Angeles Regional from 2010 to 2013 and the NCAA Los Angeles Super Regional in 2010 and 2012, drawing crowds of over 2,000 fans. Prior to 2010, UCLA had not posted postseason play since 1986.

Most recently, UCLA added a state-of-the-art video scoreboard in the winter of 2013. The new LED video display features a 15HD pixel layout and measures nearly 17 feet tall by more than 49 feet wide, making it one of the largest video scoreboards in the Pac-12.

In 2011, UCLA added 580 chairback seats to the facility, allowing Jackie Robinson Stadium to seat 1,820 fans on a regular basis. The baseball program added 290 chairback seats above each of the dugouts, replacing grass slopes which had existed since the stadium's founding in 1981.

In January 2009, the facility welcomed a 10,500-square foot hitting complex, named the Jack and Rhodine Gifford Hitting Facility. Midway through the 2008 season, UCLA upgraded its stadium lights, making necessary improvements to meet NCAA standards for hosting an NCAA Super Regional. In January 2008, UCLA installed a state-of-the-art playing surface, a major upgrade made possible by the Steele Foundation.

Prior to the 2007 season, the UCLA baseball program installed a major-league quality net behind home plate, improving sightlines for fans and television crews. Other major improvements have included the addition of 945 chairback seats with cupholders in February 2006. The stadium welcomed a new hitter's eye, draped above the center field wall, and the Bruins' scoreboard received a well-deserved face lift.

Located on the site of old Sawtelle Field, Jackie Robinson Stadium provides one of the most comfortable college baseball settings in the West. The stadium was made possible by a private gift from Hoyt Pardee (UCLA '41), a classmate of Jackie Robinson. Without Hoyt, the stadium would not be a reality.

At the end of the 1984 season, the second major phase of the stadium's original construction was completed. A new clubhouse, press box, concessions stand, and permanent restrooms were added. The clubhouse contains training and equipment rooms, a meeting room, offices and the UCLA Baseball Hall of Fame, which displays plaques of all its members.

The main press box is flanked by two broadcast booths and provides ample space for members of the media. Camera positions for television coverage are located atop both dugouts and on the concourse. Controls for the public address system, electronic scoreboard and lighting systems are located in the main press box. The concession is located above the first base seats along with public restrooms. On select weekends, a second concession stand provides food and beverages above the third base seats.

Jackie Robinson Stadium, the program's sixth home field, can be accessed via the San Diego Freeway (405) and Wilshire Blvd. Located on Constitution Avenue (west off Sepulveda Blvd.), the stadium is minutes away from the UCLA campus.

Jackie Robinson Stadium was dedicated on Feb. 7, 1981 with an exhibition game between the Bruins and the Los Angeles Dodgers that drew 2,500 fans. The facility hosted the 1986 West Coast Conference playoff game between Pepperdine and Loyola Marymount. One week later, the stadium hosted the 1986 NCAA West Regional Tournament. Loyola Marymount, UC Santa Barbara, Hawaii, and UCLA participated in the regional, won by Loyola Marymount. The 1986 West Regional was the Los Angeles area's first NCAA postseason tournament since the 1978 District 8 Playoffs were hosted at USC's Dedeaux Field. The 1986 regional championship contest between Loyola Marymount and Hawaii drew a crowd of 1,815.

Jackie Robinson, for whom the stadium is named, was the first African-American baseball player to compete in the major leagues when he joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947. As a student-athlete at UCLA, Robinson became the Bruins' first four-sport letterman, playing football, basketball, track, and baseball. A bronze statue of Robinson is located near the concession stand on the concourse level. The statue was dedicated on April 27, 1985, before the UCLA-Arizona State game.

JACKIE ROBINSON'S LEGACY

Jackie Robinson - Breaking Barriers Major League Baseball's First African-American Player

Jackie Robinson became the first African-American Major League Baseball player of the modern era in 1947. Born January 31, 1919 in Cairo, Ga., Robinson was the first four-sport letterman in UCLA history – football (1939 and 1940), basketball (1940 and 1941), track and field (1940) and baseball (1940).

As UCLA's shortstop in 1940, statistics indicate that baseball was the sport with which he had the most trouble. Robinson batted .097 in CIBA games the one season he played baseball for the Bruins. He excelled at the three other sports, earning All Pac-10 honors in football, being named the West Coast Conference MVP in basketball, and establishing a long jump record. Nevertheless, due to his slick fielding and keen baserunning, fans found Robinson in the starting lineup the majority of the season.

As a youngster, his mother (Mallie) moved the Robinson family to Pasadena, Calif., after his father abandoned the family. After the move, the Robinson family quickly gained recognition for their fantastic athletic abilities, the climax coming during the 1936 Olympics where older brother Mack Robinson received a silver medal in the 200-meter dash behind the legendary Jesse Owens. In 1942, Robinson put athletics on hiatus to enlist in the U.S. Army. In the face of humiliating discrimination, Robinson took his first major step toward dismantling racial barriers. Serving in Texas, Robinson was court-martialed for refusing to move to the back of a military bus. He was eventually acquitted and given an honorable discharge.

Robinson on the Baseball Diamond

Robinson played one season on the baseball team (1940), batting just .097 in CIBA (California Intercollegiate Baseball Association) play. In his first game (March 10), he had four hits and stole four bases, including home once.

Robinson on the Track and Field Team

Jackie Robinson missed most of the 1940 track and field season while playing on the UCLA baseball team. Robinson won the NCAA title in the broad jump (24-10 1/4) that season after winning the Pacific Coast Conference meet with a leap of 25 feet (photo, above center).

Robinson on the Basketball Court

A two-year letterwinner on UCLA's basketball team, Robinson led the Southern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference in scoring in 1940, averaging 12.4 points per game in 12 league contests. The four-sport letterwinner also led the Pacific Coast Conference in 1941, averaging 11.1 points pre game in 12 league games. Robinson played both seasons under nine-year head coach Wilbur Johns.

His military career finished, Robinson gave baseball another try. The Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro Baseball League offered him a contract in 1944. Robinson quickly caught the attention of opposing managers, and more importantly, major league scouts. Brooklyn Dodger President Branch Rickey signed him to a minor league contract with a Montreal farm club in 1945. Robinson started the year on a hot streak, quickly earning the respect of the French-Canadian fans in Montreal. He completed the year by winning the International League batting title, hitting .349 in 124 games and leading his team to the championship. His success allowed Rickey to decide that everything was in order for a groundbreaking debut with the Dodgers.

Rickey announced that Brooklyn had purchased Robinson's contract on April 10, 1947. Five days later, Robinson grounded out against Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves, officially recording the first major league at-bat by an African-American. He won the first ever Rookie of the Year Award, an honor the National League renamed in his memory in 1987. During his 10-year career, Robinson compiled a .311 batting average and one National League MVP award, playing in six World Series and six All-Star games. Robinson was the first African-American to win the MVP award and the first to be elected to the Hall of Fame (1962).

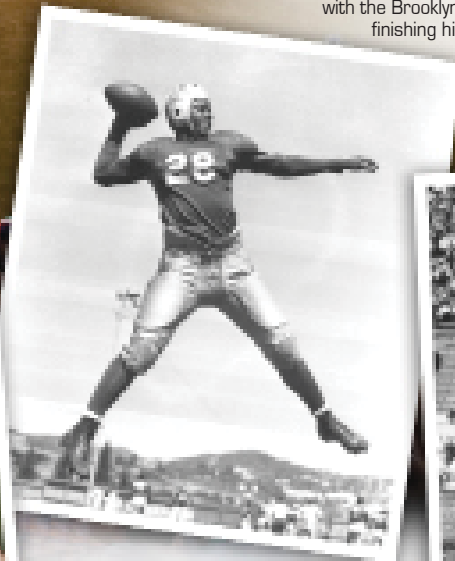

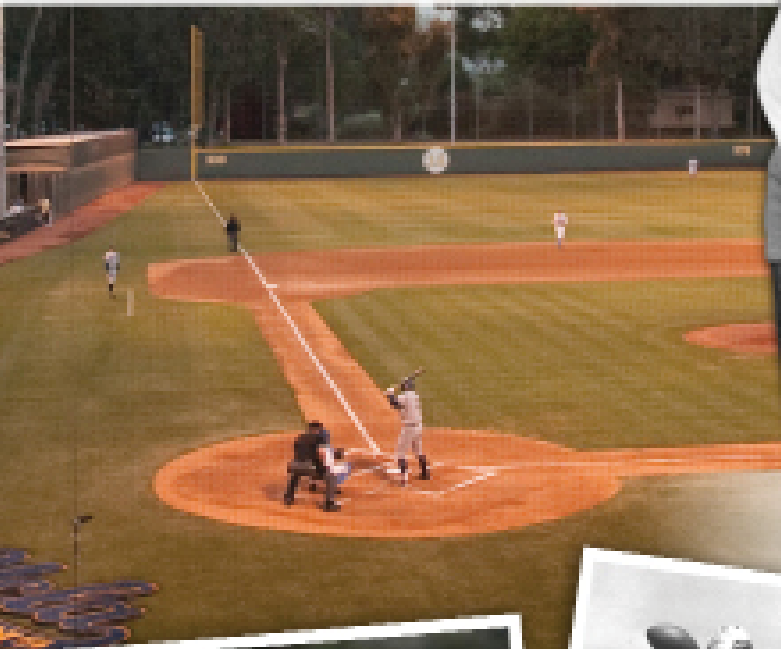

In 1957, the Dodgers traded Robinson to the New York Giants for pitcher Dick Littlefield and $30,000. Partially in response to this surprising move, Robinson decided it was time to end his playing days. That same year, Jackie was diagnosed with diabetes, a disease that led to his death in 1972.

Prior to his passing on June 4, 1972, Robinson's No. 42 was retired by the Dodgers along with Roy Campanella's No. 39 and Sandy Koufax's No. 32. On February 2, 1981, the finishing touches were put on Jackie Robinson Stadium, the current home of the Bruins. The U. S. Post Office issued the "Jackie Robinson Black Heritage" stamp on Aug. 2, 1982, featuring the first baseball player ever depicted on a U.S. stamp. In 1984, President Ronald Reagan acknowledged Robinson's accomplishments by awarding him the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award. In March 2005, Robinson was awarded the Congressional Gold Medal. The award was presented by President George W. Bush to members of Robinson's family.

Jackie Robinson as a Brooklyn Dodger

Jackie Robinson had a remarkable 10-year major league career, playing each season with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Robinson totaled 137 home runs and 734 RBI for Brooklyn, finishing his career with a .311 batting average, 947 runs and 197 stolen bases.

Robinson on the Football Field

Jackie Robinson led the nation in punt return average in 1939 and 1940. Robinson averaged 16.5 yards per return in 1939 and followed that effort with 21.0 yards per return in 1940. Robinson's career average of 18.8 yards per return ranks fourth in NCAA history. In 1940, he led UCLA in rushing (383 yds), passing (444 yds), total offense (827 yds), scoring (36 pts) and punt returns (21.0 ypr). In his two-year career on the gridiron, Robinson rushed for 954 yards (5.9 avg) and passed for 449 yards.

JACK AND RHODINE GIFFORD HITTING FACILITY

The UCLA baseball program completed construction of the Jack and Rhodine Gifford Hitting Facility in February 2009 and has taken full advantage of the 10,500-square foot practice complex. The facility was generously funded by the late Jack Gifford and his wife, Rhodine. Jack played baseball at UCLA in the early 1960s before graduating in 1963.

UCLA's hitting facility stands behind the right field fence, extending from the right-field foul pole toward the stadium's scoreboard in center field. Construction of the facility began in early December 2008, and the project was fully completed by early February 2009.

UCLA's hitting facility allows natural light and also features interior lighting. The floor consists of high-quality synthetic turf. In all, the complex allows for two 30-x-70-foot cages and three 20-x-60-foot cages, all which feature retractable netting.

KEY FEATURES OF UCLA'S GIFFORD HITTING FACILITY

- Dimensions of the practice complex run 23-feet high, 70-feet wide and 150-feet long
- Practice complex features an adjustable interior design, accomodating up to five hitting cages at once
- Cages include multiple pitching machines, including those capable of throwing breaking balls
- Accomodates room for defensive drills and pitching instruction on the south-facing half of the complex
- Spacious tee area within the facility allows for additional hitting drills
- State-of-the-art synthetic turf allows position players to practice fielding

"We are very thankful to Jack and Rhodine for their vision with this state-of-the-art hitting facility. This facility has brought a new dimension of player development to our program. Our players and coaches are very excited about having this training facility, one that is among the nicest in the country. The Jack and Rhodine Gifford Hitting Facility is a special place for all Bruins."

— UCLA head coach John Savage

The Jack and Rhodine Gifford Hitting Facility was built in less than five weeks, spanning from December 2008 through January 2009. Photos to the right (clockwise from top) show the construction of the hitting facility in December 2008.

TEAM USA AND UCLA

Jim Parque is the first UCLA ballplayer to have pitched for the USA National Team and at the College World Series.

UCLA has sent 13 players to play for the USA Baseball National Team a total of 17 times, beginning with the selection of Shane Mack in 1984. Most recently, David Berg led Team USA to a 20-3 record in the summer of 2013, including a five-game sweep of Cuba.

Trevor Bauer and Gerrit Cole's selection in 2009 marked the first time a Bruin had been named to the USA Baseball National Team since 2006, when three-year UCLA starting shortstop Brandon Crawford helped lead Team USA to the 2006 FISU World Championship that summer.

UCLA's student-athletes have not been the only individuals affiliated with Team USA's National Team. While working as an assistant coach at USC in the summer of 2000, current UCLA head coach John Savage served as an assistant to Mike Gillespie for the USA National Team of collegiate all-stars.
