

Dan Guerrero

Director of Athletics
12th Year
UCLA '74

In 11 years, Dan Guerrero has clearly established a pattern of "image and substance" that few in his profession can match. UCLA has won 109 NCAA team championships, a figure unmatched by any institution in the nation. UCLA teams have won 23 NCAA championships since his appointment, another national leader, finished second 21 times and have enjoyed an additional 43 Top Five finishes.

More than 80% of UCLA teams have qualified for NCAA post-season competition since 2002. The football team has appeared in nine bowl games and the men's basketball team advanced to consecutive Final Fours from 2006-08. The program has also won 54 conference championships in 15 different sports, produced over 500 All-Americans and featured four Honda Award winners, including the 2003-04 Collegiate Woman Athlete of the Year.

In the last 11 years, UCLA has finished second three times (2007-08, 2006-07 and 2005-06), third four times (2004-05, 2003-04, 2011-12, 2012-13), fourth (2009-10), sixth (2002-03), 11th (2010-11) and 16th (2008-09) in the race for the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup. UCLA won its first Capital One Cup for men's sports in 2013, vaulting to the top of the standings after winning the College World Series.

During Guerrero's tenure, the Bruins have won 23 NCAA championships in 17 different sports, a national leader. In addition, the Bruins have recorded 32 national podium finishes in that span.

Over the past decade, Guerrero has earned numerous honors. In May 2010, he was honored by the Black Coaches and Administrators organization as the Dr. Myles Brand BCA Administrator of the Year. In April 2010, he was honored by CORO Southern California, a non-profit organization that trains civic leaders.

In June of 2010, Guerrero completed a five-year term on the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee. As the chair in 2009-10, he was involved with the negotiation of the new $10.8 billion, 14-year NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament television package, as well as the decision to expand the Tournament to 68 teams.

Guerrero has extensive experience in committee work at both the NCAA and conference level. He is currently a member of the Pac-12 Athletic Directors Television, the Pac-12 Men's Basketball Tournament, and the Pac-12 Rose Bowl Management committees as well as serving as the Pac-12 AD Liaison to Men's Basketball Coaches. In addition, he is a member of the NCAA Division I Baseball Committee, the BCS Athletic Directors Advisory Group and was the 2011-12 president of NACDA.

Guerrero came to UCLA from UC Irvine, where he had served as UCI's fifth permanent Director of Athletics for 10 years (1992-2002). Prior to arriving at UC Irvine, Guerrero led Cal State Dominguez Hills to national prominence while serving as Athletic Director from 1988-92.

Guerrero received his Bachelor's degree from UCLA in 1974 and played second base for the Bruins for four years. He is married to the former Anne Marie Aiello, and they have two grown daughters.

Ken Weiner

Associate Athletic Director
20th Year
UCLA '78

Ken Weiner enters his 20th year as Senior Associate Athletic Director-Business Operations at UCLA and his 34th year overall with the university.

His duties include the administration and supervision of men's and women's soccer.

He also oversees new business, project development and capital improvements for the athletic department. Weiner spearheaded the negotiations that resulted in a 20-year agreement between UCLA and the Rose Bowl, including much-needed facilities improvements for the football program. He is currently acting as owner's representative for the press box and stadium upgrades were completed. In addition, he supervises the athletic facilities division, the operations of UCLA's sports practice and competition venues, game and event operations, department and team travel and UCLA Camps, Clinics and Championships.

Weiner is responsible for major capital improvements for Athletics. Projects include the renovation of the J.D. Morgan Intercollegiate Athletics Center, the Acosta Student Athlete Training Center and Knapp Football Center, the new Hall of Fame, the Jackie Robinson baseball and Easton softball clubhouse construction and stadium renovations, the Drake Track/Marshall Field renovation, a new golf practice facility, the North soccer field construction, the Spieker Aquatic Center which opened in the fall of 2009, and the Pauley Pavilion renovation project, which was completed in the Fall of 2012. Future projects include upgrades of the baseball stadium clubhouse and practice facilities, Easton Softball Stadium improvements, Drake Stadium upgrades, and construction of a new Academic Studies Center.

Prior to his appointment at UCLA Athletics, Weiner co-founded and served as Associate Director of the UCLA Central Ticket Office and continues to serve as the liaison between the Athletic Department and the CTO. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from UCLA. He graduated with honors and was bestowed a Chancellor's Marshall award for service to the university. He and his wife, Caren, have two adult children, Nicole and Kevin.

Chancellor
7th Year
Stanford '77

Dr. Gene Block became chancellor of UCLA in summer 2007, taking the helm of a world-class institution comprising 37,000 students and 27,000 faculty and staff, with an annual budget of $3.6 billion. As chief executive officer, he oversees all aspects of the university's three-part mission of education, research and service.

Previously, Dr. Block served as vice president and provost of the University of Virginia, where he also held the Alumni Council Thomas Jefferson Professorship in Biology. With academic expertise in biological clocks, he conducts research on the neurobiology of circadian rhythms in higher organisms, leading a research lab funded by the National Institutes of Health (NIH). From 1991 to 2002, he directed the National Science Foundation's Science and Technology Center for Biological Timing. In 1997, he was named a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He has invented a number of devices and holds a patent for a non-contact respiratory monitor for the prevention of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Dr. Block joined the faculty of the University of Virginia in 1978 as an assistant professor of biology. He served as vice provost for research from 1993 to 1998 and then as vice president for research and public service until his appointment as vice president and provost in 2001. He also headed an NIH graduate training program aimed at increasing the number of scientists from underrepresented groups. In 1998, he received the Commonwealth of Virginia's Outstanding Public Service Award for his work with Virginia's business community.

A native of Monticello, NY, Dr. Block holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Stanford University and a master's and Ph.D. in psychology from the University of Oregon. He also completed a postdoctoral fellowship at Stanford, working with the late Colin Pittendrigh, "the father of biological timing" and distinguished biologist and former Stanford President, Donald Kennedy. Dr. Block and his wife, Carol, have two adult children.

John Ramey

Play-by-Play

John Ramey returns for his fourth season as the UCLA soccer program's play-by-play broadcaster.

Ramey is also the voice of the UCLA baseball team and called many historic moments for the team, including its first-ever College World Series Championship in 2013. This year, he will host The Bruin Insider Show on UCLA's flagship radio station am570 Fox Sports LA. The Bruin Insider Show is a weekly coaches' show that will air live from Barney's Beanery in Westwood every Tuesday from 7-8pm.

In addition to his work for UCLA, Ramey serves as the play-by-play voice of UC Riverside Men's Basketball. Ramey has worked for a variety of media outlets, including Dial Global/Westwood One Sports, Southern California Public Radio, CNN Headline News, and KNX 1070 Newsradio in Los Angeles.

He also enjoys a career as an singer/songwriter and musician, having released two solo albums. When not broadcasting, Ramey performs his music throughout Southern California and the West.

Erin Cole

Analyst

Former UCLA women's soccer team member Erin Cole begins her first year in the radio booth, joining John Ramey as a color analyst for the UCLA soccer games.

Cole was a member of the UCLA team in 2011 and 2012 but retired from playing due to injuries. She was a four-year letterwinner at Orange Lutheran High School in Orange, Calif. and a team captain for her club team, Chelsea SC.

Cole's older brother Gerrit was an All-American pitcher for UCLA from 2009-11. He was selected first overall in the 2011 MLB First-Year Player Draft by the Pittsburgh Pirates, becoming the first UCLA player ever chosen first overall in the MLB June Draft.

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushered in a new era on July 1, 2011, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah.

Just 27 days after the Conference officially changed its name, Commissioner Larry Scott announced the creation of the Pac-12 Networks on July 27, 2011, solidifying a landmark television deal and putting the Conference on the forefront of collegiate athletics. The Networks, including one national network, six regional networks, and a robust digital network marked the first-ever integrated media company owned by a college conference. In addition, the "TV Everywhere" rights allow fans to access Pac-12 Networks outside the home on any digital device, including smartphones and tablet computers.

The Pac-12 launched its China Initiative in 2011 as a way to proactively promote the Conference and member institutions through student-athlete exchanges and sport. In its first two years, Pac-12 student-athletes have enjoyed unique cultural and athletic experiences in China, and the Conference has gained significant brand exposure for the future and set a foundation for growth.

On the field, the Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions ®," claiming an incredible 127 NCAA team titles since 1999-2000, including eight in 2012-13. That is an average of over nine championships per academic year. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 28 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-12 has led or tied the nation in NCAA Championships in 47 of the last 53 years. The only exceptions being in 1980-81, 1988-89, 1990-91 and 1995-96 when the Conference finished second, and only twice finished third (1998-99 and 2004-05).

For the eighth-consecutive year, the Pac-12 had the most NCAA titles or tied for the most of any conference in the country, winning at least six every year since 2000-01. No other conference has won double-digit NCAA crowns in a single year, the Pac-12 doing so six times, including a record 14 in 1996-97.

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 400 championships in 2010-11. With the inclusion of Colorado and Utah, the Conference surpassed another major milestone, with league teams capturing 450 titles, outdistancing the next conference by nearly 200. In all, Conference teams have won 459 NCAA Championships (309 men's, 150 women's).

The Conference's reputation is further proven in the annual Learfield Sports Directors' Cup competition, the prestigious award that honors the best overall collegiate athletics programs in the country. STANFORD continued its remarkable run and won its unprecedented 19th-consecutive Directors' Cup in 2012-13. Seven Pac-12 member institutions ranked among the top-25 Division I programs: No. 1 STANFORD, No. 3 UCLA, No. 14 USC, No. 15 OREGON, No. 17 CALIFORNIA, No. 18 ARIZONA STATE and No. 23 ARIZONA. It marks the third-straight year at least six member schools are in the top 25.

The Conference's eight national titles came in the form of five women's and three men's crowns. Five different league schools claimed NCAA titles and, of the six NCAA institutions to have won multiples titles, two were from the Pac-12. No other conference in the country had more than one team win multiple NCAA titles.

USC was the only institution in the country to win three NCAA titles in 2012-13, claiming both the men's and women's water polo titles, as well as women's golf. It was the fifth-straight men's water polo win, while the women's golf team dominated the field, winning with a NCAA-record 19-under. OREGON won a pair of NCAA titles, capturing its first women's cross country crown since 1987 then stood atop the podium at the women's indoor track & field championships for the fourth-consecutive year. STANFORD reclaimed the women's tennis national championship, its first since 2010, while COLORADO won the skiing championship for the second time in three years. UCLA claimed its first-ever baseball title, which was the program's first in the sport and the institution's nation-leading 109th NCAA title all-time.

In addition to the eight national championships, the Pac-12 also had runners-up in eight NCAA Championship events: women's volleyball (Oregon), men's water polo (UCLA), skiing (UTAH), men's swimming (CALIFORNIA), women's swimming (CALIFORNIA), women's rowing (CALIFORNIA), men's tennis (UCLA) and women's water polo (STANFORD). Overall, the Conference had 33 teams finish in the top four at 25 NCAA Championship events.

Participation in the postseason was a common occurrence for the Pac-12 in 2012-13. Of the 22 sports sponsored by the Conference, 15 witnessed at least half its teams participating in NCAA or other postseason action. The men sent 59 of a possible 101 teams into the postseason (58.4 percent), while the women sent 70 of a possible 114 teams (61.4 percent).

Pac-12 members have won 309 NCAA team championships on the men's side, 88 more than the next closest conference. Men's NCAA crowns have come at a phenomenal rate for the Pac-12 - 16 basketball titles by six schools (more than any other conference), 53 tennis titles, 45 outdoor track & field crowns, and 28 baseball titles. Pac-12 members have won 25 of 44 NCAA titles in volleyball, 39 of 43 in water polo, 28 in skiing, and 23 in swimming & diving national championships.

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA individual champions. Over 2,000 (2,123) individual crowns have been won by Pac-12 student-athletes over the years with 1,459 by male student-athletes.

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 32 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 23 occasions, including 13-consecutive years from 2000-2013. Overall, the Pac-12 has captured 150 NCAA women's titles, easily outdistancing the SEC, which is second, with 90. Pac-12 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 23 softball titles, 20 tennis crowns, 14 volleyball titles, 15 of the last 24 trophies in golf, and 13 in swimming & diving.

Pac-12 women student-athletes shine nationally on an individual basis, as well, having captured an unmatched 664 NCAA individual crowns, an average of nearly 21 championships per season.

The Conference underwent monumental changes during the 2010-11 academic year, expanding to add two more teams with the addition of Colorado and Utah. Other major moves included agreeing to equal revenue sharing for the first time in Conference history, creating two divisions - the North and the South, for football only, establishing a Football Championship Game for the first time ever, securing a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school, and establishing the Pac-12 Networks and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

Currently, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and three women's sports.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.
